

Highland Park Ousts St. Viator; Meets Niles West Today For Title

by BOB FRISK

It took seven years for Highland Park to gain some measure of revenge. When St. Viator staged that dramatic drive to second place in the 1965 state baseball finals, they ousted Highland Park along the way.

The Little Giants committed seven errors in that nightmarish regional tourney game of '65 and fell, 9-3.

It was the Lions' turn yesterday to see the defense collapse and with that collapse went the dreams of another trip to Peoria.

Highland Park capitalized on a shaky Lion defense in the second inning for two runs, added an insurance marker in the sixth, and topped St. Viator, 3-0, in the Maine West Sectional Tournament.

The Little Giants will clash with Niles West today at 4:15 with the winner earning an upper bracket position in the 1972 state tournament in Peoria.

Highland Park received a strong pitching effort Tuesday from ace Joe Soldano. The righthander, now 7-4 this spring, scattered four hits, three singles and a double, and worked out of every jam, mostly mild ones. He struck out eight and walked one.

Soldano received all the runs he needed in the second inning when, with one out, two Little Giants reached on errors.

Third baseman Scott Swanson then lined a hit between first and second, sending Ken Carlson around with the first run. A fine throw from right fielder Stan Bobowski had the runner nailed; but the throw got away from the first run.

Jeff Schwartz, who had moved ahead on the maneuver, scampered in with the second run when the throw on an attempted pickoff sailed past third.

The Lions had their chances yesterday, clutch hit.

Frank Cliggett drove a towering, but they just couldn't cash with the ground-rule double to left-center as the leadoff man in the second; but Soldano shut off the next three hitters, two on swinging third strikes.

In the fourth Bobowski shot a single off the first baseman's glove, but a double play wiped out this threat.

With one out in the fifth Steve Balinski slammed a clean single to center. Mike Walsh dropped down a bunt that moved Balinski to second, but Soldano worked out of this trouble by getting pinch hitter Craig Zander to ground to second.

The Lions received a gift with one out in the sixth when pitcher Kenny Martin's high drive to left was dropped for a two-base error. But Soldano worked two strikeouts around a walk to Bobowski.

In the concluding seventh Soldano got the first two hitters with ease, yielded a sharp single to Walsh, but caught pinch hitter Mike Cook on a called third strike.

Highland Park, which had base runners in five of the six frames, pushed over its third run in the sixth with Schwartz's single sending Frank Warner home. Warner had received the second walk dished up by Martin in the inning.

Martin didn't pitch a bad game and certainly deserved a better fate. That second inning, when the Little Giants moved out to a 2-0 lead, could have been a 1-2-3 stanza for the Lion lefty with a little tighter defense.

Martin fanned four and walked three in a route-going performance.

It was all over for St. Viator about six o'clock, but Highland Park gets another chance today.

Sportsman's Notebook

by Bob Holiday

THE GENERAL Wisconsin fishing season opened last weekend, and reports from that state's Department of Natural Resources indicate that the trout and walleye fishermen were the most successful.

Among the bigger fish caught were a 24-inch brown trout in Grant County, and a 14½ pound musky in Dunn County, and several 10 pound northern pike in Langlade County.

The southern district of Wisconsin, which includes all of the counties contiguous to the Illinois State line, was among the most productive area for trout fishermen. The opening weekend included limits of brook, brown, and rainbow common throughout the district. A 17½-inch brown was taken out of Apple Branch, Lafayette County, and 3½ pound brook from Williams (Rewey) Creek in Iowa County. Grant County's Black Earth Creek, Crooked Creek, Big and Little Green Rivers were brown trout fishermen's paradise, however.

Largemouth bass fishing was good on Blackhawk Lake, and a 30-inch northern was caught in Stewart Lake near Mt. Horeb.

In Iowa County, there were several limits of brown trout reported with the fish ranging in the 14 to 15 inch bracket. The best brown catches came from Mill Creek. Trout fishing is also pretty good on Cox Hollow and Birch lakes, but no large fish were taken. The best bait in all the waters mentioned, except for the angler who can expertly handle an artificial muddler, is a nite crawler.

Still in Iowa County and the general Dodgeville area of Wisconsin, largemouth bass fishing is fair on Twin Valley Lake and some northern pike are being taken there. Bluegills are beginning to rise to poppers on Cox Hollow. In Lafayette County, the revived Yellowstone Lake is producing good catches of large bluegills, many a half-pound and larger. Bass are also hitting, with a 6 pounder among those reported early in the weekend.

In the rest of the lower districts of Wisconsin: walleye fishing was just fair on Lower Nemadji Lake and Pike Lake, but it was very good on Lake Geneva. The best lures weren't lures at all, but a nite crawler on a Lindy Rig, either cast or back-trolled.

Largemouth bass were taken on Big and Little Cedar Lakes, in Washington County, the Lauderdale chain. Camp Lake and Upper and Lower Nemadji. Panfishing was good to fair, as was northern fishing in the same waters.

And white bass are beginning to hit at the Wilnot dam in Kenosha County.

Further news for the fishermen who enjoy getting in on the big white bass run in Wisconsin's Wolf and Fox rivers: It is expected to peak this week, so fishing will still be excellent over the weekend.

Fair catches of white bass were being taken early this week, but the rivers were both still fairly high. Good bets for a weekend trip would be anywhere in the Fremont, Orhula, or the Winnebago area, where the Fond Du Lac River, the Wolf and the Fox Rivers will all be holding the white bass.

Sauger fishing is also excellent this time of the year on the north end of Winnebago. Winnebago is also still good for white bass and walleyes.

Fair to good catches of white bass are being taken on the Wolf River in the Wautoma area with the best catches at Orihula. The sloughs along the Wolf River are also producing black bass and northern.

A little further north, in the Antigo area, quite a few limits of trout were taken on the Eau Claire and Hunting Rivers in Langlade County, with live bait the best. Walleyes were hitting on Rolling Stone and Otter Lakes, and large pike, several up to 10 pounds, were caught out of Rolling Stone. Again, live bait did it.

Water levels were above normal in the Wisconsin Rapids area, but the Castle Rock ditch in Adams County produced several limit catches of brown trout. Walleyes were active in the Castle Rock flowage, particularly near the dam and in ditches 4, 5 and 6 in Portage County. Trout and walleyes also came out of the Petenwell ditch in Juneau County.

Water conditions are still high in the Woodruff area, but fishing, as it always is, was good throughout the area. Quite a few walleyes were taken on the Wisconsin River, the Willow flowage and the Rainbow flowage in Oneida County. Walleyes were also taken out of Lake Tomahawk in the Minocqua chain.

In my favorite, Vilas County, all the "good" spots were good again: Big St. Germain, Little St. Germain and Big and Little Arbor Vitae Lakes all produced limit walleye catches.

Joe Schilling, a guide who fishes out of Bo Popov's Fishing Headquarters in Woodruff, took muskies for his clients on both the Tomahawk and the Wisconsin Rivers.

Lake Michigan, meanwhile, was an angler's dream, producing fish for boaters and shoreline fishermen alike.

Limits of trout were taken at Krohns Lake and West Alaska Lake in Kewaunee County; the Pigeon River was producing rainbows. The Two Rivers waters were producing lake trout and some rainbows at the mouth of the Little Manitowoc and Molash Rivers.

In Door County, trolling is the best method of catching brook, brown and rainbow trout, with the best spots around Egg Harbor, Fish Creek, Eagle Harbor, Alison Bay, Baileys Harbor and Sturgeon Bay. Lake trout are right on the bottom in 130 to 170 feet of water in the Door County area.

Coho and Chinook fishermen are finding the going good, but slow still this year, all along the Wisconsin-Illinois shoreline. Although the hard working fishermen can still come home with at least a fish or two, the "really big ones" have yet to show up in any numbers.

The best bet is to follow the action and join the boats who are gathered in a particular spot taking fish. This is generally to be found in 50 to 60 feet of water almost due east of the Commonwealth Edison generating station in Waukegan, about three to four miles off.

The trollers are catching fish on lures trolled at 8 to 15 feet on Rapalas, Tadpoles, Spoonplugs, Dardevles and big Mepps spinners.

Paddock Patrol

THOROUGHBRED RACING, the national summer pastime for many, many area enthusiasts, will become this column's subject during the 77-day meeting in our backyard at Arlington Park.

The Herald initially began daily coverage of entries and results last year, a policy which will be continued again this season. In addition, "Paddock Patrol" will attempt to show some of the "behind-the-scenes" activity of local employees (jockeys, trainers, owners, breeders), a preview of the major stake races, and, in general, a weekly summary of newsworthy data that hopefully will be of interest to the racing fan.

The 1972 inaugural looms just one week away and I, for one, can hardly wait to hear thundering hoofs again. As a turf editor, I'm a rookie in every sense of the word. I'm past the stage of going to the park and selecting horses because they have a sentimental name or a post position that correlates with my month of birth, though.

I'll leave handicapping each day's card to the experts and resume memorizing the volumes upon volumes of racing digests provided by Arlington's Director of Publicity and Advertising (and personal savior) Tom Rivera.

To begin with, the park itself is in the news. Veterans returning to the spacious and plush accommodations might be awed by the "new look" a winter of construction and maintenance has produced.

It has been estimated that Chicago Thoroughbred Enterprises have spent close to three million dollars in new construction, exclusive of some $200,000 spent in the stable area.

Five new completely fire-proof, concrete slab and steel barns and two more motel units, 318 quarters for grooms, capable of housing up to 636 backstretch employees, are in the process of being finished in advance of the opening.

Each of the new barns will have accommodations for 118 horses in stalls 12 x 12 feet of pre-poured concrete with 20-foot wide aisles which assure free movement of thoroughbreds and personnel. Each of the new stalls is lined with plywood kickboards and is complete with metal Dutch doors. The motel-style dormitories each contain 159 individual rooms capable of accommodating two persons. They are two-story, free-standing (separate from the barns), built of concrete block and steel, conforming to the regulations for motel units of the Village of Arlington Heights.

The track upon which the legendary hooves of Citation, Equipoise, Kelso, Nashua, Native Dancer, Tom Fool, Silent Screen, Buckpasser, Dr. Fager, Jim French and others once pounded, has undergone quite a rehabilitation program.

Wagering has also been revolutionized with the introduction of the daily Trifecta. In this option, the bettor is required to pick the first three finishers in a race in exact order that will be limited to the ninth race only. Tickets on the Trifecta will be in $3 and $10 denominations.

In addition to the daily Trifecta, the track will still offer Perfecta wagering on the third, fifth and seventh events as well as the Daily Double on the first and second races.

Already stabled is Hold Your Peace, runnerup to Riva Ridge and No Le Haze in the Kentucky Derby. Chicagoan Arnold Winick, always a leading trainer at Arlington Park, said that he would point Hold Your Peace to the Pontiac Grand Prix, June 17. No Le Haze, runnerup in the Preakness, is expected to be gunning for the same race.

Hold Your Peace was just dozing off in Barn 10 when I dropped by last week, but his brilliant coat and streamlined frame looked unbeatable during his workouts. I doubt whether a glue factory or cheap hamburger stand will ever pick up his scent.

The Pontiac Grand Prix will be just one of 24 stakes races during the coordinated Arlington-Washington meeting. The Post and Paddock Handicap will open the program next Wednesday with the Governor's Cup June 3 and both the Olympia Handicap and Jet's Charm, June 10.

The Grand Prix follows on June 17 while both the Laurence Armour Handicap and Hyde Park Stakes will be run June 24. The Pucker Up Handicap is slated for July 1, the Whiskey Jet Handicap, July 3 and the Stars and Stripes Handicap, July 4 to complete the long Independence weekend.

The Round Table will be run July 8 and the Janice H. Handicap, which completes the Arlington Park Meet, will run July 15. The Chicago Tribune Charities meeting includes the American Derby July 22, the All-Star Queen July 24 and the Arch-Ward Stakes, July 26.

The Washington Park meet will be ushered in by the Springfield Handicap July 29, the Matron Handicap Aug. 5, and both the Arlington-Washington Futurity and Lassie, Aug. 12.

The Patricia A. running is Aug. 18, the Washington Park Handicap Aug. 19, Valiant Man Aug. 23, Arlington Park Handicap Aug. 26 and the concluding Sheridan Handicap, Aug. 28.

Texas Cyclist Continues Pursuit Of Santa Fe Title

Robert E. Lee of Fort Worth, Tex., will continue his pursuit of the 1972 Santa Fe Championship this Wednesday night as the "cycling center of the Midwest" hosts another American Motorcycle Association-sanctioned program. Starting time for the 11-event card is 8:30 with time trials coming one-half hour before race time.

Lee's first-night spectacular showing casts him as the early-season favorite to capture the Santa Fe Speedway crown. The quiet Texan methodically gunned down a star-studded main field with ease; Lee also won a semi-feature, the trophy dash and a heat race.

Other riders who looked good on opening night include Carl LeBlanc of Medina, Ohio; Gordon Dusenberry from Wichita, Kansas; Gary Horton of South Bend, Ind.; Charlie Seale out of Lantana, Florida; Michael Johnson from Flint, Mich.; and Paul Pressgrove of Tecumseh, Kansas.

Local riders who competed include George Wills, Riverdale; James Clayton, Deerfield; Delroy Kloog, La Grange, James and Thomas Collins, Arlington Heights; Burdell Haverland, Roselle; and Robert Fry, Forest Park.

Santa Fe Speedway hosts Chicago's only regular professional motorcycle program; the southwest side clay oval presents AMA-sanctioned hard-charging motorcycle shows each Wednesday night.

Santa Fe Speedway also has lightning-quick stock car action every Saturday and Sunday night throughout the racing season.

Oakton Smashes 20 Hits In Romp Over Waubensee

Oakton College finished out its first baseball season in a smashing manner as the Raiders whipped Waubensee 12-2 with a 20-hit attack Monday.

The victory closed out Oakton's Skyway Conference record at 6-8 and its overall mark at 8-10.

On Friday, the Raiders lost a 2-1 12-inning heartbreaker to McHenry.

McHenry scored the winning run in the top of the 12th on a bases loaded walk. Rick Miller hurled the first 11 innings and Larry Teschner pitched in the 12th.

The Raiders had their hitting shoes on Monday as nearly every Oakton bat in the lineup came alive.

Kevin Klett had three hits, including a home run.

Scott Johnson went 3-for-4, including two triples.

Jim Buchholz went 2-for-3 and had three RBIs.

Bob Egebrecht went 3-for-5.

And Phil Olsberg and Larry Teschner went 2-for-3.

Larry Gawaluch went all the way on the mound for the Raiders, scattered eight hits and fanned 13 batters.

Oakton took a 1-0 lead in the first inning as Pat Fullen singled, stole second and scored on a single by Egebrecht.

The Raiders scored three runs in the fifth on singles by Kevin Klett and Johnson, a fielder's choice, a walk to Olsberg, an error and a single by Teschner.

Oakton made it 9-2 in the sixth frame on an error, a stolen base, a two-run homer over the left field fence by Kevin Klett, a triple to center by Johnson, a single by Buchholz, a single by Egebrecht and a sacrifice fly by Olsberg.

In the eighth, a triple by Johnson, a single by Buchholz, a single by Egebrecht, a single by Olsberg and a double by Miller brought in three more runs.

Touring time—

Planning to take the family pet on a vacation trip this summer? If so, now's the time to order the favorite book of traveling dog owners, "Touring With Towser."

The 56-page book, published by the Gaines Dog Research Center, lists thousands of hotels and motels in the United States and Canada that accept guests with pets. Also included are helpful hints to make traveling more enjoyable for the family and the pet.

A copy of "Touring With Towser" can be obtained by sending 50 cents in coin or check to Gaines TWT, P.O. Box 1007, Kankakee, Ill., 60901.

Vitamins too—

In a recent column we wrote about minerals and the important part they play in a dog's well-being. Vitamins too, are a most important part of his diet just as they are in humans.

Vitamins serve as catalysts, making possible many of the body's basic metabolic functions. They enable the body to utilize other nutrients properly. Because they are catalysts, vitamins are needed in much smaller quantities than the tissue-building and energy-producing nutrients, such as proteins, fats and carbohydrates.

Vitamins are divided into two general groups; fat soluble and water soluble. Fat-soluble vitamins are absorbed along with the dietary fats and can be stored in moderate quantities in the body's fat deposits. Two of the best known are Vitamin A, which is important for normal vision, skin, bones and teeth, and Vitamin D, which acts with calcium and phosphorus in the proper mineralization of the skeleton.

Water-soluble vitamins can't be stored by the body in any appreciable quantities, so a constant dietary supply is necessary.

As pointed out by the Gaines Research Center, can there be any doubt about the wisdom of feeding a high-quality, scientifically formulated dog food? Table scraps and hit and miss feeding is certainly not the answer to a healthy dog.

Summer check-up time—

It looks as if summer is here — where spring went, heaven knows — and with the summer comes time to check on your dog's outdoor kennel, if he has one.

Give the whole kennel area a good cleaning and airing, plus a repair job on anything that is needed. If you have a run for the dog, now is the time to rake it out well. If you have concrete runs, wash them down well using a disinfectant solution followed by a final rinse.

Remember to keep the water dish out of the sun and to change it at least twice a day.

Barks & Bays—

Many people comment on how large their dog is and how much he weighs. How would you like to have a 250 pound Saint Bernard? Such a dog is "Bhruen," owned by Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Macholz of Mediapolis, Iowa.

Looking for a great fishing hole? We can lead you to three!

Who'd have thought that the cooling water systems of our generating stations would spawn three great fishing holes? One in Waukegan. One just east of the Illinois-Indiana line in Hammond. And another near Springfield.

Waukegan Fishing Hole. Folks tell us that the breakwater at our Waukegan Generating Station is one of the greatest fishing spots on Lake Michigan. They discovered swarms of coho and trout in the warmer waters of our outflow. In fact, the area became so popular with fishermen that we built a public access to our breakwater, and turned it over to the City of Waukegan as a fishing pier.

State Line Fishing Hole. Here again, at our State Line Generating Station, the fish gravitated to the warmer waters of our outflow. We recently gave the public access to over 2500 feet of shoreline. Now there's plenty of casting room for fishermen.

Sangchris Lake State Park Fishing Hole. This is one of the first cooling lakes built by a utility company to be turned into a recreational area. This beautiful 2700-acre lake is stocked with a dozen species of fish.

Camping, fishing, boating—it's all here for you—on a lake that didn't even exist five years ago. So bring your poles and bait. Fish and think your thoughts. Who knows, electric generating stations may be closer to nature than any of us ever thought.

1. Waukegan Station. Go to intersection of Sheridan Road and Greenwood Ave. in north Waukegan. Go east on Greenwood to lake and fishing pier.
2. State Line Station. Go east on 103rd St. to end of street. Turn north (left) to 100th St. Turn right on 100th St. and proceed to Calumet Park. Then right to lake shore south of generating station.
3. Sangchris Lake. From Chicago, take Route 55 to Bypass Route 55 around Springfield. At junction of 55 and 29, turn southeast on Route 29 and proceed about 5 miles to Rochester. In Rochester, turn south at Sangchris sign and go 7 miles to New City. Turn east, proceed about 3 miles.

Letters Mailed To Businessmen

Youth Committee Boosts Twp. Teen Job Program

The Elk Grove Township Committee on Youth mailed letters to area businessmen last week promoting the township's youth employment program, which begins this summer and will continue throughout the year.

Paul Paprocki, township youth worker, said the employment service will not be limited to summer job placement but will include part-time and full-time year-round employment.

In the letter Paprocki asked businessmen to notify the township offices of any job openings suitable for teen-agers. He said he would screen qualified applicants and match them with the appropriate jobs.

Township Auditor Arthur Stevens, chairman of the youth committee, said earlier that the student would be expected to contact the employer to set up an interview.

Persons with jobs for teen-agers may call the township offices at 437-0300. Students also may apply for job placement at town hall, 2400 S. Arlington Heights Rd., Arlington Heights. The offices are open from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday and from 9 a.m. to noon on Wednesday and Saturday.

STUDENT JOB applications have been given to guidance counselors at Forest View High School in Arlington Heights and Elk Grove High School in Elk Grove Village.

William Rohlwing, township supervisor, said the township board of auditors decided to repeat last summer's job program and extend it to year round operation because last year's program was so successful.

"Now that the township has a full-time youth worker in Paul Paprocki, the auditors decided that all the work involved in setting up a program like this would be wasted if it was only for the summer," Stevens said.

Stevens said the board chose to continue the program throughout the year because both the teens and the employers are looking for either part-time help or jobs all year long.

Park District To Lease Garden Plots

A land lease gardening program is one of the newest activities on this year's Elk Grove Park District summer schedule, according to Park Dir. Jack Claes.

Claes said registration will close Saturday for the farming program through which village youths between 12 and 18 years-old will be leased a parcel of land for $1 to raise crops such as tomatoes, lettuce, radishes and beans. An instructor will be available to help plan the crops for the 15x20-foot plots of ground.

Rich Ludovissy, recreation superintendent, said some park programs, including a special swim class for toddlers under 44 inches tall, are already full. However he said names are being taken for waiting lists and more classes may be added if enough interest is shown in a particular program.

"Women's tennis and golf have been two of the most popular programs, and women's rest and relaxation (a series of field trips to nearby points of interest) is being continued into the summer for the first time," he said.

BEGINNING AND intermediate judo and beginning karate also are new summer programs for persons seven through 17 years old. Ok Yung Kim, who holds a fifth degree black belt, will teach beginning judo from 9-10 a.m., intermediate judo from 10-11 a.m. and karate from 11 a.m. to noon, all on Tuesdays at Lively Junior High School starting June 20. The fee is $5 per person.

Ludovissy said registration is continuing for a preschool day camp program, especially for three-year olds. He said the camp is a structured program of music, storytime and arts and crafts designed as an introduction to the fall and winter preschool program. Children must be four years old by Dec. 1 to participate. There will be two sessions meeting from 9:30-11:30 a.m. at the Lion's Park Community Center; one class on Mondays, Wednesday and Friday, and the second class on Tuesdays and Thursdays. The fee for the three-day a-week class is $30, and the two-day class is $20. Both start the week of June 26.

A recreation playground program for four and five-year-olds will be offered starting the week of June 26 at Byrd, Rupley, Clearmont and Cook schools. The fee is $3.

For two and three-year-olds the park district is offering a preschool mini-gym class designed to teach rhythm, coordination and motor skills through physical exercise. The class which meets three days a week starting June 26 is limited to 12 children.

PLAYGROUND RECREATION programs will be offered at various locations in the village for children six years old and older, including an individualized recreation class for children who may be attending special education programs.

The Camp Wapiti Day Camp will be held again this summer at the Ned Brown Forest Preserve for second through fifth graders. There are two sessions beginning June 26 and July 17. The fee is $15 per session, and registration is limited to 50 persons.

The boxing program will continue into the summer with junior high school boxing from 7-9 p.m. on Wednesday and high school boxing from 7-9 p.m. on Thursday. Both classes meet at the Lions Park Community Center, and the fee is $3.

Separate tennis classes have been scheduled for elementary students, junior high students, and high school students and adults. Classes will meet at the Elk Grove High School courts starting the week of June 26. The fee is $4 per person, and participants must provide their own racquets.

SUMMER DANCE classes will be offered for preschool through junior high school age students. Classes for ballet, tap and modern dance start the week of June 26, and the cost is $3.

Other adult programs include a men's 16-inch softball league, women's volleyball and golf instruction for men and women.

Darlene Greaves will conduct a summer crafts program for all ages that will include sculpture, decoupage and paper tole, glass-cutting and candle design.

The Friday night Cedar House teen program will continue to provide recreational activities for teenagers throughout the summer months. The Cedar House at the Community Center is open from 7-11 p.m. Fridays and is chaperoned.

THE PARK district bicycle club is organizing several outings for the summer around the community as well as day-long rides.

Two sessions of swimming instruction will be offered at Disney and Lion's pools. Classes include beginning, advanced beginning, intermediate and advanced swimming, diving, water ballet, lifesaving and scuba diving.

Last but not least, the park district is offering a special program for the family dog. Linda Holste will teach two classes each in beginning and intermediate dog obedience starting the week of June 12. The cost is $4, and classes are limited to 20 dogs.

Registration for classes is continuing at the park district offices, 499 Biesterfeld Rd.

Extend Unincorporated Auto Sticker Date

The enforcement deadline for Cook County's new tax on vehicles in unincorporated areas has been extended to July 1.

Cook County Pres. George Dunne has ordered only warning tickets to be issued between now and that date. May 15 was the original deadline for paying the tax. Earlier Dunne had extended the enforcement deadline to June 1.

Meanwhile, officials in the Cook County Collector's office reported late last week that a total of 20,040 applications for the required sticker had been received. There are 53,820 passenger cars registered in unincorporated areas of Cook County.

The "wheel" tax on vehicles in unincorporated areas was enacted in December by the County Board, but has been challenged in court in a suit filed by the Prospect Heights Improvement Association. Filed on behalf of residents throughout unincorporated areas of the county, the suit argues that it is unfair to charge a special tax on residents of un-

MARILYN ABEAR visits with some first grade students after class at Queen of the Rosary School in Elk Grove Village. She is one of the school's original teachers and will be retiring in June to move to Florida.

A 'Founding Teacher' Moves On

by CAROL RHYNE

Queen of the Rosary Catholic School in Elk Grove Village will say goodbye to the last of its "founding teachers" this June when fourth grade teacher Marilyn Abear retires and moves to Florida.

Mrs. Abear said last week she remembers when the school consisted of 12 classrooms, nine teachers and 350 students back in the beginning in 1960.

"Construction was still going on when we first moved in," she said. "There was no pavement, and our biggest problem was the sea of mud that surrounded the school."

Mrs. Abear said she had never intended to teach at the school but was drafted by the Rev. J. Ward Morrison during church one day.

"Father Morrison pointed at me and told the school principal, 'This is the teacher I want,'" she said. "The school needed a first grade teacher and my experience was mostly in high school, but I couldn't say no before the whole congregation."

"I TOOK THE teaching position with the intention of filling in until a permanent teacher was found," she said. "But a substitute never materialized, and I stayed."

Mrs. Abear taught first grade for five years before moving to the fourth grade where she now teaches mathematics, reading and music.

"I found the first grade the most difficult grade to teach because the children come in with no prior formal learning experiences," she said.

"It's the little things I want to remember the most about those years," she said. "Like the time the first graders decided to have a rhythm band with pots and pans, and we were thrown out of school for making too much noise. We took our instruments outside and paraded up and down the vacant lots that were abundant back then."

"Another time one of the children brought a baby bird to school. It looked hungry so we all went down to the creek to dig for worms for our new arrival," she said.

MRS. ABEAR said she enjoyed the freedom to be creative that she found at Rosary School.

"I am a very creative person, and unless I can think up new ideas to give each class, I get bored," she said. "When I have nothing more to give the children, as I felt when I switched from first to fourth grade, I become stale and the children get bored."

Mrs. Abear has been thinking up new ideas for her students for 27 years, except for a break when she and her husband moved from Michigan to Elk Grove Village.

"I started teaching in a one-room country school in 1939 in Greenfield, Wis.," she said. "It had 23 students, a creaky merry-go-round on the playground and an outhouse."

FROM THERE she taught high school at several schools in Michigan. "I didn't like teaching in high school, and because of my experiences there, I didn't plan to teach again until I came to Queen of the Rosary School."

Mrs. Abear said she is now moving to Florida because her husband has retired and they have bought a house in Holiday, Fla., near Clearwater, two blocks away from the Gulf of Mexico.

Women To Sell Doughnut Tags

Volunteers from the Elk Grove Village Junior Women's Club will be on village street corners Friday selling paper doughnut tags for the Salvation Army's tag day.

Mrs. John Willigman, 276 Thorndale Ave., tag day chairman said volunteers will be on the streets from 6 a.m. through the early evening hours in an attempt to reach a $195,000 goal.

Another Delay In Hearing Of Middleton Case Motion

A hearing on a post-trial defense motion in the case of Dr. James G. Middleton was delayed again yesterday when the state came to court unprepared to argue the matter.

The hearing, on a motion by the Des Plaines physician to throw out the finding of guilt and subsequent sentence against him, was rescheduled by Judge Robert J. Downing for June 5.

Dr. Middleton, 46, of 969 S. Elmhurst Rd., Des Plaines, was convicted Feb. 3 of deviate sexual assault and aggravated battery. He was found guilty of drugging a former woman patient and then forcing her to submit to a deviate sexual act.

Three weeks later, Judge Downing sentenced the doctor to 5 to 10 years in prison.

IN HIS MOTION, the doctor charges that his prosecutor, Asst. State's Atty. James Kavanaugh, telephoned him the morning following the sentencing and admitted that he knew some of the testimony against the doctor was perjured.

Dr. Middleton's attorney, Sam Adam, argued that that telephone conversation warrants vacation of the judgment and sentence, or at least a new trial.

Asst. State's Atty. Nicholas Motherway, now handling the case, previously was ordered to file an answer to the defense motion by May 19. Yesterday, however, Motherway still had not complied. He told the judge he understood he had until May 19 to file either an answer or new motions.

On that date, Motherway filed the motion asking the court to dismiss the defense motion because, he said, the defense motion was not sufficiently specific.

Judge Downing denied Motherway's motion and, expressing displeasure over the continued delays, ordered Motherway to answer the defense motion by 5 p.m. yesterday. The judge then rescheduled the hearing for June 5.

Seven Park Districts Back Area Bicycle Route

Representatives of park districts in seven Northwest suburbs have expressed enthusiasm about an area-wide bicycle route and have agreed to work together to set one up.

A regional bike route mapped by the Northeastern Illinois Planning Commission and the Council of Governments of Cook County was endorsed at a meeting of the park district officials Friday in Arlington Heights.

Represented at the meeting were Arlington Heights, Des Plaines, Elk Grove Village, Mount Prospect, Palatine, Rolling Meadows and Wheeling.

Roger A. Bjorvik of Palatine, attorney for the Palatine Park District and vice chairman of the county governmental council, said the route would connect communities, allowing bicyclists safe and clearly marked paths to such recreational areas as Busse Woods, Deer Grove Forest Preserve and the Des Plaines River.

He indicated the purpose of the bike path is twofold: transportation and recreational.

PART OF THE path would probably utilize Commonwealth Edison Co., Northern Illinois Gas Co., and Cook County Forest Preserve District rights-of-way, and part would consist simply of identifiable bike trail signs along roadways, he said.

Bjorvik said he was unable to estimate the cost of an area-wide project because it depends upon how much land has to be acquired and the terms of the agreements.

Hearings are now taking place before a subcommittee of the House Public Works Committee in Washington on the Bicycle Transportation Act of 1971. The act, sponsored by New York Congressman Edward Koch in the House, and Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., in the Senate, would provide motor fuel tax funds for acquisition and development of land for bicycle paths.

The seven local park district representatives are to discuss the plans for a bike path with their organizations, then report back for another meeting July 13.

Cheerleader Tryouts Scheduled Saturday

The Elk Grove Village Athletic Association will hold cheerleader tryouts this and next Saturday from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. at Lions Park.

All non-high school girls age 10 to 14 may participate. There will be eight cheerleaders per team for the four traveling football teams. Registration fee is $12, to be paid after tryouts are complete.

Pee Wee cheerleader tryouts will be held later in June.

Track Officials Seek Permission For Cycle Races

The cheers of horse racing fans at the opening of Arlington Park Race Track this afternoon will give way to the questions of the village plan commission tonight for track officials who are seeking permission to hold a professional motorcycle race at Arlington Park the night of Sept. 9.

Residents from Arlington Heights and Rolling Meadows are expected to attend the public hearing and to express their feelings on the running of a second Yamaha Gold Cup motorcycle race at the track.

The Rolling Meadows City Council voted last Tuesday to oppose the race and a council representative is expected to outline the city's objections at tonight's hearing.

Tom Rivera, public relations director for Arlington Park, said he hopes area residents who favor a second motorcycle race will also be in attendance.

LAST YEAR'S Yamaha Gold Cup attracted over 21,000 spectators to Arlington Park, a record crowd for such a motorcycle race in Illinois.

But it also drew a number of protests from neighboring residents who objected to the noise and dust generated by the racers as well as the glare from lights used to illuminate the track.

Arlington Heights and Rolling Meadows police departments reported receiving a total of 221 telephone complaints the night of last year's race.

Neither department reported any major difficulties in handling the large crowd, however, and traffic from the race track was described by police as more orderly than on an average afternoon during the horse racing season.

Rivera said Arlington Park plans to make a number of modifications in the operation of this year's race based on its experience last year.

THE CHANGES, which Rivera said he would explain at tonight's meeting, are designed to reduce the effect of lights, noise and dust on the surrounding residents, he said.

Chicago Thoroughbred Enterprises

(CTE), owners and operators of Arlington Park Race Track, are planning a third motorcycle race for Washington Park Race Track in Homewood.

The Arlington Heights Village Board did not officially take any action to halt last year's cycle race after Village Atty. Jack Siegel said the race was legal within the terms of the annexation agreement between the track and the village.

Several weeks after last year's race, the trustees met with CTE Pres. Jack Loomer and reached an understanding that future motorcycle races would require a special use permit from the village.

CTE's application for a special use permit to hold this year's race is the subject of tonight's public hearing.

If the plan commission acts favorably on the application the special use permit will still have to be okayed by the village board before the race can be held.

Church Slates A 'Senior Breakfast'

High school graduating seniors who are members of the Lutheran Church of the Holy Spirit in Elk Grove Village are invited to a breakfast 8 a.m. June 11 at the church. The group will then attend the 9:15 a.m. worship service.

Consumer Must Help In Crackdown: Scott

Beware That 'Dreamland' Sales Pitch

by LEA TONKIN

Consumers play a major role in the effort to stamp out deceptive out-of-state land sales practices. That's the opinion of Illinois Atty. Gen. William J. Scott.

Coming out of a hearing held this spring by the attorney general's consumer fraud division are a handful of recommendations for stepped-up regulation.

You have the right to see the property report or cancel any signed contract within 48 hours . . .

lation of out-of-state land sales. Yet the consumer is the backbone of the effort to curb hard-sell campaigns laced with misrepresentation.

Land companies selling out-of-state property to Illinois residents must be registered with the Illinois Department of Registration and Education, according to one of Scott's assistants. Yet all too often the attorney general's consumer fraud division finds that buyers are suckered by fraudulent land promoters because they failed to check with the department for confirmation that the company can legitimately do business in this state.

UNDER THE Illinois Land Sales Act, a buyer must be furnished with a copy of a property report filed by the land developer at least 48 hours before he signs a binding contract. According to Scott's assistant, many buyers purchase out-of-state land, sight unseen, at promotional dinners or other promotional affairs. They may not be aware of their right to see the property report, or their right to cancel any signed contract within 48 hours if they did not receive the report according to the law.

The property report filed with the Department of Registration and Education describes the exact location of an out-of-state project, the route to the subdivision, any nearby shopping or transportation facilities and zoning. It should tell whether the land is covered by water at any time during the year. The entire subdivision plan is included as well as a description of utilities or amenities to be installed.

Will the tracts of land be accessible by conventional automobile? Will it be marked so the prospective purchaser can locate the site? Is there a refund privilege? These questions also are included in the property statement.

A section in the report on mortgages includes a query on any provision for release from encumbrance of a blanket mortgage upon completion of payments. Buyers should read this section carefully to determine whether a buyer actually gains full title to his land when he finishes paying for it.

Insist on getting a copy of the property report, advises Scott's assistant. The developer is required by law to furnish the report, confirmed by a state inspector. Then the buyer must carefully read the statement. The consumer fraud division finds that some buyers of out-of-state land fail to read the report. They are rudely surprised to find later that there is no access to their property or that no running water is available at their new homestead.

THIS WARNING IS echoed by the Office of Interstate Land Sales Registration, U.S. Department of Housing and

A development billed as "10 miles from Rainbow City" could neglect to mention that those 10 miles contain an impassable swamp . . .

Urban Development (HUD). A property report similar to a securities prospectus must be presented to all prospective buyers before the sale, whether the sale is in his home state or out of state, according to HUD regulations.

Authorized under the Title XIV of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1968 — the Interstate Land Sales Full Disclosure Act, this program of consumer protection is designed to give a full and fair disclosure of facts. HUD warns that "if the buyer ignores or fails to read and understand the property report, the consumer protection aspects of the law are virtually negated."

Eager out-of-state buyers who have not inspected the property are gobbling up land offers. But HUD's office of Interstate Land Sales Registration advises buyers not to casually sign on the dotted line for low monthly payments on a distant land development without checking the property report.

Half-truths rather than outright misrepresentation are usually the trademark of the relatively few fraudulent land developers, according to the federal agency. For example, "readily accessible" could mean that the site of your future retirement home can be reached only via helicopter or footpath. A development billed as "10 miles from Rainbow City" could neglect to mention that those 10 miles contain an impassable swamp.

"By all means, talk to owners who are trying to sell their property privately and find out why . . ."

THE CONSUMER fraud division posted additional complaints registered by Illinois consumers in the hearing on interstate land sales. The failure of land sales firms to counsel buyers on the difficulty of resale of the property, should the need arise, was a common problem. Scott plans to come up with additional guidelines for the Department of Registration and Education within the next month, with the possible provision that buyers should be notified that the land developer does not guarantee the resale of property.

Scott may also require that out-of-state land sales companies doing business in Illinois be required to post a completion bond until the amenities planned for a development are finished.

An additional licensing fee required of land firms could be set aside for use as a pool to reimburse Illinois buyers cheated in their purchase of out-of-state property in states where a completion bond is not required. Consumers complained at the Illinois hearing that they were bilked of their investment when a land company failed to install amenities as promised or went bankrupt.

Another problem cropping up is misrepresentation in newspapers and other media. Advertisements don't always conform to the property report, according to the consumer fraud division. Scott may seek legislation enabling a regulatory agency to check the accuracy of out-of-state land advertisements.

Land developers seeking to upgrade their industry image also offer words of caution to consumers. James Reed of Palatine, president of the Branigan Organization, said the American Land Development Association is formulating a code of ethics to police the ranks of land companies. A reputable land developer should solicit the business only of the informed buyer, according to Reed. His firm is marketing second home sites in Illinois, Wisconsin and Florida. Other leisure-oriented land developments are underway by the Medinah-based firm.

ARE YOU ATTRACTED by advertisements contending that land values at a particular out-of-state development will skyrocket? True, costs are always going up, says Reed. But when you purchase a second homesite or recreational property, buy it for today's enjoyment, he advises. "That's what it's all about, to invest and enjoy at the same time," Reed said.

Go several steps farther than the examination of a property report when you're in the market for out-of-state property, says Julius Jensen III. He is chief executive officer of the Boston-based Continental Investment Corp. The firm includes the American Land & Lakes Co., a developer of leisure home sites, among its subsidiaries.

Jensen suggests that prospective buyers should talk to people who already own land in the development. "By all means, talk to owners who are trying to sell their property privately and find out why — and whether they are taking a loss or will make a profit," Jensen said.

Find out what construction methods are forbidden in a land development, Jensen warns. "In this regard, find out whether mobile homes will be permitted; will camping be permitted; and do people have to cross your property to reach a campsite or lake or pond. Some developers retain mineral rights — so, find out if these rights go with the property," said Jensen.

The new American land rush is on by mail, according to Jensen. Lavish brochures addressed to "occupant," unwanted telephone calls, invitations to a "free" dinner and prizes awarded for letting a land salesman into your home could well be the prelude to a sales pitch for newly subdivided desert and wilderness areas.

by Bob Lahey

Two candidates for Cook County offices will be featured at a meeting of the Wheeling Township Republican Organization at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Clayton House, 1090 S. Milwaukee Ave., Wheeling.

Speaking will be Robert L. Sklodowski, GOP candidate for clerk of the Circuit Court, and Robert C. Power, one of three Republican candidates for trustee of the Metropolitan Sanitary District.

Richard A. Cowen, township committeeman, described Sklodowski as "one of the most aggressive and exciting candidates we've ever had." He said Sklodowski's lawsuit against County Treasurer Bernard Corzen and Circuit Court Clerk Matthew Danaher one of the most important issues in the current election campaign.

Sklodowski has asked the Circuit Court to compel the two Democratic officials to invest funds under their control in interest-bearing accounts.

Cowen pointed out the position of sanitary district trustee sought by Power is one of importance which receives far too little public attention. "Much of what the sanitary district does has a direct effect on all of us," said Cowen. "Such things as flooding, sewage, anti-pollution efforts all fall in their jurisdiction."

POWER, OF CHICAGO, became an assistant Illinois attorney general in 1969, following 19 years in private law practice. He is a former president of the 3rd and 4th Ward Young Republicans, and has served as vice president for both the Cook County and state Young Republican organizations. He is a precinct captain in the 4th Ward.

Power writes a law column for the Chicago Gazette, and is a former president of the Morehouse College Alumni Club of Chicago, and a trustee of the Monumental Baptist Church.

Sklodowski, now a resident of Northbrook, is a former vice president of the Wheeling Township Republican Organization. He began his career in law as an assistant attorney general and has been a trial lawyer for the past 13 years.

A charter member of the Northwest Suburban Bar Association, he served seven years on the board of governors and was president of the association in 1969-70. He is a member of the board of directors of the Park Ridge YMCA, commissioner of the Northbrook Bantam Hockey League and a member of the executive board of the Council to Prevent Drug Addiction in the Park Ridge, Harwood Heights and Edison Park areas.

Thursday's meeting will also feature a panel discussion on recruiting volunteer workers, Cowen said.

U.S. REP. Abner Mikva, D-2nd, will benefit from a $50,000 dinner to be held Thursday, June 8, at the Palmer House, for use in his campaign for re-election in the new 10th Congressional District against Republican Sam Young.

Sen. Harold Hughes of Iowa will be the featured speaker.

Former FCC chairman Newton Minow, co-chairman of a citizens committee for Mikva, said 500 persons are expected to attend the $100-a-plate dinner.

REP. EUGENE F. SCHLICKMAN, R-Arlington Heights, will appear on the program, "A Question of..." on Arlington Heights radio station WEXI (92.7 FM) at noon Sunday.

Among topics he will discuss is his legislation which would provide a $500,000 driver testing facility for the Northwest suburbs. The bill, recommended for passage by the House Appropriations Committee, is awaiting action by the House.

He will also discuss his vote against the constitutional amendment for equal rights for women, according to program director Pat Cassidy. The program is repeated at midnight each Monday.

Heavy 11th-Hour Load Faces State Legislators

SPRINGFIELD (UPI) — This is supposed to be the next-to-last week of the spring legislative session. One would never know it by the vast workload still facing Illinois legislators.

Appropriations bills almost without end remain on the calendar. They were supposed to have been one of the major items of business for the spring session.

Now, however, they will have to be worked in around such controversial items as aid to non public schools, ethics legislation, ratification of the women's rights amendment, tax bills, an antidraft resolution and a land reclamation bill by the Republican candidate for lieutenant governor.

Also on the docket are two items that turned into hot potatoes suddenly last week — Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie's capital development bonding program and House Speaker W. Robert Blair's $1 million program to improve the House chamber.

THE BOND program — sponsored by Blair — ran into trouble Wednesday in the House Appropriations Committee. There appeared to be no serious opposition until Republicans called the bills unexpectedly. Extending the committee meeting several hours beyond its deadline, they rammed the program through over strenuous Democratic protests.

There remained little doubt, however, that Democrats will support the bills when they come to a final floor vote. But what effect the power-play tactic will have on other legislation remains to be seen.

Blair's House renovation bill, which includes a bulletproof glass cage around the floor, mired down in the Senate after charges of kickbacks involving the architect. Sen. G. William Horsley, R-Springfield, demanded the allegations be thoroughly probed before the bill passed the upper chamber and, on a test vote only 22 of the needed 30 "aye" votes were available.

The bill then was placed on postponed consideration for later action.

THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY did turn in a number of accomplishments last week — perhaps the most active week of the session so far. They included:

— Senate passage of two property tax plans for the elderly and House passage of a similar measure.

— Final approval of a $129 million emergency welfare appropriation.

— Senate passage, but House defeat, of ratification of the women's rights amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

— Senate committee approval of an antidraft resolution written by young protesters.

— Final approval of funds for the Judicial Inquiry Board.

— Narrow Senate approval of a $30 million parochial plan.

— House passage of an election consolidation plan that would change the primary from March to May.

MANY OF THOSE measures passed with only the barest of majorities. The women's rights ratification, for instance, cleared the Senate with only 30 votes — the minimum. None of the bills in the parochial package got more than 32 Senate "ayes."

The equal rights measure, in particular, could face a rocky road in the House, where an identical measure died quickly last week, falling far short of the required number of votes.

Present Status Of Major State Legislation

SPRINGFIELD (UPI) — Here is the status of some major legislation in the Illinois General Assembly.

Parochial
30 million package to aid nonpublic schools has passed Senate by narrow margin, awaits House action.

Women's Rights
Senate has passed resolution to ratify equal rights amendment to federal constitution. House, which previously defeated a similar resolution, has been urged strongly by governors to approve the Senate measure.

Taxes
Two bills to aid elderly with property taxes have cleared Senate, another has passed the House. Bill for a standard $7,500 personal property tax exemption for all has cleared the House. A multitude of other tax bills remain at various stages of action.

No-fault Auto Insurance
Two bills pending on House floor but Senate has agreed not to hear the subject. This session and no effort has been made to move House bills to final passage.

Ethics
Proposal to make public names of race-track stockholders awaiting only Senate vote for passage. Comprehensive ethics bill ready for floor action in House if Supreme Court invalidates old law.

Appropriations
Most major bills for fiscal 1973 still awaiting floor votes.

Education Today

Life—Blend Of Work And Recreation

by BETSY BROOKER

The necessity of school programs such as band, art and sports had become the subject of heated debates once again as budget time draws near.

Faced with rising costs and stable tax rates, many districts have been, and will be, forced to cut programs and personnel to make ends meet. Cuts are unfortunate at any time, but they are particularly detrimental when they cut curriculum down to the bare academics.

Educators must remember the schools' role is to prepare students for life — a life that contains a complex blend of work and recreation. In the days of the one-room school house, work took a lion's share of each day. But as our society becomes more technological, people will have more leisure time at their disposal. The four-day work week, added holidays, new vacation homes and a boom in recreation products are all symptoms of what may become a national malady if people are not prepared.

LOOK AT the crisis a man faces, for example, when he retires. Used to years of scheduled time complete with work agenda, he is often incapable of using his newly won leisure productively. In effect he has lost the creativity to build from nothing.

Our youth of today will face this same crisis, long before they reach 65, if they are not taught now the art of constructive play. This may sound ridiculous, yet there is nothing like idle boredom to breed despair and sometimes destruction.

Leisure time can be used for all sorts of hobby-type activities that are entertaining and at the same time productive. Vocational education has done a lot to teach students skills that do not necessarily have to be applied to wage earning. Although the vocational program is designed for non-college bound students, it can also aid the college student by equipping him with auxiliary skills.

Teaching innovations that encourage students to question and experiment are another move in the right direction. A teacher that challenges his student's inquisitiveness and creativity rather than acting as an oral textbook is teaching them to learn and produce on their own.

THE SCHOOLS have failed, however, in classifying vocational education as non-college preparatory and extra-curricular activities as fluff. Woodshop, band, sports — they may not be as essential as math and English but they are a vital part of education.

Educators make a mistake when they set academics up as an absolute end to the detriment of other programs. They have an obligation to turn out well-rounded individuals. To do this they need well-rounded programs.

Pasadena: The Test Tube For Busing

THE HERALD

Wednesday, May 31, 1972

Section 1 — 7

by JACK V. FOX

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — This city of 180,000 has had mandatory busing to achieve racial balance for 20 months now, with teachers and administrators trying their best to make it work.

So, as a checkpoint in the national controversy over busing — reaching up to the presidential level — Pasadena logically would seem to have found the answer to whether busing succeeds or fails in its objectives.

Such is not the case.

Those who were vehemently opposed to busing when it was instituted under federal court order here in September, 1970, say it is not working well.

Those who backed it insist that, overall, it has gone smoothly and has shown marked results in improving academic achievement for minority children without slowing the progress of those with advanced capabilities.

Albert C. Lowe, president of the board of education, a furniture store owner of Chinese descent, says that the greatest disappointment has been getting the people of Pasadena behind the program.

"I CAN UNDERSTAND their resistance," he said. "It is illogical to take a child from his neighborhood across town to a school and transport another kid in the opposite direction.

"But the point is — what is the alternative? If we really believe in quality education for the greatest number and an opportunity for better human relations, what is the alternative?

"If we are going to sit around and wait for new housing patterns to achieve desegregation of whites and blacks, we will be sitting forever. People profess to be all for desegregation. It is something like being for motherhood. But when they come to grips with it, it's a different matter.

The Pasadena busing plan encompasses an area of 52 square miles including the communities of Altadena and Sierra Madre. There are approximately 30,000 students enrolled with a breakdown of 50.3 per cent Caucasian, 35.5 black, 10.3 Mexican-American.

A little less than half are bused each day on 83 vehicles on routes whose longest trip is 35 minutes. It costs $1 million a year.

PASADENA, ONCE the poshest of the Los Angeles suburbs, has been getting a black influx for 10 years or more. The western sector, including the area around the Rose Bowl, is largely Negro. A middle slice is mixed and the eastern area is overwhelmingly white — and affluent.

Pasadena High School, with more than 4,000 students, had 81.6 per cent white students and 12.1 per cent black in the 1969-70 school year. This school year the breakdown is 56.4 white, 30.7 black.

The opponents of busing make these main points:

—The sheer inconvenience to children of busing, removal from familiar settings and separation from friends.

—Incidents of violence, extortion threats for money, beatings and harassment in washrooms.

—Black students are not getting better educations and, in fact, are segregating themselves at white schools. Whites with higher skills are getting a poorer education.

—Mandatory busing has resulted in a "white flight" with 1,495 students vanishing from schools as whites put children in private schools or moved away.

SUPERINTENDENT OF schools for the district is Ralph W. Hornbeck, who has thrown his energy and skill into making busing work.

"I don't think there is the slightest question that more children are getting a better educational opportunity than they did before," he said.

"It is simply impossible to produce the same kind of educational outcome in schools made up primarily of minorities and the poor. They go out of school onto welfare rolls, which is far more expensive than busing.

"It will take three to five years before research experts come up with significant information on student achievement, but the vast majority of our teachers tell us this is the best year they have ever had."

So far as violence is concerned, Hornbeck says the number of incidents reported this year is 50 per cent lower than 1970-71 and lower than any time in the last six years.

HORNBECK CONCEDES that another problem is how best to meet the needs of minority students whose reading capability, for example, may be far behind whites when they move to another school.

One answer has been new patterns of teaching and curricula. Lesser achievers go into remedial reading sections and have a choice of courses suitable to their skills while more gifted children are given more independence to proceed on their own.

"The acceptance of parents is the basic problem," the school superintendent said. "I believe that if the whole thing were left up to the kids things would go a lot better than they have.

"The older ones have been shaped through home life into certain feelings and those who have grown up in segregated schools find it difficult to adjust at first. But I think it's highly significant that you don't see these problems with the little kids."

Hornbeck's remarks were borne out by visits to three Pasadena schools — Alta Loma Elementary School, Elliot Junior High School and Pasadena High School.

At Alta Loma, where the children range from age 10 to 13, blacks and whites mingled on playgrounds, the sports field and in corridors. At Elliot, the mix was less and at Pasadena High the blacks, whites, Mexican-Americans and even the white "hippies" stayed in their own groups outside the classrooms.

EUGENE LAMBERT, the principal at Pasadena High and himself a black, says busing over-all is going well but concedes that the races are still markedly segregated by their own choice.

"Last year I went up to a group of blacks and asked why they didn't go over and talk to the white kids," he said.

"They said the white kids talked about skiing and scuba diving and parties they had gone to over the weekend and they weren't interested in those things and hadn't been at the parties. They talked about fixing old cars and their own parties. They just didn't have much in common."

Opposition to busing was such in 1970 that a recall election was held in an attempt to remove school board members who had refused to appeal the federal court ruling. The anti-bus slate was defeated by a tiny margin.

One of those who ran on the recall ticket was Mrs. Ralph R. (Kay) Rule, whose husband is mayor of Sierra Madre and who has been president of the Parent Teachers Association at the grade, junior high and high school levels.

Mrs. Rule said she simply feels that the neighborhood school system is better for all concerned.

MRS. RULE, who worked for years with black parents and children on the west side of the city, also said she does not believe that educational improvement is being achieved — instead standards are being geared to the lowest learner and she feels a far better system would be to use busing money to improve the minority schools.

"I also don't believe lasting friendships can be created by a few hours together in the classrooms and then splitting apart as soon as school is out," she said. "As a matter of fact, if anything, the getting on buses back to your own neighborhood underlines the differences."

Mrs. Rule asserts she got heavy support for her anti-bus stand in the black communities. Hornbeck, on the other hand, contends that contentions that the black community of Pasadena does not want busing is "hogwash." "I'll tell you who doesn't want busing," he said. "The black militants. They are saying: the hell with you, we'll do it ourselves. And if we don't wake up, that's just what's going to happen."

The Doctor Says

by Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb — You had a letter stating that a woman, when put on birth control pills, had her complexion clear. To quote you, "This points up the influence sex hormones have on skin problems." Why for God's sake do doctors and dermatologists ignore this evidence and go on treating acne with tetracycline (it ruined my son's teeth), and X-ray and smelly medications? My daughter's face is so badly scarred I cringe. Now what is breaking my heart is my 19-year-old son who has acne can't get rid of it. I have a 12-year-old with this beautiful transparent skin and as soon as I see a red blotch I die a little. Maybe I am making too much of my enigma, but it is devouring me. I love beauty only if it is skin deep.

Dear Reader — Severe acne is difficult to treat. One of the difficult things in practicing medicine is that there are a number of problems that are difficult or impossible to treat. Most doctors would like to be able to prevent cancer, cure heart disease and yes, eliminate acne, but it is just not that simple.

I do believe anyone who has a severe acne of the type your letter suggests your children have had does need expert care. That doesn't guarantee that there won't still be problems, but at least it may prevent them from being as bad as they might otherwise have been. The rest of your letter states you could go to Milwaukee or Madison. Why don't you see if you can get your doctor to refer you to the dermatology department at the University of Wisconsin in Madison. Most of the doctors welcome a consultation and if there is anything new which can be done with the severe type of acne which you describe, perhaps they can be of help. I don't mean to be discouraging, but very severe cases of acne are often very difficult to cure, even by the most competent dermatologists available.

NOW ABOUT those hormones. Boys and girls both tend to develop the common variety of acne at the time they go through adolescence and start elaborating sex hormones. This is particularly true in boys. So it is a well established observation that sex hormones do influence skin problems sometimes making them worse. Birth control pills can actually help to relieve the problem in some cases. The difficulty is, which is immediately obvious, that birth control pills with female hormones are not exactly the best thing to give to sexually maturing boys, hence, it isn't done. Boys usually prefer to be boys.

Our Heroes In A Tragedy

In many ways, Charles Waite Jr. is just another policeman, and in the best tradition of the men who protect us, he was just doing his job early last Friday morning.

"Doing his job," however, for the 23-year-old Arlington Heights policeman involved defying death as he futilely attempted to save the lives of two children.

Responding to a fire call, Waite spotted the parents of twins Mark and Michael Fink at a second story window. They were shouting that the two boys were still in the burning home.

Waite repeatedly tried to enter the boys' bedroom, but was driven back by intense smoke and heat. He was hospitalized at Northwest Community Hospital, but was released Saturday.

Doing his job. That's standard procedure in crises for policemen and firemen.

Just two weeks ago, three young children died in a house fire in Hoffman Estates. By the time the firemen arrived, the house was already engulfed in flames. Nevertheless, four firefighters were injured in attempting to rescue the children. One of the firefighters, Lt. Jerome Danowski, suffered first and second degree burns in the blaze.

These two incidents are not isolated examples of bravery in the line of duty. In a thousand different ways over the past few years in the Northwest suburbs, firemen and policemen have risked their lives to save, or attempt to save, human lives.

There are dozens of men like Charles Waite and Jerome Danowski. They serve often without public acclaim and too often with public abuse and misunderstanding of their role. Yet, they are there when life and property is threatened.

And they do their job well.

Beyond the brave men, of course, is the question of why such tragic fires occur.

Perhaps some house fires cannot be prevented. But in most cases there are steps which can be taken to ease the threat of a fire, or, if a fire occurs, to make the firemen's job easier.

One step is Operation Red Ball, in which red decals are placed on the windows of children or disabled persons. This allows firemen or police arriving at a burning house to go directly to a bedroom. Saving a few seconds may result in saving a human life.

Another sensible step, if you are a parent, is to teach your children basic escape methods. A child, if confronted with fire and smoke, may attempt to leave the house as he normally would — a move which could be a fatal mistake.

There are, of course, many ways of preventing fires and parents should study them. Most involve common sense, such as banning explosive materials from the home and checking electrical wiring.

For more complete information, check with your local fire department. They'll give you basic safety hints; they are as anxious as you are to prevent fires.

As they've demonstrated in the past few months, our firemen and policemen are willing to risk their lives to save lives. They would first, however, like to save lives through prevention.

Hawaii's 'Racism'

The famed racial equality of the nation's 50th state is vastly overrated.

Or so claims journalist Francine du Plessix Gray in a new book, "Hawaii: The Sugar-Coated Fortress," a comprehensive and critical look at the island-chain state.

Not only does she contend that Hawaii is a sugar-coated fortress, dominated by the pineapple trust, but the crass commercialism of developers is transmogrifying its natural beauty into a plastic paradise, at least on the island of Oahu, the only part of Hawaii that most tourists see.

About the harmony bit, "Hawaii," says Mrs. Gray, "is a society whose racism tends to be obscured by the superficial racial equality and the relative power of some non-white groups — the wealthy Chinese, the politically dominant Japanese."

As for the native Polynesians, because of their uncompetitive nature, they are kept at the bottom of the social heap.

This is unfortunate, and perhaps even a tragedy for the Polynesians, whose disease and alcohol-devastated history after contact with the white man is sadly comparable to that of the American Indian. But what to do about it?

Since all missionary efforts to inculcate the easy-going Polynesians with the Protestant work ethic failed, perhaps some tranquil havens on the unspoiled islands can be spared from energetic Anglo-Saxons, Chinese, Japanese, Koreans, Filipinos, Portuguese and others.

In any case, there is one ray of hope for Hawaii. If Hawaiians practice racial equality long enough, no matter how superficial, it could eventually seep down into their subconscious and become second nature.

A lot of Americans on the mainland would settle for some of that "superficial equality" and some of that "relative power." Even some of the plastic paradise.

The Public's Issue

Optometrist Backs Eye Exam Bill

Last Tuesday the Herald editorially opposed HB 2033, a bill which would require all children in public schools to visit an optometrist or an ophthalmologist at least three times in elementary and junior high school.

Dr. John A. Perkinson, in supporting HB 2033 and criticizing the Herald for what he regards as lack of research in a prior news article, supports passage of the bill. He is especially critical of the current visual screening program in public schools, which he states does not detect many visual problems.

Critics of HB 2033 contend the present visual screening program is more than adequate and that the bill is only a "make-work" proposal for optometrists and ophthalmologists alike.

by DR. JOHN A. PERKINSON
President Elect
West Suburban Optometric Society
As President Elect of the West Suburban Optometric Society consisting of 77 members in the West Suburban area, I must express professional, personal and society dissatisfaction and offense of your article on visual exams dated Thursday May 11, 1972. I cannot understand how a reputable paper can take an apparent news release and publish it as news without any research into all of the different aspects and authenticity of the facts.

I would like to give you a few of the more important aspects of H.B. 2033.

—This is not optometry's bill. It was conceived and submitted by the professional Women's Club of Illinois.

—You quote a $13.5 million expense to the public. Suppose you figure the cost of about 1000 vision screeners with their salary per diem expenses. Their salary alone averages about $625 per month plus per diem expenses. H. B. 2113 would double the number of screeners to 2000.

With the salary for nine months of $5,625,000, and per diem expenses of 500 per day times 1000 times 180 equals $900,000.

This is a very expensive screening program. If the number of screeners is doubled this would equal $13,050,000. If you add the cost of another 1000 screening instruments ($240,000) and office space and staff to run it in Springfield ($8,000 for rent) and $80,000 for staff you have a total of $13,298,000.

This is for a program which over refers some students and under refers many others. According to the Orinda study in California (physicians and ophthalmologists and optometrists working together) and other research studies the visual screening is about 50 per cent effective. The public must pay taxes for this program and then go pay the professional examination fees so they are paying twice.

When you include the taxes paid locally to provide special education teachers and programs because the visual screening does not detect these visual problems, you get another gross waste of tax payers' money.

Federal research studies indicate that 20 per cent of 1st graders, 30 per cent of 2nd, and 40 per cent of 5th graders and 50 per cent of 8th graders have visual difficulties which affect their learning abilities, then you have a gigantic injustice to our youth. If 50 per cent of these are missed by present screening programs, I would say it is time to try something else.

If you realize that 40 per cent of those in 5th grade today will be dropouts at high school senior age will approximately 50 to 60 per cent of these are reading and learning disability individuals, I say the whole country and its youth are being short changed. Another approach to the visual capabilities has to be tried.

I am sure the medical society will agree there are sufficient ophthalmologists and optometrists in Cook County to fulfill demands of the influx of these children. According to Dr. Bakalis' office, there are 480,000 children outside of Cook County. There are 1925 optometrists and ophthalmologists outside of Cook County according to the Department of Registration and Education. Since approximately one fourth of these are all ready under visual care of a professional and with 250 working days in the year this would average about 1.75 extra patients per man per day.

There is no shortage of optometrists in Illinois at this time. There is a shortage (or is it maldistribution) of ophthalmologists, but if Loyola accepts about 400 out of 8,000 applications to medical school, does the medical society believe there is a shortage?

We who support this bill are not out to destroy the visual screening program, but to put it in its proper perspective. Since 80 per cent of the learning is visual, I and anyone who analyzes the situation must agree that the visual system should be performing at maximum level of efficiency. When you consider that the visual screeners receive three days of orientation (not training) I would say a professional exam three times in 12 years is a must to insure adequate visual performance in the school environment.

I hope that you will consider the other, and I believe, more important considerations of this bill and hopefully print some of these concepts as well.

'Please Support Youth Center'

The FENCE POST Letters to the Editor

As a preface to this letter I would like to state that I am not lacking knowledge of our young adults as I have been very active in youth work for many years; I have participated in PTA, Jr. Women's Club (Park Ridge School for Girls, Clearbrook School for the Retarded), Des Plaines Juniorettes, a Girl Scout Leader, Chairman of the Acolyte program at the First United Methodist Church of Des Plaines and many other related activities.

I am deeply concerned about the lack of support for Place for People. The extensive work and effort by David Russell and his staff has been needed in Des Plaines for many years. Other people, besides myself, have tried to orient a good program but have lacked the support of the people who should mainly be concerned — THE PARENTS. It seems that as long as they can enjoy their lives, their children can fend for themselves. I can't go along with this — our children were never left alone until they were fifteen years of age — not because we didn't trust them — but if in the event of an accident or casualty there would be someone to take charge. Frankly, I wonder how many parents have a deep concern for the children they bring into the world.

This all brings us back to Place for People. Isn't it apparent that several sets of parents have found PFP worthwhile and spend at least one night a week (and more if necessary) to chaperone? I wonder how many parents with problem children have the intestinal fortitude to realize their mistakes and the related problems of their children and do something about it.

I for one, plus many others, recommend Place for People as a whole, secure and spiritual place for our neglected young people and anyone who might have a related problem.

Please support this worthwhile endeavor. As all of you know there are many problems confronting our world today, but I feel our young adults deserve our prime concern as they will be our future leaders.

Gun Editorial Was 'Nauseating'

I was born and raised in Arlington Heights and have enjoyed hunting, shooting skeet and trap and shooting a handgun ever since I was old enough to handle them and burnt a great deal of powder and hope to burn a lot more.

I have read many editions since H. C. Paddock had his little printing shop on Davis Street and printed at that time the Cook County Herald. Friday's editorial, "Handguns Must Go," and Capetini's "Let's Enforce Gun Control Laws" were nauseating. Tell me who Mikva and Stevenson are to tell us, we had a Dodd, too, and you know his record as well as I, we need not worry about him any longer. We have just lost a great man, J. Edgar Hoover, that knew more about guns than all the rest of us and Capetini you might read one of his books he has written and maybe you would not run off at the mouth like you do. Capetini — I don't understand why you were not on Hoover's staff, you don't say a damn thing about liquor and how it kills.

Mr. Editor you can cancel my subscription to the Herald as of today.

'Aghast' At Circus

I recently attended a benefit performance of Ringmaster Ned, Cookie the Clown and several other acts at Hersey High School in Mount Prospect. It was all a sheer delight for the children and parents as well, and for a good cause — "Mother of Twins Club." The only thing that disturbed me was the dramatic ending of the magician's act. The last trick started off with the girl assistant enclosed in a long box and then the inside set on fire for a few seconds. According to most acts of this type, I fully expected the woman to then appear showing no signs of harm. Unfortunately when they opened the box what did appear was a smoldering skeleton. My own son was very terrified, as were many others, and even adults were aghast.

It is my opinion that this last part was in very poor taste for little children. Although they did bring out the woman assistant at the complete end, it was difficult to explain it to a three or four year old.

Perhaps for future reference, acts could be screened so as to prevent upsetting small children with nightmares or misconceptions.

Red Trade Blasted

Week after week the North Vietnam Delegation at the Paris Peace Talks argue that there are no North Vietnamese troops in South Vietnam and the "American Imperialists" are the aggressors. This substantiates that the North Vietnamese communists always have and always will be blatant liars.

From an eyewitness account from a fellow Marine, my brother was killed by a North Vietnamese Army Regular firing a Russian-made 38 rifle at An Hoa Combat Base, Quang Nam Province, Republic of South Vietnam.

Tomorrow . . .

EDITORIAL: The U.S. Supreme Court's ruling that unanimous verdicts are not necessary in some cases is a backward step for justice.

My contempt for the silent majority boils over when our President is allowed to increase aid and trade with Russia and Red China — you STUPID Americans manufactured the machined tools that were sent to Russia to make the 38-calibre bullets. Angry? You bet I am. I am sick to death of communist sympathizers running rampant through our country destroying every bit of our traditional independence. You arrogant idiots wouldn't recognize the International Communist Conspiracy if Mao-Tse-tung, Chou En-Lai, Leonid Brezhnev and Richard Nixon hoisted the UN flag in your own living room and shot you dead — the same kind of dead your apathy has given our men in uniform. As Dante said, "The hottest places in hell are reserved for those, who, in a period of moral crisis, remain neutral."

Business Today

by LeROY POPE

NEW YORK (UPI) — The big question about Transpo 72, the huge and controversial show sponsored by the federal government and running through June 4 at a site near Dulles Airport at Washington, is not whether it will make money.

According to William Bird, the Kaiser Industries executive in charge of Transpo 72, the question is: Will it wake up American businessmen and public officials to the global importance of the transportation equipment industry?

"Particularly in aircraft products, dominance of the transportation equipment business in the free world has been a keystone of the American economy since World War II," Bird said, "but we could lose our leadership."

Already, Bird said, the American share of the $500 million Latin-American aircraft products market has dwindled from 86 per cent in 1963 to 64 per cent last year. Bird said the Latin countries are a leading market for good used airliners and cargo planes as well as for new aircraft. France and Britain are the rivals who have most cut in U.S. dominance of that market.

JAPAN AND THE Soviet Union also loom as formidable competitors.

With planes like the Boeing 747 and the McDonnell Douglas DC10, the United States still retains its paramount position in big passenger and cargo liners. The apparent commercial failure of the Anglo-French supersonic Concorde could keep the Americans on top for some time. But the Russians could prove big competitors in this field in years to come. So could the British and French.

"In the next 20 years, Europe alone probably will spend $500 billion on new aircraft and aircraft products," Bird said.

"As matters stand, it is doubtful if the U.S. industry can hope for half that market. The big purpose of Transpo 72 is to arouse a determination by our industry and our government to get at least half that market in the years ahead."

Bird said many hundreds of thousands of jobs for Americans are at stake in this endeavor.

Secondly, he said, Transpo 72 is aimed to spark the ultimate creation of a big market, both domestic and international, for innovative ground transportation — such things as the futuristic "people movers," small monorail or other radical type local transit systems, being displayed at the exposition.

BIRD CONCEDED that these are apt to attract far more attention from sightseers at the show than conventional aeronautical hardware that they do not already know, therefore the show is not likely to result in large instant sales like a general trade fair.

It is significant that 51 foreign nations are sending representatives of their transport ministries to the show, Bird said. "They are interested in many areas of American transportation technology, particularly the use of the computer to control ground and air traffic and in our progress so far in controlling air pollution caused by traffic."

Transpo 72 also is forcing the foreign visitors to endure some record traffic jams to get to it.

Guide Can Make Dealing With Government Easier

Contracting with the federal government is a big, involved affair with a large body of highly technical rules, requirements and regulations that must be strictly observed, says Commerce Clearing House (CCH).

Those handling contract problems and advising business dealing with the government must meet these demands as well as follow tightly defined procedures.

Problems touching on contract language, patent rights, allowable costs, copyrights, financing and payment principles and the use of government property and material are among those affecting the government contractor.

To assist those involved in the many problems encountered by the contractor in qualifying for, negotiating or otherwise entering into, and performing government contracts, CCH announces publication of 1972 Government Contract Guide.

Designed as a first approach to many of the problems involved in negotiating and performing public contracts, this Fourth Edition of the Guide explains the major areas in public contract work, including eligibility, bidding requirements, specifications, sources of information, labor rules and terminations.

Also explained are cost principles, policies regarding patents and copyrights as well as rules governing the use of government property.

Throughout the Guide, references lead to the current Armed Services Procurement Regulation and the Federal Procurement Regulations as well as rulings of the U.S. Comptroller General and pertinent decisions of the courts and the Boards of Contract Appeals.

References give further assistance in locating all-inclusive information contained in the continuing issues of the publisher's Government Contracts Reports.

A check list of required and permissible clauses for use in each type of contract is included, together with a description of the clause content and reference to its source.

'Penny-Wise' Insurance Can Cost You

by CARLTON SMITH

Millions of dollars are being wasted annually, or misspent, on health insurance policies that, as one critic put it, "provide about as much coverage as a size 10 polka-dot bikini on a body with a 48 waistline."

Policies that offer — usually at tempting low cost — to "fill in the gaps" or cover unreimbursed expenses have to be scrutinized carefully. While some such policies can be worthwhile, many either prove not to provide the coverage the buyer thought he was getting, or cover the wrong gaps.

The "gap filler" is frequently a misuse of insurance dollars because it buys penny protection while leaving the policy owner exposed to uncovered expenses of hundreds or thousands of dollars.

JOHN M.'s basic hospitalization coverage, for example, has a $50 deductible, and doesn't pay for such items as diagnostic X-rays. He has a policy advertised which, for a few dollars a year, will plug those holes, and it seems like a sensible protection against out-of-pocket expenses he'd just as soon not pay.

A few months later, sure enough, he's in the hospital. And his supplementary policy, just as advertised, covers $160 worth of these gaps. But after 60 days his basic coverage — he is now reminded — no longer pays his room charges, and a 10-week stay in the hospital leaves him with $850 of his bill uncovered.

Failure to cover the big potential expenses, while paying premiums on a "gap filler," is a classic case of being penny wise and pound foolish. What John M. needed, as supplementary coverage, was a major medical policy.

THAT WAS a case of covering the wrong gaps. The other risk a buyer of supplementary policies must be aware of is that the policy simply may not pay off — for a number of reasons.

One has to do with the "coordination of benefits" clause written into most basic policies, to prevent people from "investing" in numerous policies and making money on a hospital stay. You're in the hospital two weeks, and your basic policy covers all but $40 of the bill. You have also a supplementary "50-a-day" policy presumably good for $700 in benefits. Actually, it will cover only the $40 you're short — probably less than the premiums you've paid.

Supplementary policies may not pay for other reasons found in the fine print, one of the most common being the exclusion of "pre-existing conditions." Many "bargain" policies won't pay benefits for two years if you're hospitalized in connection with a condition that existed previously, even one you weren't aware of.

TWO PRECAUTIONS will generally enable you to avoid wasting money on supplementary policies that do little for you, or do the wrong thing.

First, make certain you know exactly what your basic medical-hospital coverage is. Read your policy or policies carefully, and get a clear picture of what your benefits are, when they begin, how long they continue. Determine whether there are any potential large uncovered expenses — for extended hospital stays or special care — that could be financially damaging.

Secondly, give the same careful study to any supplementary policy you're considering. Consider how it relates to your gaps, or uncovered expenses. Pay particular attention to waiting periods, restrictions and exclusions.

Insist on being provided with a sample policy for study. When a company declines to provide you with one, just assume there's something in the fine print they don't want you to know.

Married Stewardesses Get Their Wings Back

by GENIE CAMPBELL

It used to be easy to categorize an airline stewardess. You could be sure she fell within a strict weight class, a certain height class, had perfect vision and most of all... was single. It was required.

The hostess who said, "I do," automatically had her wings clipped.

But not anymore. A recent court ruling said, in fact, airlines were discriminating against women and could not penalize them for becoming a Mrs.

Females who had been unjustly grounded but had still not lost that real lust for flying, decided to pick up where they left off.

Mrs. Alan Lurie and Mrs. Mark Greer were like that. Former stewardesses for United Air Lines, they decided to re-apply.

UNITED ACCEPTED them, sent them through the training program and put them back to work.

Not only are Rosanne and Barbara married, but they are mothers, too. Barbara's daughter is in kindergarten and Mike, Rosanne's son is four years old.

"I flew one and a half years, then I got married and it was mandatory that I quit," said Mrs. Greer. "That was about eight and a half years ago." Mrs. Lurie was grounded for the same reason six years ago.

What made them decide to go back?

"I really enjoy flying," said Mrs. Lurie who lives in Arlington Heights. "It's a wonderful opportunity to travel. Next January my husband and I are going to Africa. I've been half way around the world and I'm going to see the other half."

"MY DAUGHTER will be in first grade next fall, and I had already decided that I wanted to get a job," said Mrs. Greer of Schaumburg. "Then this opened up and I love it. Wives lose something by being home every day. You get the housewife doldrums. Some women may be cut out for it. For them it's fantastic. Now I look forward to coming home because I have something to talk about. I'm happy and they're happy," she said in referring to her family.

Both husbands backed their wife's decision to return to their interrupted careers. Both are looking forward to the reduced travel rates for which they soon will also be eligible as mates.

OF COURSE, being gone over night and sometimes for a period of more than one day presents certain problems in the running of a household where a mother has always been on call.

"We have a full-time housekeeper that lives in," said Mrs. Greer. "We got her when I went into the training school because I couldn't possibly do all the housewife duties."

So far the most difficult and strenuous part, both women feel, was the training program. Although not required to stay overnight, they had to be at the United training center in Mount Prospect early each morning and stay very late at night.

"ACTUALLY I'M home now more this way than if I had another full-time job," said Mrs. Greer, referring to her scheduled flights and her days off.

Mrs. Lurie has not employed a housekeeper, but her mother has volunteered to babysit when she is away and her husband is not available.

Both Barbara and Rosanne feel they have been lucky to have had scheduled flights only to the West Coast, for it means more time at home between flights. At times, however, they will be put on reserve, which means being called up to fly anytime anywhere.

AS TO HER daughter's reaction, Mrs. Greer said, "At first Jamie didn't like me going, but now it's... what did you bring back for me this time, Mommie? In 10 to 15 years she will be gone and then where will I be?"

Neither woman has had any kind of second thoughts about returning to her former career.

"I would like to fly until I'm 65 but I know I won't," laughed Mrs. Greer. "But I'm not quitting again. When I feel too old to fly, I'd like to become a ground supervisor."

MRS. MARK GREER of Schaumburg, who returned to flying with United Air Lines, says goodbye to daughter Jamie before leaving for O'Hare Airport.

MRS. ALAN LURIE admitted she didn't feel as out of place as she first thought she would in returning to training school to pick up her former vocation, that of airline stewardess. Her husband and her mother look after Mark, 4, when she is out of town.

What Is Middle Age?

by KAY MARSH

Now that Senior Citizens Month is over, maybe we can do something about honoring the millions of us who are muddling along in middle age. The problem, of course, is in defining the term. To a teen, middle age begins at 30. In my opinion, 30 is virtually adolescent. My dictionary says that middle age is "sometimes considered as the years between 45 and 65, or thereabout." But "thereabout" can cover quite a bit of territory.

Some observers define the age in terms of clothes. A recent public relations ad, for instance, talks about "square old clients, with cuffs on their pants and laces in their shoes." A college friend says a middle-aged woman is one with a beehive hairdo topping her mink stole. (She admits, however, that she might feel differently if she happened to have a mink stole.)

Others define maturity financially. As someone once wrote, middle age is "remembering when you didn't need a lay-away plan to buy a roast for Sunday dinner."

BUT MIDDLE AGE involves more than clothes and money values. Perhaps you'd like to add your own favorite definitions to these that I've collected. Middle age is:

1. Anybody who's 10 years older than you are.
2. Saving enough money to invest in the stock market, then finding that you can't read the stock tables without a magnifying glass.
3. Wondering whatever happened to the Packard, DeSoto, Kaiser and Edsel. For that matter, whatever happened to running boards? And telephone operators?
4. Tipping an old-fashioned ten per cent. And feeling generous about it.
5. Remembering when you collected old pop bottles to take back to the store, not to find a solution to pollution, but to get together enough change to pay your way to the Saturday afternoon movie. Pardon me, picture show.
6. Expecting to spend five or ten cents at the five-and-ten cent store.
7. Having a doctor and a lawyer who are younger than you are. Or a boss.

8. Defining Women's Liberation in terms of whiter whites and brighter brights. Or maybe that new-fangled gadget, the dishwasher.

9. Learning to read with the Baby Ray books, instead of Dick and Jane or whatever the current primer is in the K-12 curriculum.

10. Paying as much for gift wrapping and greeting card as you used to for the gift.

11. Knowing all the verses to the hymns they sing at church, but not recognizing a single song in any Top Ten.

12. Expecting invitations, instead of announcements, to high school graduations.

13. Planning an October vacation, because you're less interested in where the action is than where the people aren't. Especially small and swarming school-age people.

14. Saying anything is "O.K.," "fine and dandy," or even "groovy." Though "peachy keen," surprisingly, is somehow back in style.

15. Sending your son to the barber to have his hair cut instead of styled. Or, for that matter, sending your son to the barber.

16. Buying wedding presents for friends' children (or grandchildren) who hardly seem old enough to cross the street, much less the seas of matrimony.

17. Finding that the withholding columns on your salary check exceed what used to be your total take-home pay.

18. Worrying more about where to park your car than how to pay for it.

19. Agreeing with whoever said that growing old isn't so bad when you consider the alternative.

20. Getting so used to getting up early that you can't sleep late. Even if you can.

21. Reading the obituary columns first.

22. Remembering where you were when you heard about Pearl Harbor. Or even remembering Pearl Harbor.

23. Preferring books or movies with a hero. And poetry that rhymes.

24. Owning a book of etiquette. Especially if you consult it now and then.

Finally, middle age is being married to a "square old husband, with cuffs on his pants and laces in his shoes." And being glad of it.

A House Walk In Long Grove

The Service League for Handicapped Children is hosting "A Walk in the Country" next Tuesday in Long Grove. Four homes in distinctly different motifs will be open for viewing from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Guests will stroll along the gently rolling hills and wooded landscape to enter each of the houses on the tour.

One is of Early American decor, featured some time ago in Better Homes and Gardens magazine and also "House of the Week" in the Chicago Tribune.

Another, of French Provincial architecture, will display accommodations for a large family with its five bedrooms and four baths. The owner's collection of crystal bells will also be shown.

A HOUSE BUILT around a hexagon with redwood decks surrounding it is an unusual one on the tour. This very modern six-sided structure has most of its furniture built in.

Fourth home to be viewed has a modern exterior but upon entering one immediately feels the atmosphere of "the old world." The decor is a blend of Mediterranean and traditional with antiques for added interest.

Tour tickets and information are available from Mrs. Charles Pipher, 438-7471, or Mrs. Jay Taylor, 259-4947. Arrangements can also be made for lunching at a nearby restaurant, with free shuttle bus service offered.

Proceeds from the tour go to the Will-ett Easter Seal Metropolitan Treatment Center which serves Chicago and suburbs.

The Homeline

Dear Dorothy: Many products like shampoo, soap, body powder and skin cream contain hexachlorophene. I've been reading and hearing there is danger in using this chemical. What's the score?

—Mrs. Chester Antos.

Using golf terms, the government is one up very early in the match. The Food and Drug Administration has asked for a panel of experts to review the problem. Meanwhile, it has instructed makers of antibacterial cleansers containing hexachlorophene to put a "caution" label on their products. The issue arose after some evidence indicated a toxic buildup with "abnormal use."

In December the FDA warned against total bathing with products containing HCP in 2 per cent to 3 per cent concentrations. There is no proof that average use causes any harm, but the step has been taken on what FDA Commissioner Dr. Charles Edwards calls "the only prudent course."

His highness insists on fresh orange juice. It isn't too difficult to meet this demand, but one has to look at the oranges carefully to see that rot hasn't started. A tiny brown ring around the stem end is the sign. This is one reason I won't buy sacked oranges. Yes, it's a nuisance to pick out each orange but more of a nuisance to find the last orange has spoiled the juice already squeezed.

Dear Dorothy: About to cook a vegetable for dinner, I was almost undone to find the water had been turned off. Then

I remembered the ice cubes in the refrigerator. Dinner went on as usual.

—Mrs. LaVern Line.

Dear Dorothy: What a problem when you have to dress a baby in good clothes when you are going out immediately after a feeding. A bib isn't much help and I was fussing about this when my mother-in-law suggested cutting a hole in the middle of a large old bath towel. Perfect solution for a squirming infant!

—Alice S.

Dear Dorothy: Thought you might be interested in another way to fix whipped cream so it will stay up. It comes from my German cookbook. This is not only good when you want to make a cake a day ahead but to use for a filling of a layer cake or roll. Soften 1 scant tsp. powdered unflavored gelatin in 1 tablespoon cold water, or in any liqueur you want to flavor the cream. Set over hot water until gelatin dissolves. Whip 1½ cups heavy cream, adding sugar, dissolved gelatin and a little more liqueur or flavoring as needed when cream begins to thicken. Chill until ready to serve or spread on cake or cake roll — and store in refrigerator until serving time.

—Marie Gardner.

Hats Off Salute To Officers

Using imaginative hats Mrs. Rudolph Schneider, vice president of Rolling Meadows Junior Woman's Club, led club members in a "hats off" salute to the retiring president, Mrs. Stanley Shearer, at Nordic Hills Country Club. The salute was held earlier this month at an installation banquet.

Mrs. Raymond Crouch, 7th District Junior Director, installed the incoming officers: Mrs. Rudolph Schneider, president; Mrs. Howard Wurster, first vice president; Mrs. Gregory Langlotz, recording secretary.

Special recognition awards were given to the officers and chairmen for their exceptional work during the past year. Perfect Attendance Certificates were presented to 11 members. Past presidents, Mrs. Alvin Weber, Mrs. Gordon Black and Mrs. Walter Sergot were among the guests.

THIS YEAR'S department chairmen are: Mrs. Howard Wurster, community achievement; Mrs. Jack Rief, ways and means; Mrs. Wayne Cabote, social and program; Mrs. William Billings, home and garden; Mrs. John Murray, public health and welfare; Mrs. John Rock, stamps; Mrs. Stanley Shearer, parliamentarian; Mrs. Edward Young, publicity. The second vice president, Mrs. Richard Schar, corresponding secretary, Mrs. Ernest Gyenes, and treasurer, Mrs. Thomas Hansen will continue another year in office.

Although the club year officially ended with the banquet, members worked on the Memorial Day float and have begun preparations for the annual couples' steak try to be held in June. Plans are also underway for the annual gas pump-ing day.

New Nature Trail For The Blind

A Bit Of Role Switching

Four years ago Johna Ann Papas served as Renee Seeling's maid of honor — wearing blue. On May 20 the girls switched roles with Johna the bride and Renee — in blue — serving as Johna's matron of honor.

Johna, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Papas, 1352 Dorothy Drive, Palatine, became the bride of Robert Allen Diderich, son of Mrs. Max Diderich, Roscoe, Ill., in St. Colette Church, Rolling Meadows. Robert and Johna both studied at Northern Illinois University, and Robert, a meteorologist, is stationed at White Sands, N.M. with the Army.

The couple honeymooned in the New Mexico mountains and since May 24 they have been making their home at the White Sand Missile Range, White Sands, New Mexico. Johna, a '68 graduate of Palatine High School, also studied at Harper College and Robert also studied at the University of Illinois and Rock Valley Junior College.

FOR THE 11 o'clock, double ring ceremony Johna chose a gown of white nylon and taffeta with flower appliques on the skirt, the bodice and the flounce cuffs of the puffed sleeves. Her cathedral veil was fastened to a cap of lace applique, and she carried a nosegay of white carnations and roses.

Renee's gown was in blue nylon and taffeta with white lace trim on the Empire bodice. Long sleeves and a cowl collar were other features of the gown. Wearing identical gowns but in pink, green and yellow, were the bridesmaids, all sisters of the groom, Sharon Greenfield, Merry Ann Diderich and Marcy Diderich. All carried flowers to match their gowns.

Garden Party Will Mark Birthday of Nurses Club

At a garden party Saturday evening Hoffman-Schaumburg Registered Nurses Club will be celebrating its 10th year anniversary. The party, to which village officials of both Hoffman Estates and Schaumburg have been invited, will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Stukas, Hoffman Estates. Also invited were past presidents of the club still residing in the area.

Membership in the club has more than doubled since the club's inception. Its purposes are three-fold: educational, philanthropic and social.

Educational goals are achieved at monthly meetings when doctors or representatives of related medical fields are guest speakers. The club also maintains a library listing of nursing schools and offers an annual scholarship. The club is a member of the Northwest Nurses Roundtable which stimulates projects such as measles vaccine clinics.

COMMUNITY SERVICE projects include a loan closet of medical equipment available free of charge to Schaumburg Township residents, sponsorship of medical careers clubs in Conant and Schaumburg High Schools, staffing first aid stations at community events and teaching first aid to civil defense, baby-sitting and scout classes; staffing TB mobile units, polio vaccine clinics and blood mobiles; adopting a mental patient at Dixon State School; and supports other clubs' food drives for the needy.

Club members also assist the Heart Association in its testing of seventh grade students for heart defects or rheumatic heart disease.

Socials include a couples' night of bowling and theater and an annual luncheon and fashion show set this year for Oct. 21.

The Lighter Side

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Some critics of the new Soviet-American strategic arms limitation treaty SALT are saying the pact has serious shortcomings.

That opinion is shared by Dr. Sidney Concaver, an internationally known authority on holes in the ground.

"There is no doubt the Soviets have a big lead in digging craters for missile installations," Concaver told me. "It would take us several years to catch up with them, pit-wise."

"Are you saying the United States has become the victim of an excavation gap?"

"Exactly!" Concaver replied. "They have badly outshuffled us in recent months."

He cited last week's warning by Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., that the Soviets were preparing to deploy ballistic missiles 25 times more powerful than any U.S. missiles.

JACKSON BASED his statement on 25 holes the Soviets have dug in the past year. He said the size of the holes indicated the Missiles to be placed in them could be at least 50 megatons.

I said, "It seems to me that this further points up the need for a treaty like the one President Nixon negotiated in Moscow. The agreement bans the building of more launching silos."

"Aha!" Concaver exclaimed.

"Bans the building of silos, yes. But the treaty doesn't say anything about not digging any more holes."

"You can't launch a missile from just a plain ol' pit," I pointed out.

"True," Concaver conceded.

"But hollowing out the cavity is the first step. Now suppose after the treaty has been ratified, the Soviets continue to gouge out these big gulches."

"THE NEXT HOLES might be large enough for 75 or even 100 megaton missiles. Do you think the United States could afford to sit idly by and let that threat to our security go unanswered? No indeed!

"We would have no choice but to shovel out some 100 megaton chasms ourselves. Then if the Soviets should every violate the treaty, we would not be hopelessly behind."

I said, "We already have enough trouble with strip mines. If we start perforating the countryside with 100 megaton apertures, won't it cause severe ecological problems, like maybe undermining Chicago?"

"Right! Which is why I say any strategic arms limitation treaty that doesn't ban burrowing isn't worth its salt."

I said, "Maybe we could use the Grand Canyon instead." "Shhhh! That's supposed to be a military secret."

Vet Home Finance Available

Veterans of World War II who never exercised their rights to a government-guaranteed loan for the purchase of a home still may qualify for this benefit, according to the Illinois State Bar Association (ISBA). Veterans of the Korean War and Vietnam conflicts also are eligible for the loan guarantee.

The ISBA said that in the case of World War II veterans, rights to a Veterans Administration guaranteed loan once were terminated but now have been reinstated. The VA will accept applications from World War II (and Korean War) veterans who meet the service requirement of 90 days consecutive active duty and who did not previously use this benefit. Post-Korean War veterans must serve 181 consecutive days of active duty to qualify.

The ISBA said the procedure for obtaining a VA loan guarantee usually is as follows:

1. The veteran contracts to buy a house, condominium apartment or similar residential unit. The ISBA noted an agreement to purchase when signed by the buyer becomes a binding legal contract and, for this reason, it is advisable to consult an attorney before signing such a document. Among other things, the contract should contain a clause that releases the buyer from the agreement and provides for the return of any earnest money if the buyer is unable to obtain the expected financing.

2—Once the veteran has a contract signed by himself and the seller, he makes arrangements for financing by a mortgage company, such as a savings and loan firm, bank or other lender. The present interest rate for a VA-guaranteed loan is 7 per cent. In many cases, eligible veterans are able to obtain 100 per cent financing, depending on income.

3—The mortgage lender will notify the Veterans Administration of the location of the property so that arrangements may be made for an appraisal. The appraiser inspects the property to determine its current reasonable value. This appraisal is completed and returned to the VA within 5 days. Meanwhile, the lender prepares a credit report on the buyer.

4—The appraisal and credit information is reviewed by the VA and if all is in order, the VA will issue a commitment to guarantee the loan in about 10 days.

How to hide the fact that you're away on vacation.

You could ask your next-door neighbor to come in and switch on a lamp. But that's tough on him if you live in the country. And if you live in the city, you may not even know your neighbor. Besides, who'll turn it off?

Install an electric timer instead. Even better, install several. By now an average burglar is wise to the lamp that goes on at dusk and goes off at bedtime. Especially if the performance is confined to one room and lasts two weeks. It will take him much longer to figure out the living room lamp and the TV or radio going on at dusk and off at 10:40. And the bathroom light switching on from 10:30 until 11:00. And the bedroom reading lamp from 11 until 11:20. And if the kitchen overhead switches on at 2 a.m. for 15 minutes, he'll never figure it out.

Added advantage: this tricky timing uses about the same amount of electricity as one steadily burning lamp.

And for extra area protection anytime, an electric eye to light up your yard automatically from dusk till dawn, so you can see everyone who approaches your home. Give your neighbor a break and just let him collect the mail and read your magazines.

July Draft Numbers Are Announced

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Men with lottery numbers 30 to 50 will be called up beginning in July, the Selective Service System reports.

The draft quota for July will be 7,200 men, a figure which draft officials said would rise to 9,000 in August. The calls for the rest of the year after August will average about 8,800 per month in order to meet the 50,000-man draft pool which Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird said would be needed this year.

Selective Service officials said no one could predict the highest lottery number likely to be called this year. They said it would be "substantially below" the No. 125 cutoff point reached last year when draft calls totaled 98,000.

No one was drafted during the first three months of this year but 15,000 men, with lottery numbers 1 through 35, are being called in the three-month period which will end June 30.

Last year the cutoff point was reached in June, and the year before it came in August.

AFTER THAT, the flood of deferred men with low lottery numbers who lost their deferments on graduating from college was sufficient to meet monthly draft calls without raising the ceiling number. However, since so few numbers have been called so far in 1972, this may not be true this year.

Furthermore, the Selective Service recently said it was planning to allow men to enlist in the National Guard or Reserves after receiving their induction notices. In the past, once a man had been sent his notice he could avoid the Army only by enlisting in another service for at least three years.

Officials said they had no idea how many men would take up this offer which would then require draft boards go through more numbers, to meet their quotas. The purpose of allowing entry in the Guard and Reserves is to give an additional inducement to men to join those groups, whose ranks have been sagging.

While the Selective Service has published its plans for the Guard and Reserve options, they are not expected to go into effect until the end of June.

'Tune' Tires To Save Time For Summer Fun

Motorists' chances of truly enjoying the days of summer are a lot better if they bone up on warm weather tire care, the Tire Industry Safety Council advises.

The council offers these maintenance and safety tips to drivers preparing for summer vacation trips or, traditionally, just more time on the open road:

- Make sure you have enough tread on your tires to last on long trips. If you're near the minimum safe tread depth of 1/16 inch in two or more grooves you may want to make replacements before you take off for isolated areas.
- If you buy any new tires remember the law requires the seller to register them if they were made after May 22, 1971. In the unlikely event a recall is necessary because of possible safety defects the manufacturer will notify you directly.
- Check for proper inflation when tires are "cold," before starting out. Follow the car manufacturer's recommendations in your owner's manual, or posted in the glove compartment or affixed to a door pillar. Add up to four pounds of air per tire for long periods of highway driving at high speeds, but never exceed the maximum pounds per square inch (example: 32 p.s.i. max.) marked on the sidewalls.

- Use your own air pressure gauge if possible. Studies have shown station air towers are often inaccurate up to plus or minus 4 pounds per square inch.
- Vacation trips often mean heavy loads. Make sure the weight is distributed as evenly as possible, including weight in any towed vehicle. Check your owner's manual or a tire dealer for the maximum load limits of your tires.
- Driving on snow tires for any prolonged period in warm weather is poor economy. Abnormally high heat buildup in these thicker tires can wear down the tread faster than in regular tires. It may also cause sudden disablement.

- When the rain comes, beware of skidding on "summer ice." Water mixes with oil and gas films already on the road to form a slick surface. The risk of losing control is 5 to 10 times more likely on wet pavement.
- Check front-end alignment frequently, especially if you notice uneven tread wear or "pulling" to one side while driving. Back roads or a few solid bumps on any surface can throw alignment out, even if it was recently adjusted.
- Check for debris such as stones and glass embedded in the tread and in the grooves before starting out.
- Rotate your tires according to the recommendations in the owner's manual. If you notice abnormal tread wear or seem to be getting a bad ride, this is a good time to have your tires balanced.
- In any case, check your tires for proper inflation, cuts or other damage at least once a month in warm weather.

Parent Workshop Slated

Parents who find it difficult to understand their teenagers will have an opportunity to share their experiences and to receive professional counseling in a June 7 workshop at Harper College in Palatine.

Gary Rankin, director of Harper College Community Counseling Center, will coordinate the workshop titled "Phenomenon of Adolescence." The session will run from 7:30 to 10 p.m. on the college campus at Algonquin and Roselle roads.

Leaders for the workshop will be Mrs. Rose Wheeler and Dr. Albert W. Lang of the Northwest Mental Health Center, Arlington Heights.

The objective of the workshop is to discuss alternatives that can be used to modify conflicts that are experienced by the adult and teenager in day-to-day living.

Employers Feted

Twenty-eight students in the distributive education and office occupations classes at the Dist. 214 Prospect High School recently hosted a luncheon for their employers.

The students have been working half-days throughout the school year.

'72 A Great Year—For Flea Bites

by DAVE HENDIN
NEW YORK — Consider the flea. If you have a dog or cat, you probably already have.

The flea is a pest, a parasite, a blood-sucker. It is a circus performer, mass murderer and a tormenter of animals.

More simply, thought the flea is an insect, and a tiny one at that.

Ctenocephalides canis is the dog flea, ctenocephalides felis is the cat flea, and so on down the line through almost every mammal. Each has a flea of his own.

Many of the fleas are named for the kind of animals upon which they were first found. Thus the cat flea is not found exclusively on cats, in fact they are probably most common on dogs. Human fleas, too, are becoming increasingly common on dogs, according to one of the world's foremost authorities on the flea, Dr. Grover Cloyd.

Indeed, while fleas most commonly make pests of themselves on family pets, they can bother the family, too. "Fleas that might get on people produce irritation due to frequent bites and allergic rashes can occur. Flea bites are often mistaken for chiggers or mosquitoes," says Dr. Cloyd, director of veterinary medicine for the A. H. Robins Co.

ON DOGS AND CATS fleas can cause more problems; they are highly irritating, the itching may induce self-mutilation by the animal, allergic rashes can occur and fleas carry diseases such as the dog and cat tapeworm.

In fact, the bubonic plague, or Black Death, rampant in Europe for three centuries — killing hundreds of thousands of people — was caused by fleas. The roof rats, then predominant in Europe, roamed the atticks and roofs. When the rats died their fleas sought meals of blood and jumped to people, thus spreading the disease from the dead rats.

Fleas, which neither walk nor fly, but jump, spend only a very short time on their host animal, hopping on about 10 per cent of the time to copulate and snatch a free meal of nourishing blood. If the family goes on vacation, and the family dog is boarded for a few weeks, many fleas are bound to be hanging out in the rug, getting hungrier by the day.

WHEN THE FAMILY comes home the fleas will jump on the nearest living thing for a feast. If that living thing is you, you have fleas.

Flea populations tend to run in two-year cycles, Dr. Cloyd says, and since last year we had a moist, warm Indian summer — "great for fleas" — we're in for lots of flea bites this year.

How can fleas be controlled? In the past it has always been a difficult task since they live both on and off the animal.

One early control method was to dip the affected animal into a mixture containing pine tar derivatives. This was highly irritating to the animal, "but not too tough on the flea," Dr. Cloyd says.

Then came the soaps, baths, powders and sprays.

"The trouble with these things was that there were rather fleeting in their effect. You had to apply them every few days. They didn't keep the pressure on the fleas," Dr. Cloyd says.

In other words, the Virginia veterinarian adds, "If you want to starve a dog in the meathouse, you can't take the muzzie off overnight."

Of course the entire house could be fumigated to eliminate fleas, but this is the hard way since dogs (and cats) — walking flea collectors that they are — will bring some more home.

"The best way to do it," Dr. Cloyd says, "is to let the dog be his own exterminator." This is just what is accomplished by the flea collar, which Dr. Cloyd helped to develop.

The plastic collars, made by Robins Co., are impregnated with the pesticide DDVP, trademarked Vapona. It is the same chemical used in the controversial Shell No-Pest Strip, but the strip has 10 times more gas generating power than the collars.

FLEA COLLARS work so well on dogs and cats because the fleas must have moisture to drink every day. They get this from the animal's mouth, nose or eyes, and they must get to these places via the neck, thus passing the collar which is lethal to them.

DDVP is not a persistent pesticide, rather it is easily broken up to harmless components in water. Kevin Shea, scientific director of the Committee for Environmental Information in St. Louis — whose "Environment" magazine blasted the No-Pest Strip a year or so ago — says the collars seem to be safe because of the tiny amounts of the pesticide they contain and the fact that the dog is always in motion, keeping the vapors from building up.

"Of all the ways to handle fleas this is as good as any," says Shea, himself a trained insect specialist.

The major problem with flea collars would arise in the rare cases where a dog or child who comes in contact with them is allergic to either the plastic or the DDVP, just as some people are allergic to hair spray or nail polish. If this is the case, of course, alternate flea controls must be used.

One question that logically arises is why does it seem as if only domestic dogs and cats have flea problems?

The answer is that in the wild, dogs, cats and other species seldom live in concentrated populations as they do in domestic situations.

"WHEN MAN REMOVES an animal from its natural environment and imposes upon it the artificial conditions of domestication, he also inadvertently imposes the opportunity for parasites, both external and internal, to attack this animal," Dr. Cloyd explains.

In nature, the flea as a parasite joins other parasites in placing the burden upon booming canine and feline populations and thus controlling populations through biological means. In the home, however, the flea is a nuisance we can do without.

(Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

THEY SHALL NOT pass in the idea of the flea collar Dr. Grover Cloyd helped develop. The collar slowly releases tiny amounts of pesticide, killing fleas passing over or under to reach the moisture sources on the dog's head.

Win At Bridge

by Oswald and James Jacoby

South hadn't even gotten around to sorting his tremendous hand when he heard West open with four hearts. He had it sorted by the time North and East had passed, but it was quite a while before he decided what to bid. Eventually he settled for a six-spade call.

West opened a heart as one would expect and South looked over dummy happily. It would be a cinch to ruff that heart lead; draw trumps; take his ace and king of diamonds; enter dummy with the 10 of trumps; discard two clubs on the good diamonds and try the club finesse for seven.

All this looked easy but nevertheless South was careful. He ruffed the eight-spot, not the five.

Then he played his ace of trumps and there was East with all three trumps and there was South with need to reach dummy. He cashed his ace and king of diamonds, led the nine of spades and overtook with dummy's 10.

East could do no better than to put on the jack and return the suit. This let South in dummy with the six spot. He discarded two clubs on the high diamonds and tried the club finesse. It worked and the slam came in.

Look what would have happened to South if he had ruffed that first heart with that little five of spades. When he found out about the bad trump break he could still lead the nine of trumps and cover with dummy's 10 but East could win and lead the suit back and three would be no entry. If South played the six on the nine East could simply refuse to take his jack of spades. He would lose the trump trick but he would collect at least two tricks in clubs.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

California TV Drives Cost Much

by CARL INGRAM

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A crippled World War II bomber crash-lands safely in Yugoslavia. It was George McGovern's — or at least that is the impression left with California television viewers.

The scene is part of a carefully produced half-hour commercial prepared by McGovern's presidential campaign organization for a television advertising blitz in the final week before next Tuesday's California Democratic primary.

The "biographical" film, produced by Charles Guggenheim of Washington, is one of two such 30-minute commercials put together especially for the California primary. The second is a question-and-answer session, man-in-the-street style.

Both McGovern and his chief rival for the nomination, Sen. Hubert Humphrey, have reserved expensive blocs of broadcast time to help sway Democratic voters. At stake are 271 convention delegates in the nation's biggest winner-take-all primary.

Campaign aides to McGovern say the South Dakota senator intends to spend $463,000 for media advertising in California, the sum major Democratic candidates have agreed not to exceed.

Humphrey strategists report, meantime, that he hoped to spend $325,000 for broadcast advertising and would like to put on a telethon if he can raise the money. His commercials pledge jobs for the unemployed.

Earlier, both candidates considered splitting the cost of a series of televised debates at $15,000 per debate, but the three networks offered them free time on national shows and they accepted.

The McGovern "biographical" advertisement, which draws heavily on film footage of the late President John F. Kennedy and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, concludes with an appeal by actor Paul Newman for campaign contributions.

During World War II, McGovern piloted B24 bombers in Europe and made a crash landing in Yugoslavia after an engine was disabled. He was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross.

The crash scene is actual World War II film footage although the airplane is not the one McGovern piloted. Aides said they believed the film footage was obtained from film archives.

School Environment Plan Being Written

Superintendent of Public Instruction Michael J. Bakalis has appointed a citizens task force to write a state plan governing environmental education in Illinois schools.

Creation of the 30-member group, to be known officially as the Superintendent's Task Force on Environmental Education, is a followup to a series of hearings conducted earlier this year to obtain opinions from the general public. The planning project is being supervised by the Environmental Education Unit in Bakalis' office.

The plan is expected to be complete by August and fully implemented by the 1973-74 school year.

Injuries Hurt Cardinals In Spotty Diamond Season

by PAUL LOGAN

The high school baseball season is too short to afford any injured or sick athletes. Only a few sidelined stars can cost a school a conference title.

Arlington's team suffered such a fate shortly after winning its seventh game in eight tries. These names landed on the list in rapid succession:

• Jim Hopkins — out for the season.

• Russ Kirchhoff — out for the season.
• Dick Kolari — out for three league games.

"Things looked good," said Arlington coach Fran Somers prior to the casualty list. His team had just ripped Hersey, the eventual Mid-Suburban League champion, 13-0. The Cards were the team to beat at that point. Then, one by one, Somers' stars dropped out of the lineup. "Kolari was out three conference games and he hit .394 in the conference," recalled Somers. "Kirchhoff was probably as good a catcher as there was in the league. He was sick long before he gave it up . . . three weeks prior to that. He never was right. And Hopkins . . . when you lose your ace pitcher who gave up just one earned run in three games, that kind of tells it right there. The whole season stemmed on three guys being out."

Without this trio's assistance, Arlington plummeted to a 10-8 overall record and finished two games out of first place in the North Division.

"I thought we had a good ball club," said Somers, "but we were kind of spotty. Good pitching shut us off. I think our defense killed us all year."

Finishing the season by committing nine errors would make any coach get a little down on his team's defense. That's what happened when the Cards lost to Glenbrook South. This showing and the 9-1 loss to Hersey had to be two of the low points of the up-and-down campaign. However, that first game with the Huskies was one of the high points. And Rolling Meadows probably took awhile to recover from 11-1 and 13-3 thumpings by the Cards.

Leading the team was Kolari, unanimous all-conference third baseman. Although he only played in 10 league games, this senior hammered out 13 hits, just one behind the team leader. Kolari was the fourth best hitter in the MSL, just 23 points off the top hitter.

Dave Kubik not only led Arlington in hits (14), he also was tops in runs batted in (11), doubles (3) and homers (2). He shared league honors in the RBI category and was named to the all-star outfield. Kubik, only a junior, batted .341.

Hopkins compiled a 0.33 earned run average while rolling to a 3-0 record which shared top honors in the league. This senior was also an all-conference selection.

The last all-league player was Jim Locascio. This veteran senior shortstop and part-time pitcher batted .308.

Somers will have his entire outfield returning next season in Kubik, John Dillon and Bob Harth. The latter was a fine leadoff man for Arlington. He scored 14 runs and stole seven bases, the most stolen by a Cardinal in many years.

Other returning juniors will be Wayne Geyer, Dan Cunningham, Greg Hauptly and Dave Sherrow.

Paddock Patrol

by Jim Cook, TURF EDITOR

Da, da, da, da-da-da-da, da-da-da-da, da-da-da-da, Da, da, da, da-da-da-da, da-da-da-da.

The blaring trumpets are expected to pierce the dead of fall, winter and spring this afternoon as the call to the post resumes at Arlington Park at 2 p.m.

The combined 77-day Arlington-Washington meeting marks the 46th inaugural that originated on Oct. 13, 1927 by track builder H. D. Brown. My, how horseracing's image has changed since then.

In fact, the word "horseracing" itself was taboo among many cultures of our society. Horseracing meant gambling which automatically carried the adjectives of thoughtless, careless and reckless.

The discovery of an undiscarded parimutuel ticket in your suitcase pocket by a member of the family sometimes doomed your trust, honesty and reliability. You were outlawed as an evildoer, a transgressor, an irreconcilable fool.

Today's more sophisticated society has readily accepted horseracing for its entertainment value. There are now tens of millions of "irreconcilable fools" who "sinfully" wager over three billion dollars.

The sport is ranked as the largest spectator drawing card in America. The reason — the incentive of financial gain, obviously — but even more so, the enchantment of sheer, unadulterated excitement that only these magnificent four-legged equines can provide.

Today's opening card will feature the fourth running of the $15,000 added Post and Paddock Handicap to be contested over Arlington's five and one-half furlong turf course. Twenty-three horses have been nominated for the event which has produced Minoma's Bea, Chief Sun Dance and Michigan City, respectively, into the winner's circle, during its first three years running.

The race has been provisioned for three-year-olds and upward and should include perennial frontrunners Big Jim Waters and Cangirod, Crying For More and Hemphens Song, winner of five of eight starts of the year, Strong Bid and Troubled Area, a winner its last three times out.

A total of 35 members of the handicap ranks, including such well-known tape-breakers as Forum, Felonious, List, Intensive, Wing Out, Royal Harmony, Red Bayou and Joe Gaylord, have been nominated for the third running of the $50,000 added Governor's Cup Handicap Saturday.

The field will also include several of the sprinters from the Post and Paddock, but this time, will be challenging the one-mile turf course.

In what could hardly be called a "weight-watcher's" diet, how's this for one day's menu for the approximately 2100 horses stabled at Arlington?

2,000 bales of straw
200 bags (100 lbs.) oats
100 gallons molasses

1000 bales of hay
100 bags (50 lbs.) sweet feed
500 lbs. mud mix
plus various quantities of salt, bran and vitamins.

The horses don't have to worry about feed sticking to the roofs of their mouths, either. The Arlington Race Track uses approximately one million gallons of water each day!

About one-half of this total is used during the daily watering of the Main track and the Training track. The horses are "rationed" about 200,000 gallons for drinking purposes while the remaining 300,000 gallons or so are used for the washing of horses and miscellaneous use by stable area personnel.

Major trainers on the ground for the opener include Arnold Winick (Hold Your Peace) with 70 horses, the Grissom brothers, Howard Teshar (Governor Max), David Vance, Lou Goldfine, Bill Resseguet, Tom Kelley, Joe Bollero and perennial spring leader Richard Hazelton.

Goldfine grew up in Chicago and got his "start" in the racing business at age 12 while wagering quarters with his classmates at Arlington Park. During his scholastic activities, Goldfine studied as an apprentice pharmacist, working at the family drug store at the soda counter and delivering prescriptions.

When it came time for college, Goldfine turned down a baseball scholarship in favor of a pre-pharmacy program. After graduation, he returned to the family chain of drug stores, but quickly made the transition back into racing.

He's enjoyed varied success at the game and has the credits of such top-flight thoroughbreds as Barely Once and Barely Even on his record. He'll be training a total of 40 candidates for this year's campaign.

Members of the jockey colony on hand already include veterans Carlos Marquez, Craig Perret, Ray Broussard, Phil Rubico, Jeff Anderson, Earlie Fires, Dave Whited and Eddie Arroyo.

The extremely popular Railbird Club will meet every Saturday morning from 8 to 10 under the direction of Karen Christensen. The club offers interviews with racing personalities, views of the horses working out, and tours of the barn area where members "meet the horses." There is no charge and milk and donuts are served to children in attendance.

For those seeking to make a million overnight, the Trifecta form of betting that will be employed at Arlington Park this summer might give them a powerful initial boost.

In Trifecta wagering, the bettor is required to pick the 1-2-3 finishers in the ninth race in exact order. Hazel Park in Detroit, having already adopted this latest form, has paid winners as much as $40,000. The Trifecta can be played in denominations $3 or $10.

STRIDING EASILY at this stage of the state two mile run Saturday in Charleston are four Herald area qualifiers, headed by Mark Nugent of Fremd. Also moving at a steady pace are Gary Marshak and Rick Phalen of Maine East, behind Nugent, and Gary Les of Notre Dame, right. Nugent was the top area finisher in the two mile with an eighth.

Saxons' Baseball Program 'On The Way' Says Coach

by KEITH REINHARD

Roy Hascup has three good reasons why he won't soon be forgetting the 1972 prep baseball season.

For one, the Schaumburg mentor will remember it as the first year his team competed in the Mid-Suburban League. For another, it was the first campaign for the Saxons as a full four-class school and his first opportunity to direct the squad with a complete complement of seniors on it.

Mostly though, Hascup will remember it as the year the home run shrank to a double and the MSL pennant slipped away.

The Saxons finished with a 6-4 record in their South Division of the conference

as it was, technically good enough to put them in a tie for second place a half game off Forest View's championship pace.

And overall Schaumburg was 9-0 for the season. Not world shattering, but definitely respectable for a team exposed to a full season of varsity competition and conference play for the very first time.

But had it not been for a quirk of fate — a judgment call that worked against them — Hascup's outfit would have finished on the winner's side of the ledger at 10-8, been 7-3 in divisional play and who knows . . . possibly champions of the Mid-Suburban Conference.

"I'm not perturbed about it anymore," sighed Hascup of the fateful situation, which occurred at Elk Grove early in the season. "It cost us, no doubt, but the umpire felt at the time he was making the right call and he can't be blamed for a situation not of his own making."

The situation was a contest officiated over by only one ump when two are normally required and a long poke by Steve Hull that the official from his post behind the plate, had a poor vantage point to rule upon.

He had to make some call however, and it went against the Saxons. While the ball had easily cleared the fence in left center, it was ruled a ground rule double and the play turned out to be decisive in the game and the result of the game turned out to be decisive in the divisional title chase.

After seven innings in the Elk Grove contest there was no score but the Grenadiers pushed across a tally in the eighth to win. Later in the year the Grove did a more thorough job of handling the Saxons, 8-2, and with that setback Schaumburg saw Forest View slip in past them to claim top honors in the South by half a game.

"We were still satisfied with the season in general," Hascup summarized. "Given the fact that our players had to overcome a number of adversities this year, I felt they did a commendable job."

By adversities Hascup referred to the fact that Schaumburg commenced the season not only without a field to play on, but without a batting cage as well. Complicated by the inclement weather that plagued all teams in the area this spring, the Saxons jumped into action without nearly the preparation their coach felt was required.

"For me, the high point of our season was our second victory over Forest View. It was a must game at the time since we were still in contention and the players responded like champions."

Hascup added, however, that for his charges the season's peak was reached at Conant a few games earlier when Schaumburg polished off the Cougars in overtime with a five-run explosion in the tenth inning. "Conant is our big rivalry to begin with but our youngsters were even more pleased about it because they got the best of a couple of fine pitchers in (Chet) Pudlosky and (Bill) Arkus."

The Saxon pilot chuckled as he went on to say, "The Herald helped us out this season too through a survey it ran before the conference season began picking the

Sportsman's Notebook

by Bob Holiday

Bob Lang talks about a "dropoff" the way Julia Child talks about her chopping board, in fact the similarity between Lang the fishing expert and Child the French chef continues in other fields. Each speaks a language the inexpert can understand and learn from. And they both have nothing but disdain for malpractice in their respective crafts.

Lang has finally found a way to do what most good anglers dream some day of doing . . . finding a way to make a living in the business of fishing.

Bob Lang actually joined the ranks of the unemployed, a craft union to which most writers also aspire some three years ago when he began building and selling the now-famous and still-productive Raider single-spin bass lure.

The business eventually outgrew the kitchen of his Ingleside home and today it is housed in different quarters on the shore of Lake Marie, where Lang has established the Bob Lang Fishing Center.

Fishermen apparently approve of Lang's philosophy, for they have made his Fishing Center an unofficial "headquarters" since its opening this spring. Part of the reason for this is the fact that Lang's team entry in the recent Sport Fishing Unlimited Tournament in early May finished several lengths in front of the second place team to draw the $1,000 first prize.

Since Lang's team consisted of himself, plus experts Harold Smiley, Joe Wascow and Gene Wasserberg, visiting fishermen are thinking in the right direction when they hang around Lang's for fish information . . . because Wascow, Smiley, and Wasserberg also hang around the place.

The fishing Center has the things that are important to the fisherman, of course, boat rentals ($3.75 per day of Starcraft 14-footers), motor rentals, lures, fishing tackle, live bait and good food. And it also has the idea that the more you can teach your fisherman customer, the more often he'll return and become a better customer.

In short, at the Fishing Center, the word is out . . . it is never a secret where the fish are, or what they are doing; nor is what other fishermen are doing to catch fish sacred information. Lang, his wife and offspring who help operate the place, are real "loose lips" when it comes to fishing information.

For example, Lang quotes: In Lake Marie (where the Fishing Center is located), and in Channel and Catherine in the adjacent Chain of Lakes, the large mouth bass are just finishing up on the spawning beds and will be moving back into the deeper water in the coming week. Meanwhile, bass fishermen should be working the shorelines with small Raider spinner lures, plastic worms and live nite crawlers.

In a week or so, the bass will be moving back out to the drop-offs in 5 to 8 feet of water where you will be casting the same lures, except fishing them deeper . . . once you locate the drop-offs.

Crappies in the Chain of Lakes are still biting, their favorite seems to be the "Yummie" jig, dressed with a minnow. The difference between the boats that are catching crappies and the ones that are simply minding bobbers is this: Make sure the minnow is lively and keep him active by twitching the bobber, let the water calm as the hook swings, and then twitch it again. You won't get many fish just starting at the bobber. Weed worms on the tiny "Yummie" jig are also working well.

The crappies, like the bass, will likely be moving out to deeper, six to eight foot waters, in a week or so and will be a little more difficult to catch.

The bluegills are moving into the shorelines, and as always, they are a sucker for a redworm. Just as it is with crappies, fish the hook about 18 to 24 inches below the bobber and keep it active. And use a light three or four pound leader.

Northern Pike in the Chain of Lakes are just starting to pick up. The first anglers to find them consistently have been the Spoonpluggers, trolling the number 250 Spoonplug at five to seven feet, just ticking the underwater humps. Spoonplugs are best in the green, yellow or plain yellow. (Copper on cloudy days.)

Striper fishing is a little slow, and walleyes are spotty, but big when taken. Lang reported seeing three five pound walleyes this week alone and all three were taken on a trolled Lindy Rig with a live nite crawler in less than three feet of water. (I don't know what they are doing there either, but they're there.)

The bad news of the Chain, of course, is that the carp are heavy in the shallows now and stirring up the beds.

Lang's Fishing Center is open from dawn to dark during the week and is open from Friday mornings around the clock, 24 hours a day, over the weekends and holidays.

Another innovation of the Bob Lang Fishing Center is the combination guide service and instruction trips. Lang said: "We take our customers on a one day fishing trip, but we aren't simply guides who take them to a hot-spot. We explain exactly what we're doing, where we're going and why. Our hope is that after one day in the Fleet Headquarters guide boat, the customer can catch fish strictly on his own, merely checking with us once in a while to find out what the latest information is."

Lang also reported that Spooning expert Terry O'Malley is available at the Fishing Center for Spoonplug structure fishing trips.

Information on what's happening is free anytime and you simply pick up the phone and dial 395-0112. Or drop by for firsthand information and supplies.

You reach Bob Lang's Fishing Center by driving on route 173 west of Antioch two miles . . . turn left (south) at Locust Avenue and follow the signs to the lake front.

Brawley All-League

Jack Brawley, a junior at Saint Mary's College, Winona, Minnesota, has been named to the 1971-72 All-Minnesota Inter-collegiate Athletic Conference baseball team. Utility man on the team, Brawley, played in all 14 loop games, tallying a .391 batting average, scoring 14 runs, getting 18 hits, and driving in seven runs. Saint Mary's College finished the season with a 12-2 record in MIAC play, sharing the first place crown with College of Saint Thomas.

Brawley is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Brawley, 1512 N. Emerson Street, Mount Prospect.

Day, Leja Help NMSC

Area products Scott Day (Wheeling) and Bob Leja (Hersey) did much to contribute to a fine baseball season for Northeast Missouri State College.

Day, a sophomore, led the squad in hits (22), runs scored (15), at-bats (72) and walks (14) while having the second-highest batting average, .306. He struck out only six times and was third in total bases with 27. Day is a former Wheeling High School and American Legion star.

Leja, in only his freshman campaign, posted a 2-0 pitching record with a 2.84 earned-run average for 19 innings. He capped the Bulldogs' season with a four-hit, 2-1 decision over Parsons of Iowa.

Northeast finished with a 14-7 record and second in its league.

Palatine Men Progress

A pair of Palatine High School track products have been showing their talent in the college ranks.

Mark Visk, who was the state champion in the two-mile run in 1969 with an area record time of 9:06.0, has run a 4:10.9 mile and 14:15.9 three-mile at the University of Missouri.

Guy Zajonc, who also placed in the state meet two years ago, took second place in the pole vault with 15-0 for Southern Illinois U. in the recent Mid-western Conference meet at Muncie, Ind.

Stitt A Captain

Craig Stitt, Rolling Meadows, was elected a quad-captain on the Augustana

Jack Brawley

College track team for the 1973 season at the Vikings' annual all-sports banquet.

A junior distance runner, Stitt had earlier this year been chosen a captain on Augustana's cross country team for next season. He additionally earned his third varsity track letter.

Stitt was one of Augie's top milers this past season which saw the Vikings win their fifth College Conference of Illinois and Wisconsin championship in the past six years. He ran the first leg of the Vikings' four mile relay team which set a new school record of 17:17.4.

Stitt is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Dean W. Stitt, 2098 Adams St., Rolling Meadows, and was graduated from William Fremd High School.

PREVENTING THE OUTSIDE LOOP

WHEN A PLAYER MOVES HIS HIPS LATERALLY ON THE BACKSWING, INSTEAD OF JUST TURNING THEM, HE TENDS TO 'SPIN' ON HIS RIGHT HIP AS THE DOWNSWING STARTS... FAILING TO RETURN HIS WEIGHT TO THE LEFT AND, THUS, CREATING AN OUTSIDE LOOP.

Beckert Baseball Day Camps Slated In Area

A special camp to help boys develop and improve their baseball ability will be conducted this summer in the area by Glenn Beckert, the Chicago Cubs' all-star second baseman.

The Glenn Beckert Baseball Day Camps will be held at the following locations:

St. Theresa School, 445 N. Benton, Palatine, under the direction of coach Ken Schreiner.

Keller Jr. High School, 804 W. Bode, Schaumburg, under the direction of coach Jim Humay.

Wheeling Athletic Association, 181 W. Dundee, Wheeling, under the direction of coach Don Rabeor.

The camp begins June 12 and will continue with two-week sessions through August 25. All boys, 8 and up, are eligible to enroll.

A division of Sports Stars of Tomorrow, the camp is designed to supplement community junior baseball programs, according to Beckert. The same instructional methods used at the famed Mickey Owen Baseball School in Miller, Mo. will be featured, he added.

Concentrated lessons and supervised practice on key fundamentals and techniques of hitting, fielding, throwing and base running will be emphasized, said Beckert.

Tuition for each two-week, 20-hour course is $35. More information can be obtained by writing to Glenn Beckert Baseball Day Camp, 4040 W. Lawrence Ave., Chicago, Ill. 60630.

finishes for all the teams in the league. Someone picked us for first and I would mention this to the players pointing out that we should try to defend their confidence in us."

He continued: "We were also picked to finish last by someone and I'd tell the players that their own pride should dictate that this estimation be proved false. I think that story might have helped us win at least a couple of games this season."

In summing up the campaign Hascup pointed out, "The kids gave 100 per cent on the field all year and that was the most important thing. I didn't particularly feel our hitting was as strong as I thought it would be but we were able to compensate in other ways."

Individually the coach offered a lot of praise to everyone, singling out the efforts of a pair of youngsters who gained all-conference attention. One was left-handed senior twirler Ken Gast, who Hascup rated as an excellent control pitcher and one of the most dependable performers around.

The other was the slighted Hull, who cracked three other homers that did count, slammed out nine extra base hits all told, was one of the top RBI men in the area overall with 17 and easily posted the top batting averages on the team. "He made a tremendous improvement this season, developing into a very productive hitter."

Hascup also was happy with the lower level program at Schaumburg and the efforts of coaches John Stiefvater, Dick Stephens and Don D'Antonio in conducting their own successful campaigns and molding some potential stars for the future. "We're just getting started here," the varsity helmsman concluded, "But I

Rambo Reaches Finals But Fails To Place

Harper College's track team sent three performers to the National Junior College meet in Mesa, Ariz. over the weekend.

One of the three, pole vaulter Tom Rambo, made it as far as the finals, being only the second athlete in the three-year history of Harper track to get that far. The others, hurdler Tom Mason and discus thrower Dave Ohman, were two of six Hawks who have competed in the National meet in those three years.

Rambo came up with his best vault yet, 14-6, in the qualifying session to distinguish himself as one of the 12 best. But he received a bad break when his pole broke just before the finals began.

Coach Bob Nolan said, "Tom was looking real good in warmups when his pole broke. That had to shake him up a little and then he had trouble with the first height."

Mason ran :15.3 in the high hurdles but did not qualify for the finals. As Nolan said, "He was in extremely fast company. There was one guy, Dave North of Miami, who ran :13.5 in the highs and that's Big Ten caliber."

Ohman was not able to make the finals either, throwing the discus just under 140 feet.

Some 70 schools participated in the big meet. Essex County (New Jersey) won with 42 points, Seminole (Fla.) was second with 36 and the hosting Mesa, Ariz. school was third with 35.

Mason, a sophomore, will be leaving Harper but Rambo and Ohman are only freshmen and hopefully will be back next year when the meet is held in a suburb of Houston, Tex.

Weather Aids Union Golfers

Fine weather, long drives, accurate approach shots and improved putting marked last week's play in Union Oil Men's Golf play at Palatine Hills.

Monday Team 1, Bob McCowan, Tom Kelly, Frank Castleberry and Dennis Harrod, banged their way to first place with 8 1/2 points. Harrod led his team with 3 points that included low gross 39 low for the evening's play.

Roy Bryntesen, Team 5, and Dan Pemberton, Team 7, led their teams as 3 point winners, both golfers sharing low nets of 33. Jim Hall, Denny Sbarbaro, Harrod and Pemberton all had birdies.

Tuesday golfers pounded the ball with

Carl Walgren, Waldo Engelbrecht and Mike Gibbs all getting 3 points plus each sharing low net honors with 31s.

JOHN IRWIN had low gross with 38 that included 7 pars but lost to 3 point winner Lee LeClair who shot 35 net. Joe Haughey picked off 3 pars and a chip-in bird on the 9th to win from Lou Mehl who had some putting troubles but did ram four pars home.

Other birdie shooters were Engelbrecht with a 20-footer on the 4th hole and Bob Soderdahl with his bird on the 8th. Haughey's 10 points and Ron Betts with 8 points lead all golfers in individual standings.

Half-Mile Motorcycle Program At Santa Fe

Santa Fe Speedway presents its first half-mile professional motorcycle program for 1972 this Wednesday night, as the southwest side clay oval hosts the "Pat McHenry Motorcycle Classic."

Featuring a 5-mile main event, the American Motorcycle Association-sanctioned event should attract a field of at least 90 riders. Starting time is 8:30 p.m. with time trials getting under way at 8 p.m.

It's anybody's guess who will emerge as the pre-race favorite in the Pat McHenry Classic; Santa Fe Speedway's winner's circle has seen two upset winners in the first two weeks of the season.

Two unheralded riders Robert E. Lee of Fort Worth, Texas, and Gary Horton from South Bend, Indiana, have been victorious thus far in the 1972 Santa Fe Speedway season and could be considered as good bets to win the classic. However, defending champion Charlie Chapple from Flint, Michigan, and two-time Santa Fe king Neil Keen of St.

Louis, Missouri, can never be discounted either.

Also possibilities for the Pat McHenry Classic are Krith Ulicki, Kenosha, Wis.; and Michael Johnson, Flint, Mich. Both riders won awards last year for top junior and top novice rider respectively and have ridden well this year.

To muddle the picture even more, Santa Fe Speedway's half-mile shows attract other top national riders such as Jim Rice from Palo Alto, Calif., and David Sehl out of Atlanta, Ga.; these riders generally are considered favorites whenever and wherever they ride.

Santa Fe Speedway, the "motorcycle capital of the Midwest," hosts exclusive weekly AMA-sanctioned races. Chicagoland's busiest racing oval also presents stock car races every Saturday and Sunday night and a special program each Friday night.

Santa Fe Speedway is located at 91st and Wolf Road approximately 20 minutes from downtown Chicago via the Stevenson Expressway.

Entertainment Shows Surpass Documentaries

by RICK DuBROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — When television offers entertainment shows more impressive than its news documentaries over a period as long as a year, you know it has been an off time for video's public affairs departments.

But that's the way things have been for at least a year now — caution in the documentaries, perhaps because of outside pressure, and a group of entertainment programs that register more impressively, on the whole.

Standout entertainment series in the past year included the Dick Cavett Show; "All in the Family"; The "Hollywood Television Theatre," an entry of a non-commercial Public Broadcasting Service network; "Sanford and Son," a new comedy focusing on an aging black junk dealer; and "Film Odyssey," a collection of classic motion pictures presented by PBS.

Some brief series from Britain also gained considerable praise: "The Six Wives of Henry VIII"; "The Search for the Nile"; and "Elizabeth R." starring Glenda Jackson on PBS. Then there were the notable one-shot entertainment entries.

"WILL ROGERS' U.S.A.," with James Whitmore in his acclaimed one-man show; Paul Gallico's "The Snow Goose," about an embittered artist who finds new hope through his care for a wounded bird and friendship with a teenage girl; John Don Passos' "U.S.A.," on the "Hollywood Television Theatre"; "The Homecoming," a Christmas tale about a mountain family during the 1930s depression, and "The Impatient Heart," with Carrie Snodgrass splendid as a self-denying social worker.

There was the poignant story, beautifully written directed and acted, called "Brian's Song," about the real-life friendship of a black pro football player, Gale Sayers of the Chicago Bears, and his white teammate, Brian Piccolo, who died of cancer at 26. There were also "Look Homeward, Angel"; "All the Way Home," based on James Agee's "A Death in the Family"; Julie Andrews and Carol Burnett in a musical special at New York's Lincoln Center, and "To All My Friends on Shore," with Bill Cosby as a struggling, hard-working family man whose son is stricken with sickle cell anemia.

Fred Astaire and Jack Paar made solo, program-long appearances with Cavett. For Astaire, it was the second solo, full-show outing with the late-night host who faces possible cancellation because of low ratings. Mia Farrow, meanwhile, starred impressively in "Goodbye, Raggedy Ann," as a young Hollywood actress near the end of her tether. And the "Hollywood Television Theatre" also presented Arthur Laurents' 1960 Broadway comedy, "Invitation to a March," about a girl who gives up her conformist socialite fiancé for the illegitimate son of her family's summer house landlady.

On the documentary side, there was "Suffer the Little Children," in which producer-writer Robert Northshield studied the effect on youngsters of the civil war in Ireland. And there were "Alcoholism: Out of the Shadows"; "Mayor Daley: A Study in Power"; "Pows-Pawns of War" the first half of a two-part, two-hour report; "Higher Education: Who Needs it?" about job problems for a number of college graduates, and "Search for the Goddess of Love," about a woman's quest for the lost statue of Aphrodite.

Then there was Les Brown, video editor of "Variety," who added to public enlightenment with his important book, "Television: The Business behind the Box." And, lest anyone forget, there was the Tandem Productions company of producers Bud Yorkin and Norman Lear, which turned out both of video's two funniest series, "All in the Family" and "Sanford and Son."

Once A Month At St. Peter's

Free Immunization Clinic Set To Open On June 28

by NANCY COWGER
Immunization to meet school entrance requirements, tetanus shots, vaccinations, typhoid shots and inoculations satisfying foreign travel requirements all will be available free of charge in Schaumburg Township starting June 28.

The services will be provided by an immunization clinic from 1 to 3 p.m. the fourth Wednesday of each month at St. Peter's Lutheran School, 208 E. Schaumburg Rd., Schaumburg, according to Mrs. Jean McClosky. She is chairman of the medical services phase of Community Life Program, a nonsectarian group of volunteers to aid persons in emergency need situations.

Mrs. McClosky is coordinating the planning and direction of the clinic under the county's public health department, which will provide a county nurse to administer the immunizations.

Patients with adverse reactions to immunizations likely will be referred to their own physicians. Otherwise, the clinic will be available for anyone, regardless of income. Mrs. McClosky anticipates 50 to 200 patient patients will use the clinic.

Staff other than the county nurse amounts only to one person, a registrar, who will be a volunteer supplied by Community Life.

THE CLINIC, while the most immediate development of the medical phase of Community Life, is not the only service that will be provided, if all goes as planned.

Volunteers now are working to establish a dental care clinic that would service persons aged 16 or younger in poverty-level families.

The dental clinic hopefully will open for business in the fall, although the volunteers still are seeking space to house it and are investigating various sources of equipment.

Cook County will supply a dentist, and dental chairs and drills now being used at Cook County Hospital, but being replaced with new equipment. The chairs and drills are 40 years old, said Mrs. McClosky.

COMMUNITY LIFE is working with the League of Women Voters in Des Plaines to establish the clinic. Both will be supplied the dentist, medical supplies and chairs by the county, in return they must provide locations, hand tools and equipment valued at an estimated $3,000, and volunteer clerical help.

To that end, the League of Women Voters is writing letters to medical supply houses and other potential sources of gifts and donations, and Community Life is working on the space part of the problem.

Community Life has approached area hospitals and William Rainey Harper College, and now is looking toward church basements as possible locations. Harper officials told Community Life they were not ready or able to become involved in such a program, said Mrs. McClosky. The hospitals apparently did not have the free space, she said. The clinics could be run from a church basement or school room, she believes, although the bulkier equipment would have to remain in the location during the days when the clinic was not being held.

Since the clinic would be county-sponsored, patients would be accepted from outside the townships of the two civic groups assisting. But they would have to be receiving incomes at the poverty level, or just above, she said.

The volunteer organizations still would provide unpaid workers as clerical help.

ALSO TO BE established, and to be located in Des Plaines, is a prenatal clinic. Still in the preliminary planning stage

Confusion Over Sheffield Town Boundaries Hit

A former director of the Hoffman Estates Park District criticized park officials yesterday over the recent confusion of whether or not the Sheffield Town development was within park districts boundaries.

Mrs. Anne Schuerings, who left the district last February, said there should be no question over the property because of a boundary search four years ago.

"The map we received from the county several years ago showed that property within the district. This new search through the records is a waste of the taxpayers money," she said.

While not being able to estimate the cost of the such search made by attorney Don Rose, she said attorneys do not work cheap.

"I don't know why they would pay Rose to make the search again," she said.

SHE SAID an effort to contact any of the former commissioners or employees of the park district could have made the park district's inquiry simpler and less expensive.

Mrs. Schuerings explained the boundaries for the district extend west past Barrington road.

The confusion arose over the Sheffield Town townhouse development on Golf Road near Barrington road. The property is with the village of Schaumburg. Rose's first opinion was that the land lies outside the district.

It is anticipated the park board will hold a special meeting later this week to establish another polling place there for next week's park referendum.

So far no meetings have been planned for that area with the residents.

Park district director Al Binder was not available for comment on Mrs. Schuerings' remarks.

As School Term Ends, Salary Talks Continue

by JERRY THOMAS

As the school term nears an end in Schaumburg Township School Dist. 54, teachers and administrators are still deep in salary contract talks.

Gordon Thoren, district board of education member and spokesman for the board negotiating team, said he sees little hope for settlement before this school year is out. Last years negotiations were settled late in November.

Both administrators and Schaumburg Education Association SEA spokesmen representing the district's 600 teachers began contract talks in late February. Thoren said the administration team has not yet considered all the articles in the 51-page SEA contract proposal.

He called the SEA proposal a canned package of the Illinois Education Association contract modified for this district.

THOREN SAID the administrators team has agreed to several requests legitimately relating to salaries and teaching conditions.

However, one of the boards concerns is that the SEA contract is attempting to take away the board's control; a responsibility the board of education is charged with by the residents who elected them to office, said Thoren.

The proposed SEA salary schedule shows an increase of $550 in starting salary. Thoren calls this a misleading figure since the proposed salary schedule index is different.

When the first contract packages were exchanged the district objected that the SEA was requesting in contract itemization of points already covered in board policy manuals, control of curriculum and other things they considered the boards responsibility.

THOREN SAID these objections are still held with the administration team insisting contract talks will be in relation to conditions and salary. Jay Hanson, SEA president-elect agreed with Thoren's prediction that contract talks will not be finished before school lets out.

"We would like to meet more often perhaps starting at 1 p.m. and going into evening but Thoren's insistence that he be present at each meeting makes afternoon meetings impossible," said Hanson.

Hanson added that the teams have tentatively agreed on a teacher evaluation procedure, educational leaves and jury duty leave. Salaries have not been discussed, he said.

The next scheduled team meeting is set for today, with continued meetings about once a week, said Hanson.

WARM SPRING WEATHER has lured children to dangerous, flooded construction pits throughout the area. Although many of these holes are posted against trespassing and swimming, like this one, venturesome kids have been taking their pleasures along with the risks there. Many of these unguarded ponds are deep, and additionally hazardous because of underwater debris and obstructions. (Photo by Bob Strawn.)

Howie Developer May Be Revealed Today

The future developer of the Howie-In-The-Hills property in Hoffman Estates, may be made public at 2 p.m. today when attorneys representing a federal receivership report on the bids of prospective purchasers.

The development, along with the Apple Orchard development in Bartlett, is up for sale along with other assets of the defunct City Savings and Loan Association, Chicago, which was put into federal receivership in 1968.

The attorneys, Steven Bashwiner and Don Reuben, will report to Federal Judge William Campbell, who appointed the receivership and who last month set today as the target date to obtain a $10 million bid for the two sites, or as close to that figure as possible.

Among groups seen as potential purchasers is the Teamsters Union Pension Fund, which was ordered by Judge Campbell in April to meet with Bashwiner and Reuben to discuss a possible agreement.

Judge Campbell indicated he might settle for less than the $10 million should the Pension Fund purchase the two sites, with the understanding the fund withdraw a $1.7 million suit to recover funds loaned for development of the Howie land prior to the appointing of the receivership.

The land is tied up in a number of suits involving Hoffman Estates village government, charging the village and former officials with fraud in obtaining court approval of a special assessment to finance improvements to the land.

Sale could be contingent on settlement of all suits and the granting of desired zoning by the village.

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

President Nixon, greeted in Tehran by pomp and stringent security, assured the Shah of Iran of the United States' undiminished moral and military support as it seeks to ease Middle East tensions. In Kiev, last stop in Nixon's eight-day Soviet visit, White House adviser Henry A. Kissinger said the President hopes the agreements made in the Kremlin have convinced Russian leaders that each of the world's superpowers now has "vested interests" in maintaining peace.

Gov. George C. Wallace continued to fight the effects of infection around one of his bullet wounds amid indications he would not be moved from Holy Cross Hospital in Silver Spring, Md., any time soon. Wallace's spokesman said they will mount a saturation radio-TV campaign for write-in votes in the June 6 California primary.

Congress has added $1 billion to President Nixon's budget for the 12 months beginning July 1 and likely will add several billion more, according to a joint House-Senate committee. That report prompted some lawmakers to predict that a tax increase is inevitable.

Automobile traffic during the three-day Memorial Day weekend took 585 lives nationwide. Drownings and other accidents swelled the fatality toll to 830.

The Supreme Court rejected an appeal from California officials from a ruling by that state's supreme court abolishing the death penalty.

The World

The militant Provisional wing of the underground Irish Republican Army rejected as a form of surrender the ceasefire proclaimed in Northern Ireland by the moderate IRA Official wing. The rejection was followed by a series of incidents in which two men were killed and another wounded by gunfire.

Three Japanese gunmen opened fire with automatic rifles and grenades in the crowded passenger terminal of Lod International Airport in Tel Aviv after disembarking from an Air France jetliner, killing at least 20 persons and wounding at least 50 others. The national radio said 20 of those wounded were in serious condition.

The State

State's Atty. Edward V. Hanrahan said he will try again to quash the indictment pending against him in the Black Panther case, a move sure to delay the beginning of his trial, set tentatively for June 12.

Condominium Bill Opposition Cools

No local residents were expected to testify this morning in support of a proposed state consumer protection law regulating condominium sales, although they have been ready more than a week to go to Springfield to favor support.

The bill was drafted according to the guidelines of Richard Regan, Hoffman Estates plan commission chairman who worked with State Rep. David Regner, R-Mount Prospect, on its preparation. The bill was approved two weeks ago in the Illinois House, and had been slated for a Senate judiciary committee hearing last Wednesday. Senate sponsor of the bill is Sen. John Graham, R-Barrington.

Prior to last week, Regan and representatives of the Barrington Square Homeowners Association volunteered to testify in support of the bill at the Senate hearing. They had planned to go last week, but the hearing was delayed.

Since then, Regan has learned that expected Senate opposition to the bill may have cooled, he said, and it appears the bill will be voted out of the committee with a favorable recommendation.

The bill, if signed into law, would require condominium sellers to provide complete and specific information on responsibilities, costs and locations connected with condominium ownership prior to closing a sale, and allows for voiding of sales contracts if the requirements are not satisfied.

Regan and the homeowners association representatives have said the law is necessary because of irresponsible statements made by a minority of condominium salesmen, over which developers have little control, and because of an apparent lack of sophistication on the part of some condominium purchasers. It is aimed to protect young couples buying their first homes or older couples with no previous experience in multiple family housing developments.

3 Firms To Be Screened For Local Airport Study

The qualifications of three engineering firms vying for selection as consultants in a project to determine the feasibility of a municipally owned airport in Schaumburg will be screened Thursday.

At that time the Schaumburg Airport Study Committee will attempt to further narrow a list of companies being considered, said Denis Ledgerwood, chairman.

Committee members are also expected to begin preparation of a specific scope of work to be outlined by firms chosen for additional presentation.

Over the past five weeks the study group has interviewed representatives of Arnold Thompson, Inc. (combining with Vickrey-Wines Associates); Howard Needles Tammen & Bergendoff; and Ralph H. Burke Inc. Final selection of a consultant is expected about Aug. 1, Ledgerwood indicated this week.

A VILLAGE owned and operated airport is included in plans for a regional transportation center proposed by Mayor Robert O. Atcher.

Expected for major funding through a Federal Aviation Agency master planning grant, the study will not limit itself to expansion of the new privately-owned Schaumburg Airport.

Examination of other practical sites for a general aviation airport within village limits will also be required.

Two-thirds of the study cost could be available under the Airport and Airways Development Act of 1970 which provides about $15 million annually for airport planning and expansion.

CAPITAL COMES from proceeds of a trust fund made up of taxes on registration and fuel paid by aircraft owners.

One-sixth of the study cost could also be recaptured by the village through a grant from the Illinois Department of Aeronautics.

The village would then be responsible for the remaining one-sixth which Schaumburg officials plan to retire through a revenue bond issue involving no taxpayer burden.

Under present law 50 per cent federal funding could also be available for construction. Pending legislation, however, could increase the federal portion to nearly 90 per cent of the total cost of an approved program.

Committee members will meet at 8 p.m. Thursday in the Great Hall conference room. The meeting is open to the public.

Paramedic Bill Gets Panel's OK

The Illinois Senate Welfare Committee yesterday recommended approval of a bill aimed at allowing paramedical personnel to administer emergency treatment to the injured and the ill.

Endorsed by the welfare committee 13 to 2, Senate Bill 1571 now goes to the Senate floor for a second reading.

Approval of the bill by the Senate and the House, which is expected, would enable fire departments and private ambulance companies in eight communities near Northwest Community Hospital in Arlington Heights to provide emergency care without fear of liability.

Swift enactment of the bill, which has the support of Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie, could allow the service to begin before the end of summer.

EXPECTED TO participate in the mobile network, the first of its kind in Illinois, are Arlington Heights, Buffalo Grove, Hoffman Estates, Inverness, Mount Prospect, Palatine, Rolling Meadows and Schaumburg.

Firemen from those communities and attendants from the Arlington and Delta ambulance firms currently are taking a training course at the hospital under the direction of Dr. Stanley Zydlo.

The service would provide limited medical treatment prior to the patient's arrival at the hospital.

it is expected to offer family planning services as well as prenatal examinations and care. One major problem is finding hospitals willing and able to accept the patients for delivery.

Community Life already is offering a service in the form of home care for shut-ins, either temporarily or permanently disabled. Thus far only two women are receiving the care, and more than a dozen are signed up to work. Needed are more nurses, or persons with Red Cross home care training who can aid with the two women already being served, said Mrs. McClosky, adding others are expected to seek the help once it becomes more generally known.

The volunteers do such chores as preparing meals, giving baths, helping immobilized patients change position, get out of bed or turn over, changing bedding or just relieving a family member for a few hours to allow them some time out of the home. They do not administer medicine or treatments that require a doctors order.

Any person in the community interested in devoting some time to the program, and with a skill to offer, is invited to attend future meetings. Persons interested in serving should contact Mrs. McClosky at a 518 Devonshire Ln., Hoffman Estates, 885-1477.

"The vast majority of people here don't get medical care until they are in a crisis. Then they go to emergency rooms for care. That's how hospitals get in the red," said Mrs. McClosky.

"They need preventative care," she said. Community Life is trying to help make the preventative care available.

If Referendum Passes

9 Park Sites Slated For Improvement

by STEVE BROWN

Included in next week's $1.1 million park improvement referendum sponsored by the Hoffman Estates Park District is a large-scale improvement program for all park sites in the district.

Nine park-school sites are slated for improvement in the total development package, said Al Binder, park district director.

Binder said all of the areas will be given new and upgraded play apparatus areas. He said present plans included the development of two separate areas for different age groups at each site.

Swings, slides, climbing equipment, horizontal ladders and bars all are planned for these areas, Binder said.

Pinger Park-Highland School, High point Park-MacArthur School, Blackhawk School, Twinbrook School, Hoffman School, Fairview School, Hillcrest School, Armstrong School and Muir School are among the sites included in the project.

THE HIGHPOINT Park-MacArthur School area will receive extensive improvements, Binder said. He explained that because this was one of the larger sites in the district more improvements can be made in the area.

Four lighted tennis courts, two recreation fields, play apparatus and a parking lot will be developed there. The tennis courts will be flooded and used for a hockey program during the winter. Binder said $115,000 will be spent to improve this park-school site.

Binder said the recreation fields there and at other park sites will be used for football, baseball, softball, soccer and other outdoor sports.

Improvements planned for the other sites include:

- Pinger Park-Lakeview School — Existing play apparatus will be relocated, new apparatus area, general landscaping. Cost $9,000.
- Blackhawk School — Two new apparatus areas, general landscaping and improvement of the existing recreational field is planned for this site. Cost $16,000.
- Twinbrook School — Major emphasis here will be given to improvement of the recreational field. The district hopes to use the site for winter ice skating. New play apparatus will also be installed. Cost $15,000.

Hoffman School — Play apparatus and improvements to the recreational field. Cost $6,000.

Fairview School — New recreation field and improvement to existing field, new apparatus. Cost $19,000.

Hillcrest School — New play apparatus and upgrading of the existing recreational field. Cost $19,000.

Armstrong School — New recreation fields and play apparatus. Cost $11,000.

Muir School (to be completed in this fall) — A recreational field and a play apparatus area is planned for the site which is located in the Barrington Square development. Cost $19,000.

Winston Knolls School Site — Major development is also planned for this area. Four lighted tennis, landscaping and two recreational fields are planned for this site. Cost $84,000.

Pal-Waukee Battle Got Off Ground In Court Yesterday

The verbal battle over runway length and plane weights at Pal-Waukee airport finally got off the ground in court yesterday.

Three aviation officials testified in the first day of the trial of the suit brought against the airport by Cook County and the Village of Wheeling.

William Yocius, the former tower chief at Pal-Waukee's Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) control tower, Carl Johnson of the FAA, and Dan Smith, flight safety coordinator for the Illinois Department of Aeronautics testified during the first day of the trial which is continuing today in the Chicago Civic Center.

The three men were called to testify by Cook County Assistant State's Atty. Robert Sarnoff and Wheeling Village Atty. Paul Hamer, the attorneys for the plaintiffs.

THE CASE WAS filed by the county in early 1971 at the request of a Wheeling residents committee and the village.

It seeks to have the runway closed temporarily and then redefined by Cook County.

Fines of $200 per day retroactive to 1964 for every day a plane exceeding a 60,000 pound weight maximum flew in or out of the airport are also sought in the suit.

The runway, stretching from near the airport's offices at Milwaukee Avenue and Palatine Road to near the corner of Hintz and Wolf roads is the longest one at Pal-Waukee and the one used by most jet aircraft involved in landings or takeoffs.

The airport, which is privately owned by George Priester, is a major reliever of small airplane traffic from O'Hare International Airport in Chicago. Priester says Pal-Waukee qualifies as "the world's busiest private airport."

THE SUIT CENTERS around charges the airport extended the NNW-SSE runway beyond a 5,000-foot limit imposed in a special use permit issued by the Cook County Board.

The suit charges that in order to lengthen the runway a public hearing before the county zoning board is required.

Another point of contention is the weight of planes the airport runway is designed to support.

In Judge Nathan M. Cohen's courtroom yesterday, testimony revealed while there is more than 5,000 feet of paving, the actual usable runway length is below the minimum.

Dan Smith told the court the Illinois Airport Directory issued to all pilots by the Illinois Department of Aeronautics lists the runway as being 5,200 feet long. However, he said, that listing includes the 200-foot-long turnaround area at the northwestern end of the runway.

SMITH ALSO testified that "load bearing capacity" of a runway is defined as meaning the weight per wheel of a plane rather than the total weight of the aircraft.

He said he interpreted a special use permit restriction on the runway construction at 60,000 pounds gross weight load bearing capacity to mean "60,000 pounds per wheel."

On the length of the runway he said, "There is a difference between total runway length and the effective usable runway length. The 5,200 feet is the total including the turnaround and rumup area."

Smith testified that because Palatine Road borders the runway on the south and Hintz Road borders it on the north approximately 300 feet at each end of the runway is unusable if a pilot is to clear the road at an adequate height either on landing or takeoff.

He noted that turnaround areas like the one at the end of the runway "are common to airports that do not have parallel taxiways," like Pal-Waukee.

JOHNSON TESTIFIED that two of his employees at the FAA measured the runway in early 1971 and found it to be 4,997.8 feet long, excluding the turnaround area.

Johnson defined the end of the runway as being the "threshold" — a marking either by lights or by a white line designating the beginning of the area available for landing aircraft.

He said Pal-Waukee was "a basin transport airport" rather than a "general transport airport." The difference, he explained, is that Pal-Waukee is normally used by aircraft weighing less than 60,000 pounds gross weight.

Abandoned buildings may be picturesque but can be serious fire hazards.

Does Death Lurk In Barns?

by RICH HONACK
A News Analysis
Wheeling and Buffalo Grove, once an area of vast farm land, are today filled with homes, industry and schools.

Something of the past, however, still lurks among the modern structures of the two suburbs — abandoned houses and barns.

They lurk, not as menaces to the new architecture, but as menaces to safety.

They are a favorite place for area children to play, to investigate and to start fires — fires that someday could be fatal or cause serious injury.

WHEELING AND Buffalo Grove firemen, as well as firemen from the surrounding area, are plagued by these buildings that service no one. The firemen receive numerous calls to these buildings and many times wish they could let them burn to the ground.

However, there is one factor that prevents that — the children.

For example, last Thursday afternoon Wheeling firemen were called to one such fire at 979 W. Dundee Rd. An abandoned barn next to Jack London Jr. High School and the Dist. 21 general offices, was ablaze.

The Wheeling fire department has been called to that same barn numerous other times, and each time they responded immediately.

"We have to get here right away," explained Wheeling fire chief Bernie Koepfen, as his men sprayed water on the inferno. "You never know when there's going to be a child in the middle of this place."

IN THE PAST, HOWEVER, the barn never got the headstart it got last week. When firemen arrived the entire barn was engulfed in flames. If anyone had been inside they probably wouldn't have survived.

"I hope that day never comes, but these fires keep increasing," he added.

Buffalo Grove Fire Chief Wayne Winter explained: "We know which abandoned barns and houses are going to go up next, but we can't station a fireman or a policeman at every abandoned building in hopes of catching these kids."

Chief Winter also explained the firemen would like to burn down the hazards safely themselves, but the State of Illinois doesn't allow such burning because of pollution laws.

THERE ARE ALSO orders out to tear down many of the old buildings. These laws are very seldom enforced.

What can be done?

The chiefs said they need the help of the community.

They said some things that would help are:

—Call the fire or police department if any unusual activity or fire is spotted in a vacant building.

—Explain to your children the hazards involved in playing in such areas and what damage can be done when playing with fire in such buildings.

—Make village officials aware of abandoned buildings in your area.

—Tear down the buildings if you own them.

Ready-Mix Cement Plant Hearing Slated Friday

The Village of Wheeling will be represented at a Cook County rezoning hearing Friday to consider a ready-mix cement plant on Plant Road south of the village.

Village Mgr. George Passolt and Village Planner Thompson Dyke were directed by the village board to attend the hearing. The 2 p.m. hearing will be in the Wheeling Municipal Building.

It will be a replay of a public hearing by the Cook County Zoning Board of Appeals in 1969.

The zoning board is to take testimony and make recommendations to the Cook County Board of Commissioners on rezoning 8½ acres of property from restricted manufacturing district zoning to heavy manufacturing district zoning.

The Evanston Fuel and Material Co. is proposing a ready-mix cement plant be built on the property.

IN 1969 the Village of Wheeling and residents of the area took Cook County to court to overthrow the original rezoning of the property.

Although the village was unsuccessful in its suit, a companion suit filed by residents of the area did succeed in overturning the rezoning of the property on the grounds that there was improper public notice of the 1969 hearing.

The ready-mix and concrete proportioning plant is proposed for property on the west side of Plant Road, 685 feet south of Hintz Road. The property is to the east of Pal-Waukee Airport and is bounded on its western edge by the Wheeling Drainage Ditch. A drive-in theater occupies the land to the east and northeast of the proposed plant.

At the first rezoning hearing the developers testified that approximately 50 trucks per day would enter and leave the plant between 7 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. by way of Industrial Lane and Milwaukee Avenue.

AMONG THE OBJECTIONS Wheeling has to the proposed development are that it violates the village's comprehensive plan, that detention basins are not planned to compensate for an area of the property in the flood plain and that a well proposed on the property would interfere with other nearby wells.

Other objections to the project cited by village officials in 1969 included that heavy concrete trucks would create a traffic hazard and would damage area roads.

Losses At Construction Sites Hike Prices

Thieves Add To Home Costs

by STEVE BROWN

Thefts and burglaries from residential construction sites may hike the cost of a new home several hundred dollars, according to officials of several large development companies in the area.

While most officials were hesitant to even estimate losses from new home construction or said the figures were not available, some admitted the cost might run as high as two hundred dollars a unit. They stated that most of this cost is passed directly to the purchaser.

The usually unguarded sites prove to be a gold mine for all kinds of thefts ranging from a few pieces of lumber or a truckload of bricks to a truckload of dishwashers or a complete furnace.

Estimates, termed very conservative, indicate more than $50,000 in appliances, tools and construction equipment were reported stolen in the Northwest suburban area communities last year.

CONSTRUCTION OFFICIALS admit the figure may represent only the tip of the iceberg.

"Appliances are usually the first things to go," said William Eberhardt, construction manager for Multicon Properties Corp. He explained that most thefts do not occur in quantities so insurance costs for these losses is prohibitive.

"Most policies have deductible clauses, so the loss of a few appliances would not be covered," he stated.

Eberhardt said security is usually a big problem with a building that is still under construction. With various tradesmen coming in and out at all times, it is almost impossible to lock the building, he said.

As for the home improvement enthusiast looking to save some money by helping himself to construction materials, Eberhardt said he wished people would ask instead of stealing. Sometimes scrap material is available at no cost that would take care of the average project.

BESIDES THE do-it-yourself type thief and the professional, construction and police officials say part of the losses comes from people on the inside.

Bob Lange, supply coordinator for Levitt and Son, said carpenters and plumbers who might moonlight might help themselves to cabinets or bathroom fixtures to cut down on the cost of private work.

In what he calls "interior theft," Hoffman Estates Police Chief John O'Connell, said an employee might pick up "fishing money" by saving and selling copper clippings used for gas lines in new homes.

O'Connell said patrolling these areas can be a major problem. Usually isolated by unfinished roads and sidewalks, police have to check from the distance until an area becomes more accessible, he added.

O'CONNELL SAID he does not believe that develops in the area are working close enough with police to cut down on the thefts.

Both O'Connell and Schaumburg Police Chief Martin Conroy agree that the best situation would be to have a watchman on all projects. But they admit this might not be financially feasible.

Conroy suggested burglar alarms on all new homes especially furnished models. He added that valuable equipment and supplies should be kept in secured areas during non-work periods.

Although the cost of special security service is usually high and sometimes unrewarding, several companies have recently taken steps to beef up their protection. Levitt, for example, has contracted with the Schaumburg police for extra security patrols for their projects there. Using uniformed officers, regular patrols are made through the construction sites. Levitt provides a vehicle and reimburses the village for the salaries of the men. The officers work the patrols in their off-duty hours.

"OUR RATE of loss was extremely high in the latter part of 1971," said Jerry Harker of Levitt. He explained since the initiation of the uniformed patrols, thefts have been decreasing.

"These men are doing a fantastic job," Harker said. He added that insurance and watchman costs are usually prohibitive, but the size of projects here warranted the hiring of the special patrols. Levitt has four separate sites under construction in Schaumburg.

Harker blames most of Levitt's losses on professional thieves. He said the loss of many appliances was evidence that more than the average home repair enthusiast was at work.

"When you lose a house full of carpeting less than 24 hours after it has been installed, you can usually be sure that this is not the work of the average person," he said.

Most developers agreed that the problem will never totally be solved, but said they are continually working on ways to hold their losses to a minimum.

WATCHING THE GOODS at Levitt & Sons Construction Co. site in Schaumburg is Ted Pryka, an off-duty patrolman with the village's police department. Developers in the Northwest suburbs sometimes turn to security.

Unincorporated Vehicle Sticker Date Extended

The enforcement deadline for Cook County's new tax on vehicles in unincorporated areas has been extended to July 1.

Cook County Pres. George Dunne has ordered only warning tickets be issued between now and that date. May 15 was the original deadline for paying the tax. Earlier Dunne had extended the enforcement deadline to June 1.

Meanwhile, officials in the Cook County Collector's office reported late last week that a total of 20,040 applications for the required sticker had been received. There are 53,820 passenger cars registered in unincorporated areas of Cook County.

The "wheel" tax on vehicles in unincorporated areas was enacted in December by the County Board, but has been challenged in court in a suit filed by the Prospect Heights Improvement Association. Filed on behalf of residents throughout unincorporated areas of the county, the suit argues that it is unfair to charge a special tax on residents of unincorporated areas and then put the money in the county's general fund.

A hearing on the suit has been set for June 7, after continuance two weeks ago. Money collected from the tax has been ordered put into a special account, pending the outcome of the legal fight on the vehicles.

Applications for paying the tax are available at area police departments or may be obtained in person at the collector's office.

2 Accidents Are Reported Here

Two major accidents were reported to Wheeling Police on Memorial Day.

A woman and a child were injured in a two-car accident on the south side of Palatine Road at Wheeling Road. Monday afternoon, Dorothy Henigman, 52, and the child, Louise Henigman, 6, were treated and released from Holy Family Hospital.

The driver of their car, Mark Hennigman, 22, of Paris, Ill., was charged with disobeying a red light.

Wheeling Police said he made a left turn from the Frontage Road of Palatine Road across traffic on a red light.

The driver of the other car was William R. Norrie, 49, of 104 Suffolk, Arlington Heights.

Police estimated damage to Norrie's car at $900 and damage to Henigman's car at $800. Henigman is to appear in Arlington Heights District Court July 11.

AT 8 P.M. MONDAY the second accident occurred at Wolf Road, and Strong Street.

Carey F. Callahan, 16, of 306 Timber Hill Rd., Buffalo Grove is to appear in Arlington Heights District Court August 1, charged with failure to yield the right-of-way, driving without a valid license and damaging a stop sign.

The driver of the other car was John T. McCarthy, 17, of Lake Bluff.

A stop sign was knocked down in the accident.

Police estimated damage to McCarthy's car at $1,000 and damage to the Callahan car at $300.

Area-Wide Bike Route Supported

Representatives of park districts in seven Northwest suburbs have expressed enthusiasm about an area-wide bicycle route and have agreed to work together to set one up.

A regional bike route mapped by the Northeastern Illinois Planning Commission and the Council of Governments of Cook County was endorsed at a meeting of the park district officials Friday in Arlington Heights.

Represented at the meeting were Arlington Heights, Des Plaines, Elk Grove Village, Mount Prospect, Palatine, Rolling Meadows and Wheeling. Buffalo Grove representatives did not attend.

Roger A. Bjorvik of Palatine, attorney for the Palatine Park District and vice chairman of the county governmental council, said the route would connect the communities, allowing bicyclists safe and clearly marked paths to such recreational areas as Busse Woods, Deer Grove Forest Preserve and the Des Plaines River.

He indicated the purpose of the bike path is twofold: transportation and recreational.

PART OF THE path would probably utilize Commonwealth Edison Co., Northern Illinois Gas Co., and Cook County Forest Preserve District rights-of-way, and part would consist simply of identifiable bike trail signs along roadways, he said.

Bjorvik said he was unable to estimate the cost of an area-wide project because it depends upon how much land has to be acquired and the terms of the agreements.

Hearings are now taking place before a subcommittee of the House Public Works Committee in Washington on the Bicycle Transportation Act of 1971. The act, sponsored by New York Congressman Edward Koch in the House, and Sen.

Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., in the Senate, would provide motor fuel tax funds for acquisition and development of land for bicycle paths.

The seven local park district representatives are to discuss the plans for a bike path with their organizations, then report back for another meeting July 13.

Clark Station Robbed

Approximately $33 was taken from the Clark Oil Co. station at Hintz and Elmhurst roads near Wheeling in an armed robbery Monday night.

Cook County Sheriff's Police said a man took the money from the station shortly after 10:30 p.m.

Ask Available Jobs Report

Part-Time Teenage Job Service Getting Started

The teen employment service for Buffalo Grove is getting off the ground this week with applications at each of the schools in the area.

Students are being asked to sign up for part-time summer work, indicating the types of jobs they would like. Later they will register at the municipal building for interviews, and a $1 registration fee will be charged.

In addition to employees, Park Dir. Stan Crosland said employers are needed. The service will need to know what jobs are available and who needs the employees.

The service is a joint project of the Village of Buffalo Grove and the Buffalo Grove Park District. Each has agreed to pay half the operating expenses for the first year, with the village also supplying an office and a phone.

PARK COMMISSIONER Dede Armstrong has made most of the arrangements for the program. She said the service is limited to Buffalo Grove residents, with non-residents considered on a waiting list basis.

Types of jobs are listed on the application form. They are: babysitting, lawn and yard work, pet sitting, car washing, window washing, painting, garage cleaning, handyman, wall washing, mother's helper and miscellaneous.

Persons interested in hiring youths for work this summer should send their names, addresses, phone numbers and descriptions of the jobs available to: Buffalo Grove Park District, 150 Raupp Blvd., Buffalo Grove. The phone number is 537-0356.

Mrs. Armstrong said she is still seeking a capable adult to supervise the entire program and work with the students from the local junior high schools and Wheeling and Stevenson high schools. She said salary will be paid by the park district and the village. The registration fee is only to defray the cost of paper and other business expenses.

Board Endorses Two Rezoning Requests

Wheeling's Zoning Board of Appeals unanimously endorsed two rezoning requests at a public hearing recently.

Final action on the requests for property at the southwest corner of Hintz and Wheeling roads will be up to the Wheeling Village Board.

A condominium development with 1,200 units in three-story buildings is proposed for 75 acres.

There would be one and two-bedroom units in the project selling for $32,000 to $48,000.

Another 15-acre tract was proposed for industrial zoning and a special use was sought to allow carting, expressing, hauling or storage yards on the property.

The zoning board recommended the industrial zoning be granted but suggested that outside storage yards be excluded from the special-use permit for the property because of the proximity to the residential development.

Abandoned buildings may be picturesque but can be serious fire hazards.

Death May Be Lurking In Old Barns

by RICH HONACK
A News Analysis

Wheeling and Buffalo Grove, once an area of vast farm land, are today filled with homes, industry and schools.

Something of the past, however, still lurks among the modern structures of the two suburbs — abandoned houses and barns.

They lurk, not as menaces to the new architecture, but as menaces to safety.

They are a favorite place for area children to play, to investigate and to start fires — fires that someday could be fatal or cause serious injury.

WHEELING AND Buffalo Grove firemen, as well as firemen from the surrounding area, are plagued by these buildings that service no one. The firemen receive numerous calls to these buildings and many times wish they could let them burn to the ground.

However, there is one factor that prevents that — the children.

For example, last Thursday afternoon Wheeling firemen were called to one such fire at 579 W. Dundee Rd. An abandoned barn next to Jack London Jr. High School and the Dist. 21 general offices, was ablaze.

The Wheeling fire department has been called to that same barn numerous other times, and each time they responded immediately.

"We have to get here right away," explained Wheeling fire chief Bernie Koepfen, as his men sprayed water on the inferno. "You never know when there's going to be a child in the middle of this place."

IN THE PAST, HOWEVER, the barn never got the headstart it got last week. When firemen arrived the entire barn was engulfed in flames. If anyone had been inside they probably wouldn't have survived.

Chief Koepfen said, "That's what it's going to take to wake people up. Some kids, and we're almost positive it's kids, are going to start one of these barns or houses on fire with the help of gasoline or some other flammable mixture, and it's going to blow up in their faces."

"I hope that day never comes, but these fires keep increasing," he added.

Buffalo Grove Fire Chief Wayne Winter explained: "We know which abandoned barns and houses are going to go up next, but we can't station a fireman or a policeman at every abandoned building in hopes of catching these kids."

Chief Winter also explained the firemen would like to burn down the hazards safely themselves, but the State of Illinois doesn't allow such burning because of pollution laws.

THERE ARE ALSO orders out to tear down many of the old buildings. These laws are very seldom enforced.

What can be done?

The chiefs said they need the help of the community.

They said some things that would help are:

—Call the fire or police department if any unusual activity or fire is spotted in a vacant building.

—Explain to your children the hazards involved in playing in such areas and what damage can be done when playing with fire in such buildings.

—Make village officials aware of abandoned buildings in your area.

—Tear down the buildings if you own them.

Jaycee-Ettes Elect

Buffalo Grove Jaycee-ettes have elected new officers for 1972. Susan Van Engen is president and Pat Penella is vice president.

Treasurer is Gayle Stoller and secretary is Jan Sirabian. Outgoing president is Sue Van Patton.

Holiday Weekend Fairly Quiet, Local Police Say

Buffalo Grove police reported a relatively quiet weekend in the village despite the holiday. One freak incident could have been a tragedy, but ended safely.

Two young Buffalo Grove children were lucky late Monday afternoon, according to police, when the truck they took was stopped by area residents. The children were 7 and 8 years old.

The children reportedly found the key to the truck, parked at Roy A. Tosch and Co. Inc., 146 W. Dundee Rd., in the glove box. Police said the children put the key in the ignition and began driving north on Buffalo Grove Road.

The two youngsters proceeded up Buffalo Grove Rd. to Aptakisic Road; east on Aptakisic Road to Illinois 83 and down Illinois 83 to Weiland Road. They were finally stopped on Weiland Road.

THE INCIDENT occurred about 5 p.m.

and, according to police, could have been a tragic ending to an almost perfect weekend in Buffalo Grove.

Juvenile authorities are investigating further.

Police also reported finding an elderly woman walking west on Dundee Road early Monday. Upon investigation they discovered the woman had run away from the Margaret Manor Nursing home in Chicago.

The woman told police she has run away several times before and would return to home only if it would pay for the taxi cost. Police arranged to have the woman taken back to Chicago.

Police also reported some minor thefts and auto accidents over the holiday weekend.

The Buffalo Grove Fire Department did not have any major alarms over the extended weekend either.

Emergency Care Program

Senate Panel Votes To OK Paramedical Treatment Bill

The Illinois Senate Welfare Committee yesterday recommended approval of a bill aimed at allowing paramedical personnel to administer emergency treatment to the injured and the ill.

Endorsed by the welfare committee 13 to 2, Senate Bill 1571 now goes to the Senate floor for a second reading.

Approval of the bill by the Senate and the House, which is expected, would enable fire departments and private ambulance companies in eight communities near Northwest Community Hospital in Arlington Heights to provide emergency care without fear of liability.

Swift enactment of the bill, which has the support of Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie, could allow the service to begin before the end of summer.

EXPECTED TO participate in the mobile network, the first of its kind in Illinois, are Arlington Heights, Buffalo Grove, Hoffman Estates, Inverness, Mount Prospect, Palatine, Rolling Meadows and Schaumburg.

Firemen from those communities and attendants from the Arlington and Delta ambulance firms currently are taking a training course at the hospital under the direction of Dr. Stanley Zydlo.

The service would provide limited medical treatment prior to the patient's arrival at the hospital.

The attending firemen or ambulance attendants would be in radio contact with doctors at the hospital and would administer treatment under their supervision.

ACCORDING TO A spokesman for Sen. John A. Graham, R-Barrington, sponsor of the enabling legislation, amendments are to be made to "strengthen" the bill, but it was not specified what this would involve.

The spokesman said the amendments were proposed by the Illinois Nurses Association.

Testifying for the bill were Dr. Zydlo, who is coordinating the hospital's participation in the network, and Mrs. Janet Schwettman of Inverness, who proposed the system last December.

Voting against the bill were state Sens. Robert McCarthy, D-Decatur, and Kenneth Hall, D-East St. Louis.

Move To Collect 'Hike' Pledges

A drive is under way this week to collect pledges still outstanding from the April 23 "Hike for Your Neighbors."

The 20-mile hike through the Northwest suburbs was held to raise funds for the Northwest Opportunity Center.

Approximately one-third of the hikers have turned in their pledges to date. The collected pledges total $8,238.

This is far short of the $20,000 goal for the hike set by the Northwest Opportunity Center.

Mrs. Rena Trevor, chairman of the hike committee and treasurer of the center's board of directors, said if everyone turned in their pledges the $20,000 goal might still be realized.

VOLUNTEERS for the center will be calling the hikers this week in an effort to get them to collect their pledges and turn them into the center.

Hikers or sponsors who have not been contacted by hikers may mail their pledges to the Northwest Opportunity Center at 3422 Kirchhoff, Rolling Meadows.

The center needs local contributions to talling $40,000 to maintain its present level of services during the 1972-73 fiscal year. It was hoped the hike would raise half of the local contributions and the remainder would be raised through church and community activities.

3 Seeking Deacon Status

Three Palatine men will be among the first class of 114 Roman Catholic men to take the initial step toward ordination as lay deacons.

The three, members of St. Thomas of Villanova Church in Palatine, are John T. Devron, 338 N. Morris Dr.; John Pistone, 919 E. Slayton Dr.; and John G. Richard, 631 Bel Aire Terr.

They will receive the sacred order of tonsure, known as Commitment to the Church, in ceremonies Sunday at Holy Name Cathedral in Chicago. John Cardinal Cody, archbishop of Chicago, and his five auxiliary bishops, will preside.

The position of lay, or permanent, deacons was recently restored to the Catholic church after centuries of disuse.

The 114 men in the Archdiocese of Chicago who are studying in the two-year program are to be ordained deacons in January.

Man Is Charged In Pub Incident

A Chicago man was arrested on three counts early Saturday following an incident at the Dirty Nellie West Irish Pub in Palatine.

Francisco Ilizarraza, 24, was charged by Palatine police with disorderly conduct, assault and resisting arrest.

Police said he refused to show identification verifying his age when he entered the tavern, 55 N. Bothwell St., and used "abusive" language.

Police took him into custody on the disorderly conduct charge, but Ilizarraza broke away, police said, and, recaptured, was charged additionally with resisting arrest.

Ilizarraza then broke away again, and police lost track of him.

He reappeared later in the evening at Dirty Nellie's, police said, where he was again placed under arrest. In the police station, he allegedly tried to kick Pltn. James Baren, and was charged with aggravated assault.

According to police, Ilizarraza felt he was discriminated against in the pub because of his Mexican heritage.

Weekend Vandals

Vandals broke five windows at Immanuel Lutheran School in Palatine over the weekend.

In addition, obscenities were written on the main door to the building at Plum Grove Road and Lincoln Street.

No damage estimate was made.

A window on a door of a nearby building, the Dental Building, 222 N. Plum Grove Rd., also was split.

Palatine police said they have no suspect in either incident.

Inverness Public Hearing Rescheduled

The public hearing on the proposed comprehensive plan for the Village of Inverness has been rescheduled.

The hearing, which was to be held Tuesday night, is now slated for 8 p.m. June 22 in the fieldhouse, 55 Highland Rd.

Track Officials Seek Permission For Cycle Races

The cheers of horse racing fans at the opening of Arlington Park Race Track this afternoon will give way to the questions of the village plan commission tonight for track officials who are seeking permission to hold a professional motorcycle race at Arlington Park the night of Sept. 9.

Residents from Arlington Heights and Rolling Meadows are expected to attend the public hearing and to express their feelings on the running of a second Yamaha Gold Cup motorcycle race at the track. The Rolling Meadows City Council voted last Tuesday to oppose the race and a council representative is expected to outline the city's objections at tonight's hearing.

Tom Rivera, public relations director for Arlington Park, said he hopes area residents who favor a second motorcycle race will also be in attendance.

LAST YEAR'S Yamaha Gold Cup attracted over 21,000 spectators to Arlington Park, a record crowd for such a motorcycle race in Illinois.

But it also drew a number of protests from neighboring residents who objected to the noise and dust generated by the racing cycles as well as the glare from lights used to illuminate the track.

Arlington Heights and Rolling Meadows police departments reported receiving a total of 221 telephone complaints the night of last year's race.

Neither department reported any major difficulties in handling the large crowd, however, and traffic from the

WARM SPRING WEATHER has lured children to dangerous, flooded construction pits throughout the area. Although many of these holes are posted against trespassing and swimming, like this one, venturesome kids have been taking their pleasures along with the risks there. Many of these unguarded ponds are deep, and additionally hazardous because of underwater debris and obstructions. (Photo by Bob Strawn.)

Emergency Care Program

Senate Panel Votes To OK Paramedical Treatment Bill

The Illinois Senate Welfare Committee yesterday recommended approval of a bill aimed at allowing paramedical personnel to administer emergency treatment to the injured and the ill.

Endorsed by the welfare committee 13 to 2, Senate Bill 1571 now goes to the Senate floor for a second reading.

Approval of the bill by the Senate and the House, which is expected, would enable fire departments and private ambulance companies in eight communities near Northwest Community Hospital in Arlington Heights to provide emergency care without fear of liability.

Swift enactment of the bill, which has the support of Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie, could allow the service to begin before the end of summer.

EXPECTED TO participate in the mobile network, the first of its kind in Illinois, are Arlington Heights, Buffalo Grove, Hoffman Estates, Inverness, Mount Prospect, Palatine, Rolling Meadows and Schaumburg.

Firemen from those communities and attendants from the Arlington and Delta ambulance firms currently are taking a training course at the hospital under the direction of Dr. Stanley Zydlo.

The service would provide limited medical treatment prior to the patient's arrival at the hospital.

The attending firemen or ambulance attendants would be in radio contact with doctors at the hospital and would administer treatment under their supervision.

ACCORDING TO A spokesman for Sen. John A. Graham, R-Barrington, sponsor of the enabling legislation, amendments are to be made to "strengthen" the bill, but it was not specified what this would involve.

The spokesman said the amendments were proposed by the Illinois Nurses Association.

Testifying for the bill were Dr. Zydlo, who is coordinating the hospital's participation in the network, and Mrs. Janet Schwettman of Inverness, who proposed the system last December.

Voting against the bill were state Sens. Robert McCarthy, D-Decatur, and Kenneth Hall, D-East St. Louis.

Track Officials Request Permit

Seek Motorcycle Race OK

The cheers of horse racing fans at the opening of Arlington Park Race Track this afternoon will give way to the questions of the village plan commission tonight for track officials who are seeking permission to hold a professional motorcycle race at Arlington Park the night of Sept. 9.

Residents from Arlington Heights and Rolling Meadows are expected to attend the public hearing and to express their feelings on the running of a second Yamaha Gold Cup motorcycle race at the track.

The Rolling Meadows City Council voted last Tuesday to oppose the race and a council representative is expected to outline the city's objections at tonight's hearing.

Tom Rivera, public relations director for Arlington Park, said he hopes area residents who favor a second motorcycle race will also be in attendance.

LAST YEAR'S Yamaha Gold Cup attracted over 21,000 spectators to Arlington Park, a record crowd for such a motorcycle race in Illinois.

But it also drew a number of protests from neighboring residents who objected to the noise and dust generated by the racing cycles as well as the glare from lights used to illuminate the track.

Arlington Heights and Rolling Meadows police departments reported receiving a total of 221 telephone complaints the night of last year's race.

Neither department reported any major difficulties in handling the large crowd, however, and traffic from the race track was described by police as more orderly than on an average afternoon during the horse racing season.

Rivera said Arlington Park plans to make a number of modifications in the operation of this year's race based on its experience last year.

THE CHANGES, which Rivera said he would explain at tonight's meeting, are designed to reduce the effect of lights, noise and dust on the surrounding residents, he said.

Chicago Thoroughbred Enterprises, (CTE), owners and operators of Arlington Park Race Track, are planning a third motorcycle race for Washington Park Race Track in Homewood.

The Arlington Heights Village Board did not officially take any action to halt last year's cycle race after Village Atty. Jack Siegel said the race was legal within the terms of the annexation agreement between the track and the village.

Several weeks after last year's race, the trustees met with CTE Pres. Jack Loomer and reached an understanding that future motorcycle races would require a special use permit from the village.

CTE's application for a special use permit to hold this year's race is the subject of tonight's public hearing.

If the plan commission acts favorably on the application the special use permit will still have to be okayed by the village board before the race can be held.

Move To Collect 'Hike' Pledges

A drive is under way this week to collect pledges still outstanding from the April 23 "Hike for Your Neighbors."

The 20-mile hike through the Northwest suburbs was held to raise funds for the Northwest Opportunity Center.

Approximately one-third of the hikers have turned in their pledges to date. The collected pledges total $8,298.

This is far short of the $20,000 goal for the hike set by the Northwest Opportunity Center.

Mrs. Rena Trevor, chairman of the hike committee and treasurer of the center's board of directors, said if everyone turned in their pledges the $20,000 goal might still be realized.

VOLUNTEERS for the center will be calling the hikers this week in an effort to get them to collect their pledges and turn them into the center.

Hikers or sponsors who have not been contacted by hikers may mail their pledges to the Northwest Opportunity Center at 3422 Kirchoff, Rolling Meadows.

The center needs local contributions to-talling $40,000 to maintain its present level of services during the 1972-73 fiscal year. It was hoped the hike would raise half of the local contributions and the remainder would be raised through church and community activities.

$8,765 Donated To Jan Kathy Fund

A check for $8,765 has been presented to Mr. and Mrs. Neal Peterson of Rolling Meadows to help defray expenses accumulated during the hospitalization of their daughter Jan Kathy, who died in March.

The money was presented by the Aid Association for Lutherans, a fraternal life insurance group. About $5,270 was raised at a benefit here in March. The remaining $3,495 was contributed in matching funds by the association's home office in Appleton, Wis.

Jan Kathy was born with a heart defect described as a hole through the heart wall. She had several major operations from the time she was 5½ months old until her death.

RIGHT ON SCHEDULE sums up the progress report on construction of the new Palatine Hills Junior High School on Smith Street in Palatine. With the footings and foundations for the special education and fine arts wings already in, workmen have started on the "hex." The "hex" is the academic portion of the school and is centrally located to all of the wings. The school is scheduled to open in the fall of 1973.

Palatine Hills Junior High One-Third Complete

Palatine Hills Junior High School will be one-third completed at the end of this week.

Robert Wellov, assistant superintendent at the site for the general contractors of Kiendl Construction Co., said the structural phase of construction will be completed next week when the last structural steel is put in place.

Construction is a week to two weeks behind schedule, according to Wellov. He said that extensive rain this spring delayed work. Time is being picked up now with the nice weather.

The structural steel is already up in the academic "hex" area, special education wing, gymnasium, garage and various other areas. All of the footings and foundations are in.

THE MASONERS have started putting up the walls on the special education wing. This wing was started first and is the only part of the building with electrical wiring, plumbing and a concrete floor already in.

Located beneath the special education wing is a basement that will be used for storage.

The school is being built tri-level to follow the natural terrain of the land. The garage and buses are located so they will not be visible from Smith Street, which the school faces. The garage will have three bays and three hoists when completed.

When Palatine Hills Junior High is completed all of the buses will be moved from Stuart Paddock School in Palatine where they are presently located to the new site.

The school is scheduled for completion by the spring of 1973. By November the contractors hope to have the building totally enclosed so they can work inside during the winter.

Was Park Coup For The Best?

by JOANN VAN WYE

When the Rolling Meadows Park District Commissioners decided it was time for a change they wasted no time and looked right to the top.

In less than a month, four of the five commissioners pulled off one of the biggest coups in the history of Rolling Meadows and managed to get rid of Dean Hallerud as director of parks and recreation.

Details of the coup will probably never surface since Hallerud, faced with the choice of resigning or not being reappointed as director last Thursday, chose to resign.

With Hallerud out of the way, the board apparently thought its problems were solved and adopted the philosophy, "Anyone has got to be better than Hallerud."

Following an executive session Thursday, which lasted five minutes at most, the board unanimously appointed Steve Person, superintendent of recreation as the new director.

Person was the logical choice for interim director since he is familiar with the district. But permanent director? At best the board is getting a younger and less experienced director, who is the protege of Hallerud.

PERSON, 24, has only two years experience, in the park district plus some summer experience in other districts. His experience has all been under Halle-rud's directorship. First he worked with Hallerud during the summers in the Westchester Park District and then he joined the Rolling Meadows Park District staff after graduation from Illinois State University.

After their "problems" with Hallerud, it would seem the board would exercise a little caution and not be so quick to replace him — especially since Hallerud will remain as advisor-consultant through Aug. 1.

The park district has a sports complex which is the envy of surrounding districts, good programs and almost unlimited potential for development. The fact that it is located in a city with a surplus of revenue which has seen fit to aid other taxing bodies in their quest for additional revenue only adds to the park district's potential.

With all this going for the park district, it seems there would be little problem luring people experienced in park district administration to apply for the position of director.

Perhaps after interviewing other candidates the board would still feel Person was the best qualified and appoint him director. But at least they would have looked.

As elected officials, the park commissioners have a responsibility to explain to residents why they circumvented the interviewing process and didn't even look to the outside before appointing Person as director.

Zoning Meet Tonight

A Rolling Meadows' Special Zoning Commission tonight will hear a request to rezoning upon annexation a 60-acre tract near Harper College that would eventually be developed for multi-family and commercial use.

Man Is Charged In Pub Incident

A Chicago man was arrested on three counts early Saturday following an incident at the Dirty Nellie West Irish Pub in Palatine.

Francisco Ilizarraza, 24, was charged by Palatine police with disorderly conduct, assault and resisting arrest.

Police said he refused to show identification verifying his age when he entered the tavern, 55 N. Bothwell St., and used "abusive" language.

Police took him into custody on the disorderly conduct charge, but Ilizarraza broke away, police said, and, recaptured, was charged additionally with resisting arrest.

Ilizarraza then broke away again, and police lost track of him.

He reappeared later in the evening at Dirty Nellie's, police said, where he was again placed under arrest. In the police station, he allegedly tried to kick Ptm. James Baren, and was charged with aggravated assault.

According to police, Ilizarraza felt he was discriminated against in the pub because of his Mexican heritage.

Clearbrook Rental Decision Near

A decision may come next week on whether Clearbrook Center will be able to rent the convent at Sacred Heart of Mary High School and convert it to a live-in center for retarded adults.

Yesterday, Clearbrook executive director Byrn Witt said he has met with representatives of the Archdiocese of Chicago, which owns the property, and is awaiting their decision which "possibly may come by the first of next week."

Witt said the archdiocese is having the property assessed to determine its value and a corresponding rental price.

The Northwest Human Resources Development Center now rents the convent under an agreement made with the former owners, the Religious of the Sacred Heart. The resources center is also interested in renting the convent from the archdiocese.

Witt said the possibility was raised of both agencies sharing the facilities, but said he did not know if that is a workable plan.

Clearbrook's directors would like to use the convent for a community living center for about 20 mildly and moderately retarded adults who would come from the area that Clearbrook serves.

ALTHOUGH IT would be primarily a residential facility, it also would provide training programs in educational, vocational and recreational rehabilitation. The residence would be supervised by a full-time staff of "house parents" and assistants.

Clearbrook has already been granted state funds to maintain such a facility, and is now awaiting word on a federal "start-up" grant that will cover initial expenses for starting the center.

The Illinois Governor's Advisory Council on Developmental Disabilities is supposed to approve or deny Clearbrook's request for $32,000 in federal funds before June 7.

The governor's council allocates federal health, education and welfare funds available under the Developmental Disabilities Act. A decision on Clearbrook's request was to have been made in April but was postponed.

When Witt revealed the plans for the adult center in March, he said these hinged on the ability of Clearbrook to obtain the federal money.

But yesterday he said Clearbrook is exploring other means of financing the initial operating costs of such a center and is also looking for alternate sites if the convent is unavailable.

He would not elaborate on the details of these explorations.

ONE OF THE Northwest Suburbs newest landmarks, a 148-foot light tower at the new Wickes furniture store under construction on Dundee Road in Wheeling, was erected Friday afternoon. The tower, which required a large crane to set it up, will be visible for several miles around. It is similar to light towers at other Wickes stores in the suburbs.

Paddock School Slates Graduation

Stuart R. Paddock School in Palatine will graduate its last eighth grade class on June 6 at 8 p.m. at the school.

Howie Developer May Be Revealed Today

The future developer of the Howie-In-The-Hills property in Hoffman Estates, may be made public at 2 p.m. today when attorneys representing a federal receivership report on the bids of prospective purchasers.

The development, along with the Apple Orchard development in Bartlett, is up for sale along with other assets of the defunct City Savings and Loan Association, Chicago, which was put into federal receivership in 1968.

The attorneys, Steven Bashwiner and Don Reuben, will report to Federal Judge William Campbell, who appointed the receivership and who last month set today as the target date to obtain a $10 million bid for the two sites, or as close to that figure as possible.

Among groups seen as potential purchasers is the Teamsters Union Pension Fund, which was ordered by Judge Campbell in April to meet with Bashwiner and Reuben to discuss a possible agreement.

Judge Campbell indicated he might settle for less than the $10 million should the Pension Fund purchase the two sites, with the understanding the fund would draw a $1.7 million suit to recover funds loaned for development of the Howie land prior to the appointing of the receivership.

The land is tied up in a number of suits involving Hoffman Estates village government, charging the village and former officials with fraud in obtaining court approval of a special assessment to finance improvements to the land.

Sale could be contingent on settlement of all suits and the granting of desired zoning by the village.

Parks Beef-Up Security Due To Theft, Vandals

Added security measures will be taken at two Mount Prospect park facilities in the wake of an outbreak of vandalism and thefts over the holiday weekend.

Three incidents at the Lions Park Community Center and one at the Mount Prospect Country Club, 600 See-Gwon Ave. involving broken windows and stolen equipment has been estimated to cost over $3,000 by Paul Caldwell, assistant director of the park district.

The worst of the incidents occurred sometime Monday night when the windows in a glass door on the west side of the center were smashed and the building was entered. A tape recorder, a cordless loudspeaker, two radio communication units, and seven stop watches along with a 35 mm camera, two radio speakers and a turntable were stolen.

A set of keys was also taken and used to gain entry into the country club where a radio and a microphone were taken early yesterday morning.

ANOTHER INCIDENT happened late

Report 4 Cases Of Vandalism Over Weekend

Four cases of vandalism, besides the ones at the Mount Prospect Park District facilities, were reported to Mount Prospect police over the Memorial Day weekend.

Windows were broken at River Trails Junior High School, 1000 N. Wolf Rd., and Feenhanville School, Kensington and Wolf roads, where bricks were thrown through two windows.

The other two incidents were a BB shot breaking a window at 209 N. Forest Ave., and a smashed gas light at 1810 Oneida Ln.

This was the third weekend for the police department's "Operation Vandalism." It was used on Friday night only, however. Police officials believe their added task force cars have cut down on vandalism though they are unsure to what degree.

Police Chief Bert Giddens said the weekend task force will operate at least "until the end of school." Then the program will be evaluated.

Giddens said that in April, there were 164 cases of vandalism with 52 of these occurring in the same area. "We have to do something," he said, and the task force has become his prime weapon against vandalism.

Six persons were arrested by task force members for curfew violations Friday night. It is illegal for youths under 18 years of age to be out after midnight. The reaction of parents whose children have been arrested for curfew violations has been good, according to Giddens.

In three weeks, task force members have now made 40 arrests. Thirty youths have been charged with curfew violations.

Friday night when a glass door on the west side of the center was smashed and about $10 in change was taken from a vending machine.

"Apparently, the person who did it cut himself because there were a few small blood stains on it," said Caldwell. "It couldn't have been anything serious though."

The other incident occurred Monday between noon and 2 p.m. when a brick was thrown through Caldwell's office window on the southwest side of the center. "This was probably not a break-in attempt because the hole made by the brick was too small for anyone to enter the office."

Caldwell said he found his office completely ransacked from Tuesday morning's robbery. "Every drawer in my desk had been opened and overturned. Books pulled from the shelves were strewn all over the floor, and obscenities were written on the walls."

THE FACT THAT most of the stolen articles consisted of musical equipment such as radios, speakers, and a turntable led Caldwell to believe that it was probably teenagers who were responsible for the damage, and the thefts.

Neither the two park district security employees on duty at the time nor Mount Prospect Police saw any of the vandalism taking place and have no leads at this time.

Police officials have said that the park district should designate an hour at which youths must be out of the parks which would facilitate policing them.

Security measures will be stepped up for an indefinite period according to Caldwell who added that the locks will be changed on the center's warming shelter and storage room. These rooms are opened with the keys which were stolen Monday night.

Caldwell who has been with the park district for three years said "these are the worst acts of vandalism and stealing I've seen since I've been here."

Burglary 'Rings' Reported In Area

Two ring thefts from the same apartment building were reported over the weekend to Mount Prospect police.

Investigation of the two burglaries at 1500 W. Dempster St. is still going on and police said they could not yet determine whether both were by the same person.

A diamond ring, valued at $1,300, was taken from the apartment of Mrs. Dorcas West Friday. The ring was the only item taken from a jewelry box. Other valuables, including a $600 string of pearls, were not taken.

Two men's rings, valued at $199, were taken early Saturday from the apartment of Joe Stefanovic.

Both apartments were on the same floor. A pry-bar was apparently used to gain entry in both cases.

DONNA GLINKA of Mount Prospect and Garrett Hopkins of Des Plaines demonstrate the winning style that brought them a first place trophy in aquatic art in international competition last year. They will fly to England this week to represent the United States in an international aquatic art symposium.

'Aquatic Art' To England

by CAROL RHYNE.

The United States will be represented by a teacher from Devonshire School in Des Plaines this week at an artistic swimming symposium in Stevenage, England, near London.

Donna Glinka of Mount Prospect is one of the top swimmers in the world in the little-known sport of aquatic art, which is like acting out a story in the water. Last year she and her partner, Garrett Hopkins of Des Plaines, won a first place trophy in mixed duets in international aquatic art competition.

Mrs. Glinka and Hopkins will present the number that won them top honors as well as help conduct a workshop on mixed duets at the symposium sponsored by the International Academy of Aquatic Art from June 1-4.

"Aquatic art is a more creative form of swimming, than water ballet or synchronized swimming," she said. "It takes a strong swimmer but speed is not important."

"I STARTED aquatic art at Wright Junior College in Chicago in 1955, and I have been doing it ever since between children," the petite mother of five said.

She said she practiced for 10 years before entering the mixed duet competition which won her a total of four first-place trophies from the International Academy of Aquatic Art. After she won her third first place trophy in 1970, she was awarded a lifetime membership in the Swimming Hall of Fame in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., where five pictures of her swimming talents are on permanent display.

Mrs. Glinka said it takes about a year to perfect the three or four-minute routines that have won her international honors. "I make up all of my own routines and originality is important. I guess a person needs to be a little far out to come up with the winning ideas."

Last year she and Hopkins won with a number entitled, "The Sheik," a comic take on an old Rudolph Valentino movie. "It was the first time I had ever tried adapting comedy to aquatic art," she said. "I thought of the idea, and then my partner (Hopkins) and I worked out the technical side of it."

"AQUATIC ART is ageless; you don't have to be really young to compete like in the racing events," Mrs. Glinka said. "I practice only three to five hours a week because of family responsibilities, but I have been swimming so long my muscles are attuned to the exercise."

"Aquatic art is a relaxation for me," she said. "It is my creative outlet away from school, housework and family."

Aquatic art is strictly an amateur event and Mrs. Glinka pays her own way to meet, including the upcoming symposium in England. She said there is a movement under way to get aquatic art accepted as an official Olympic event, but it is too late to get competition in this summer's Olympics in Munich, Germany.

Mrs. Glinka said the biggest problem with aquatic art is finding a place to practice. "We have been using the Mount Prospect Park District pool at Dempster Junior High to get ready for the symposium, but I don't know where we'll practice later."

Paramedic Bill Gets Panel's OK

The Illinois Senate Welfare Committee yesterday recommended approval of a bill aimed at allowing paramedical personnel to administer emergency treatment to the injured and the ill.

Endorsed by the welfare committee 13 to 2, Senate Bill 1571 now goes to the Senate floor for a second reading.

Approval of the bill by the Senate and the House, which is expected, would enable fire departments and private ambulance companies in eight communities near Northwest Community Hospital in Arlington Heights to provide emergency care without fear of liability.

Swift enactment of the bill, which has the support of Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie, could allow the service to begin before the end of summer.

EXPECTED TO participate in the mobile network, the first of its kind in Illinois, are Arlington Heights, Buffalo Grove, Hoffman Estates, Inverness, Mount Prospect, Palatine, Rolling Meadows and Schaumburg.

Firemen from those communities and attendants from the Arlington and Delta ambulance firms currently are taking a training course at the hospital under the direction of Dr. Stanley Zydlo.

The service would provide limited medical treatment prior to the patient's arrival at the hospital.

The attending firemen or ambulance attendants would be in radio contact with doctors at the hospital and would administer treatment under their supervision.

ACCORDING TO A spokesman for Sen. John A. Graham, R-Barrington, sponsor of the enabling legislation, amendments are to be made to "strengthen" the bill, but it was not specified what this would involve.

The spokesman said the amendments were proposed by the Illinois Nurses Association.

Testifying for the bill were Dr. Zydlo, who is coordinating the hospital's participation in the network, and Mrs. Janet Schweitman of Inverness, who proposed the system last December.

Voting against the bill were state Sens. Robert McCarthy, D-Decatur, and Kenneth Hall, D-East St. Louis.

Area-Wide Bike Route Supported

Representatives of park districts in seven Northwest suburbs have expressed enthusiasm about an area-wide bicycle route and have agreed to work together to set one up.

A regional bike route mapped by the Northeastern Illinois Planning Commission and the Council of Governments of Cook County was endorsed at a meeting of the park district officials Friday in Arlington Heights.

Represented at the meeting were Arlington Heights, Des Plaines, Elk Grove Village, Mount Prospect, Palatine, Rolling Meadows and Wheeling. Buffalo Grove representatives did not attend.

Roger A. Bjorvik of Palatine, attorney for the Palatine Park District and vice chairman of the county governmental council, said the route would connect the communities, allowing bicyclists safe and clearly marked paths to such recreational areas as Busse Woods, Deer Grove Forest Preserve and the Des Plaines River.

He indicated the purpose of the bike path is twofold: transportation and recreational.

PART OF THE path would probably utilize Commonwealth Edison Co., Northern Illinois Gas Co., and Cook County Forest Preserve District rights-of-way, and part would consist simply of identifiable bike trail signs along roadways, he said.

Bjorvik said he was unable to estimate the cost of an area-wide project because it depends upon how much land has to be acquired and the terms of the agreements.

Hearings are now taking place before a subcommittee of the House Public Works Committee in Washington on the Bicycle Transportation Act of 1971. The act, sponsored by New York Congressman Edward Koch in the House, and Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., in the Senate, would provide motor fuel tax funds for acquisition and development of land for bicycle paths.

The seven local park district representatives are to discuss the plans for a bike path with their organizations, then report back for another meeting July 13.

Seek OK For Cycle Races At Track

The cheers of horse racing fans at the opening of Arlington Park Race Track this afternoon will give way to the questions of the village plan commission tonight for track officials who are seeking permission to hold a professional motorcycle race at Arlington Park the night of Sept. 9.

Residents from Arlington Heights and Rolling Meadows are expected to attend the public hearing and to express their feelings on the running of a second Yamaha Gold Cup motorcycle race at the track.

The Rolling Meadows City Council voted last Tuesday to oppose the race and a council representative is expected to outline the city's objections at tonight's hearing.

Tom Rivera, public relations director for Arlington Park, said he hopes area residents who favor a second motorcycle race will also be in attendance.

LAST YEAR'S Yamaha Gold Cup attracted over 21,000 spectators to Arlington Park, a record crowd for such a motorcycle race in Illinois.

But it also drew a number of protests from neighboring residents who objected to the noise and dust generated by the racing cycles as well as the glare from lights used to illuminate the track.

Arlington Heights and Rolling Meadows police departments reported receiving a total of 221 telephone complaints the night of last year's race.

Neither department reported any major difficulties in handling the large crowd, however, and traffic from the race track was described by police as more orderly than on an average afternoon during the horse racing season.

Rivera said Arlington Park plans to make a number of modifications in the operation of this year's race based on its experience last year.

THE CHANGES, which Rivera said he would explain at tonight's meeting, are designed to reduce the effect of lights, noise and dust on the surrounding residents, he said.

Chicago Thoroughbred Enterprises (CTE), owners and operators of Arlington Park Race Track, are planning a third motorcycle race for Washington Park Race Track in Homewood.

The Arlington Heights Village Board did not officially take any action to halt last year's cycle race after Village Atty. Jack Siegel said the race was legal within the terms of the annexation agreement between the track and the village.

Several weeks after last year's race, the trustees met with CTE Pres. Jack Loomer and reached an understanding that future motorcycle races would require a special use permit from the village.

CTE's application for a special use permit to hold this year's race is the subject of tonight's public hearing.

If the plan commission acts favorably on the application the special use permit will still have to be okayed by the village board before the race can be held.

Book Fair Next Week

A book fair will be held next Monday through Thursday in Prospect Heights.

The fair is sponsored by PTAs at Eisenhower, Ross and Sullivan schools.

The fair will be open 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Monday through Thursday and from 7 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. Tuesday. It will be at Eisenhower and Sullivan schools only.

Book prices range from 15 cents to $7.95, with most books costing less than $1.

2 Teens Finalists In Poster Contest

Two Prospect Heights teenagers are among 50 finalists in the 1972 environmental poster design contest sponsored by the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency.

Kip Hahn, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hahn, 301 Circle Dr. and Kim Cowen, also 14, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Cowen, 13 Kenilworth Ave. are eligible for the final judging to be held this week.

They are both students at MacArthur Junior High School, Schoenbeck and Palatine roads, Prospect Heights.

Vacation Church School Opens June 19

A combined vacation church school will be held June 19-29 by South Church-Community Baptist and Trinity United Methodist Church, both in Mount Prospect.

Classes for children 3 years old through kindergarten age will be at Trinity, 605 W. Golf Rd. Classes for those who have completed the first through the sixth grades will be held at South Church, 501 S. Emerson St.

Classes will be held 9:30 a.m. to 11:45 a.m. Monday through Friday during the two weeks the school is operated. Registration is free. Pre-registration blanks are available at both church offices.

2 Court Cases Are Continued Here

Continuances were granted last week for two men, one from Mount Prospect and one from Palatine, charged in separate incidents with contributing to the sexual delinquency of minors.

William G. Boltz, 20, of 1410 Busse Rd., was charged in an April 27 incident involving a 16-year-old Mount Prospect girl. Fred Pena Jr., 23, of 196 Rand Rd., Palatine, faced a similar charge in a May 16 incident with a 17-year-old Mount Prospect girl.

Both cases were continued to June 30 in Mount Prospect court.

A rousing chorus of "Goodbye, Dorothy" (to the tune of "Hello, Dolly") rang out at Fairview School recently as parents and staff members said good-by to Dorothy O'Neil. The farewell party, taking the place of the PTA May meeting, was a surprise for Mrs. O'Neil. She is retiring after 16 years as school secretary.

She came to Fairview in 1953, the year it opened. Mrs. Helen Sulzbach was the school's first principal. Since then Mrs. O'Neil has seen to building additions and worked with two other principals.

At the surprise party, principal Cyril Kozel and former principal Robert Morgan spoke of Mrs. O'Neil's efficiency and graciousness. Morgan is now principal of a school in Wheaton.

Members of the school's PTA board presented Mrs. O'Neil with a silver charm bracelet, representing her years at the school with a tiny swivel chair, desk, first-aid kit, and telephone. In addition, each child at the school made her a farewell drawing or letter.

Past PTA presidents Betty Elmore, Lois Nelson, and Jane Hirz were present to add their best wishes to the occasion. New officers for the 1972-73 school were installed. They are Vera Miller, president; Joan Clarton, first vice president; Reenie Schmitz, second vice president; Sue Ryan, secretary; and Leo Charron, treasurer.

AVIS POHL, with her autoharp, will provide a musical treat for preschoolers at this week's story hour at the Mount Prospect Public Library. She will be the last session for the school year. It will begin at 10:30 Thursday morning.

AIRMAN DAVID TONG, son of Margaret Tong of 3 Oxford Pl., has completed his U.S. Air Force basic training at the Air Training Command's Lackland Air Force Base in Texas. He has been assigned to Keesler Fair Force Base in Mississippi for training in communication-electronics systems.

Marsha Schnirring, 920 Wheeling Rd., has been appointed to the 20-member Permanent Conference at Knox College in Galesburg, Ill. This group, which includes students, faculty, and administrators, meets regularly to discuss college problems.

Allen Waishwell, 104 S. Edward St., recently completed a spring concert tour with the Meistersingers of the University of Wisconsin-Whitewater. The singers performed in five Wisconsin towns during the tour. Allen is a sophomore majoring in medical technology.

'Convenient' Bandit Hunt

A gunman held up a north side Des Plaines food store Monday night and escaped with between $100 and $125 in cash.

According to Des Plaines police, the bandit entered the Convenient Food Store, 590 Central Rd. at 10:05 p.m. and approached sales clerk, William Farber, who was alone in the store.

Farber told police the holdup man walked up to him and pulled a gun from his jacket pocket. Farber said the gunman told him to go to the back of the store but he refused to do so.

Farber said the holdup man then demanded all the money in the cash register and Farber placed the cash in a brown paper bag.

The bandit then fled from the store. Witnesses outside told police the man drove away in a tan auto but they couldn't determine the make.

The holdup man was described as 5 feet 8 inches tall with a stocky build and wearing a maroon jacket.

Hire Consultant To Sell Tennis Facility Bonds

A financial consultant was hired last night by the Arlington Heights Park board to help sell revenue bonds to build a tennis facility at Forest View Park.

The firm, Howard W. Voss Associates, Inc., will prepare a financial planning report, plan the selling of revenue bonds, and assist in the selling of the bonds. The cost of the project will be $950 payable after the financial report is completed and $4,000 payable after the bonds are sold.

Eye $450,000 Park Projects

Amid protests of rising tax rates, the Arlington Heights Park Board last night discussed more than $450,000 worth of park improvements to be included in the upcoming referendum.

Before finalizing the proposed improvements, the commissioners decided to tour the parks Saturday to have a better idea of what is currently at the sites and what needs to be done.

According to Mrs. Vincent A. Cunningham, who represented the St. James Women's Guild at the meeting, the park district plans are too "grandiose" for the current economic climate.

"I want to be able to retire here; I don't want to be pushed out by ever-increasing taxes," Mrs. Cunningham said. "And every little bit counts."

IF THE REFERENDUM, which includes an indoor ice facility as well as improvements at neighborhood parks, passes, it will add about $5 per $10,000 assessed valuation to the tax bill of park district residents. The tax rate of the park district would rise from .365 to .431.

"Since 1969, our tax rate has been dropping," said Lloyd Meyer, park board commissioner. "Even if the referendum passes, the tax rate would start downward again the next year."

In 1969, the park district tax rate was .442.

"The board wants to provide the most facilities for the least amount of tax dollars," Atty. Charles Bobinette said. "In fact the board resolved last week to pledge the profits from the ice rink to abate taxes that will arise from the issuance of the general obligation bonds."

The problem of passing a referendum was also discussed at the meeting. The referendum will cost the district an estimated $2,500.

ACCORDING TO A survey by marketing expert Carl Larson, which was taken last fall, "it is doubtful if a referendum would pass for anything at this time." Another survey cited was one compiled by the Arlington Heights Jaycees, which stated that 54 per cent of the park district residents would vote for a referendum to build an indoor ice facility.

"There is a risk involved in this referendum," said Robert Clark, chairman of the citizens ice facility committee. "But there definitely is a demand for the facility, and the referendum can be passed if the people are properly informed."

"If no bonds are issued for the project, you shall be under no obligation to us for such fee ($4,000)," according to the Voss proposal.

"The essential service that the board is buying here is the sale of the bonds," said Charles Bobinette, park district attorney.

Last week, the park district resolved to sell about $600,000 worth of revenue bonds to finance the six-court facility to be built adjacent to Forest View High School, Goebbert and Falcon in south Arlington Heights.

ACCORDING TO the most recent cost estimates, the estimated construction cost will be $575,000, the architect's fees will be about $48,875, the financial consultant will cost $5,000, attorney fees will be $5,000, surveys and soil tests will cost $1,000, and miscellaneous expenses will total $1,000. Therefore, the grand total of the project is now expected to amount to $635,875.

The total cost would be about $5,000 less if the architect fees for the facility were combined with architect fees for a proposed indoor ice skating facility and other park district improvements to be made if a referendum passes.

Architect Joe Bennett, who has been working without a contract and without pay on both the tennis and ice facilities, would reduce his rates from 8.5 per cent on the tennis facility to 7.5 per cent if the contracts were combined.

Since revenue bonds will be used to pay for the tennis facility, the tax rate of the park district will not be affected. Therefore, park district residents will not be asked to pay for the facility through added taxes. The bonds, which will probably mature in 15 years, will be paid off by revenue generated by the facility.

THE LAND on which the facility will be built is already owned by the park district, and is now vacant. Other future plans for the land, which will not be disrupted by the tennis building, include an indoor swimming pool and a tot play lot. The existing outdoor courts will also not be disrupted.

According to the tennis facility citizen's committee, chaired by Frederick Leydig, the membership rate for the facility will be almost half of what it costs to belong to a private club. Rates have tentatively been set at $80 per family, $30 per adult and $15 per junior.

WARM SPRING WEATHER has lured children to dangerous, flooded construction pits throughout the area. Although many of these holes are posted against trespassing and swimming, like this one, venturesome kids have been taking their pleasures along with the risks there. Many of these unguarded ponds are deep, and additionally hazardous because of underwater debris and obstructions. (Photo by Bob Strawn.)

Seek Cycle Race OK From Board

The cheers of horse racing fans at the opening of Arlington Park Race Track this afternoon will give way to the questions of the village plan commission tonight for track officials who are seeking permission to hold a professional motorcycle race at Arlington Park the night of Sept. 9.

Residents from Arlington Heights and Rolling Meadows are expected to attend the public hearing and to express their feelings on the running of a second Yamaha Gold Cup motorcycle race at the track.

The Rolling Meadows City Council voted last Tuesday to oppose the race and a council representative is expected to outline the city's objections at tonight's hearing.

Tom Rivera, public relations director for Arlington Park, said he hopes area residents who favor a second motorcycle race will also be in attendance.

LAST YEAR'S Yamaha Gold Cup attracted over 21,000 spectators to Arlington Park, a record crowd for such a motorcycle race in Illinois.

But it also drew a number of protests from neighboring residents who objected to the noise and dust generated by the racing cycles as well as the glare from lights used to illuminate the track.

Arlington Heights and Rolling Meadows police departments reported receiving a total of 221 telephone complaints the night of last year's race.

Neither department reported any major difficulties in handling the large crowd, however, and traffic from the race track was described by police as more orderly than on an average afternoon during the horse racing season.

Rivera said Arlington Park plans to make a number of modifications in the operation of this year's race based on its experience last year.

THE CHANGES, which Rivera said he would explain at tonight's meeting, are designed to reduce the effect of lights, noise and dust on the surrounding residents, he said.

Chicago Thoroughbred Enterprises (CTE), owners and operators of Arlington Park Race Track, are planning a third motorcycle race for Washington Park Race Track in Homewood.

The Arlington Heights Village Board did not officially take any action to halt last year's cycle race after Village Atty. Jack Siegel said the race was legal within the terms of the annexation agreement between the track and the village.

Several weeks after last year's race, the trustees met with CTE Pres. Jack Loomer and reached an understanding that future motorcycle races would require a special use permit from the village.

CTE's application for a special use permit to hold this year's race is the subject of tonight's public hearing.

If the plan commission acts favorably on the application the special use permit will still have to be okayed by the village board before the race can be held.

Senate Panel OKs Paramedic Bill

The Illinois Senate Welfare Committee yesterday recommended approval of a bill aimed at allowing paramedical personnel to administer emergency treatment to the injured and the ill.

Endorsed by the welfare committee 13 to 2, Senate Bill 1571 now goes to the Senate floor for a second reading.

Approval of the bill by the Senate and the House, which is expected, would enable fire departments and private ambulance companies in eight communities near Northwest Community Hospital in Arlington Heights to provide emergency care without fear of liability.

Swift enactment of the bill, which has the support of Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie, could allow the service to begin before the end of summer.

EXPECTED TO participate in the mobile network, the first of its kind in Illinois, are Arlington Heights, Buffalo Grove, Hoffman Estates, Inverness, Mount Prospect, Palatine, Rolling Meadows and Schaumburg.

Firemen from those communities and attendants from the Arlington and Delta ambulance firms currently are taking a training course at the hospital under the direction of Dr. Stanley Zydlo.

The service would provide limited medical treatment prior to the patient's arrival at the hospital.

ACCORDING TO A spokesman for Sen. John A. Graham, R-Barrington, sponsor of the enabling legislation, amendments are to be made to "strengthen" the bill, but it was not specified what this would involve.

The spokesman said the amendments were proposed by the Illinois Nurses Association.

Testifying for the bill were Dr. Zydlo, who is coordinating the hospital's participation in the network, and Mrs. Janet Schwetman of Inverness, who proposed the system last December.

Discount Store Capital Here?

by KURT BAER

The Arlington Heights shopper looking for a quality department store in which to spend his money today has only one choice — to get out of town.

Drawn like iron filings toward the two giant merchandising magnets, Randhurst and Woodfield, Arlington Heights shoppers who want to stay in Arlington Heights must either content themselves with visiting the one-item stores downtown or turn to their local discount store.

Tonight the Arlington Heights Plan Commission will begin hearings on plans for a fifth major discount department store within the village — a Venture store, proposed for the southeast corner of Golf and Algonquin roads.

In a community where 83.5 per cent of the residents have a household income of more than $12,000 a year (20 per cent more than $25,000 a year), the logic of using Arlington Heights as a discount store capital for the Northwest suburbs seems at first difficult to understand.

BUT CONSIDER some of the economic benefits of an Arlington Heights location that transcend the characteristics of the local population.

By locating along Algonquin Road between Arlington Heights Road and Rte. 53, K-Mart, Penney's discount store in Rolling Meadows and, if approved, Venture, have the obvious benefits of tollway access.

"Just off the Northwest Tollway" puts a store within an easy half-hour drive for hundreds of thousands of shoppers.

Similarly, a Rand Road or even a Northwest Highway address also guarantees a high traffic flow.

Arlington Heights also is probably the most recognizable name of the Northwest suburbs among non-area residents, another advertising plus.

And despite the usual protest of developers, the demands of village landscaping, building, parking, lighting and sign regulations ultimately make for a better-looking store in the eyes of most shoppers. And a store that's pleasant to shop in stands a better chance of making a bigger buck than a store whose appearance drives people away.

THE POINT is that building another discount store in Arlington Heights, particularly along Algonquin Road, may benefit the store more than the village's residents.

Obviously the village government will get additional sales tax dollars from every new store built here. But it can find tax dollars in many other kinds of retail developments.

It will, providing it does not go bankrupt, increase the assessed valuation of the village which may help single family homeowners in their battle against rising property taxes.

But the proposed site now is zoned industrial and a light manufacturing plant would also fatten the tax base.

It is an indisputable fact that people do shop at discount stores. They are an integral part of today's commercial landscape. For countless household items they are the cheapest and most convenient places to shop.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS residents already have the opportunity to shop at many different discount stores throughout the area and it would be hard to imagine a case where anyone would have to go much out of his way to find one.

But like a gas station on every corner, or low-income housing in every neighborhood, a city can get too much of a good thing.

Arlington Heights has already met whatever obligation it may have had to its discount-store-shopping residents.

CHARLIE BROWN, played by Hersey High School sophomore Tony Zungrone, shares his problems with psychiatrist Lucy (Sue Crom) in the Hersey High production of "You're a Good Man Charlie Brown. The play will be presented Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m. at the school. Other cast members include Dave Nunes as Snoopy and Kary Miller as Linus.

Officials Express 'Mixed Emotions'

Open Meetings Questioned

Open negotiations between boards and teachers in elementary school districts 21 and 23 have been continuing for more than three months. The effect of these open meetings has been described with mixed emotions by spokesmen for the bargaining teams.

"They may prove to be valuable — I haven't formed a conclusion yet," said Larry Halter, Illinois Education Association representative. Halter serves as spokesman for the Wheeling Faculty Council in Dist. 21 and the Prospect Heights Education Association in Dist. 23. Both organizations represent teachers.

Halter added, "Negotiations being open to the public has its good and its bad points. It's really like six of one and half dozen of the other."

Board spokesmen take more vivid stands when discussing the open talks.

Henry Valley, Dist. 23 spokesman and attorney for the district said, "I don't think we accomplish anything with open negotiations. It's harder to compromise in public."

John Barger, Dist. 21 spokesman and assistant superintendent in the district, said, "It really doesn't matter that the talks are open. We have nothing to hide at the bargaining table and it gives residents of the district a clearer picture of what's going on."

Barger added, "I don't think anything would be different if the talks were closed. We'd still be bargaining the same item."

HALTER AGREED with Barger's comments. He added, "If anyone has been hurt by these open talks it has been the board in Dist. 23, when the board refused to continue bargaining."

Dist. 23's board refused to go into salary negotiations before the procedural package of the contract was closed. Thus the PHEA has called for an impasse and both teams are now in the process of finding a mediator.

Halter continued, "In Dist. 21 I would say no one has really been hurt by the open meetings. In some cases it has helped both sides."

Barger feels that if the talks were closed they would probably be at the same point they are now in Dist. 21. L.S.

21 negotiations are currently in the salary bargaining stage, with three items still open in the procedural package.

Valley disagrees. "If the talks in Dist. 23 were closed we'd be closer to a settlement. You have to react to a public image more than you would in private. It's a little bit like you're on trial."

THE OPEN TALKS came about after Halter's teams said they wanted to send out individual press releases following each meeting. At that point the boards opted to completely open the doors to the public.

Both sides agreed it would be a good idea.

However, Valley doesn't think he'd do it again if given the chance. He said he will recommend that next year's meetings be closed.

Donald McKay, chairman of the board team, agrees with Valley because, as he put it, "With open talks you can't talk man-to-man."

Barger is not sure what he'll do next year. "So far the talks have been no different and I think we have been treated fairly by the press. However, the talks aren't over yet so I'll wait to make a decision for next year.

Audiences at the public meetings have been sparse.

In both districts they have ranged from 20 to 30 in the beginning weeks of negotiations to five or six spectators at recent talks.

In Dist. 21 for example, all 15 schools selected two teacher representatives to attend the meetings. Last Wednesday there were four people in the audience.

Both districts said they will continue the talks opening until they are completed.

Library Expanding Its Service For The Blind

Library service to blind, partially sighted and physically handicapped patrons has been expanded by the Arlington Heights Memorial Library recently.

The library can now aid patrons who are interested in applying for the permanent loan of a Talking Machine free of charge. The machine, similar to a record player, enables patrons to listen to recorded books.

Previously, patrons who needed Talking Machines had to apply for one through the Chicago Public Library System.

To qualify for the program, patrons must apply, either by letter or in person, to the library. The application must include a statement by a physician stating the disability.

Besides blindness, people with ailments that make holding or reading books and magazines either difficult or impossible also qualify for the program.

THE TALKING Machines are provided and maintained by Community Services for the Visually Handicapped in Chicago. The application, which is submitted to Community Services from the library, usually takes several weeks to be processed.

"While applications are being processed, we have two Talking Machines which we will loan out to patrons," said Jay B. Larson, head of adult services.

Though the Arlington Heights library has a catalog listing available Talking Books, the library has a limited number of the records on hand, which are also available upon request. Most of the Talking Books on hand are fiction. The library has access to the Chicago regional holdings of Talking Books as well.

"At the present time, about 35 residents of Arlington Heights have Talking Machines in their possession," said Larson. "Most of them applied for the machines through the Chicago Public Library System, however."

LARSON SAID that since the applications have been available locally, only two people have applied. The local program has been in operation for about one month.

Other services for the blind and partially sighted at the library include magnifiers, for library use only, and large-type books.

"At the present time we have about 100 large-type books in several different categories," Larson said. The large-type books can be checked out by anyone.

Fire Damages Furnace Room

Fire damaged a furnace room and adjacent crawl space at an apartment building at 501 W. Miner, Arlington Heights, Monday morning. No one was injured.

The fire was reported by the Stanley Racks, residents of the apartment, who were awakened by what they thought was an explosion. When Rack investigated the noise in the basement furnace room, he was turned back by flames, he said.

According to police reports, the cause of the fire is not known, nor is the extent of the damage.

Nab 3 Men, 3 Youths For Looting Autos

Three men and three juveniles were arrested in Arlington Heights Monday and charged with theft from autos.

Confiscated from the group, according to police, were two tape decks, two speakers, 40 stereo tapes and a flashlight.

The men, James K. Ganns of Grayslake, Eduardo M. Garza Jr., of Prairie View and Jeffrey T. Brown of Mundelein, along with one female and two male juveniles, were apprehended at an apartment building at 2612 N. Windsor Dr.

According to police reports, members of the group were allegedly breaking into a car in the parking lot adjacent to the apartments.

Bond was set at $2,000.

Census Enumerators Being Sought Here

The village is still accepting applications from persons interested in working as census enumerators in a special census next month in Arlington Heights.

The door-to-door work will begin about June 23 and last two weeks, according to Asst. Village Mgr. Darryl Kenning.

Census workers can expect to earn between $16 and $24 per day based on a rate of 11 cents for each properly enumerated name, he said.

Workers will also be paid $10 for attending a special census training session.

Residents may apply for census work at the Finance Department on the first floor of the Municipal Building, 33 S. Arlington Heights Rd. Applicants must be at least 18 years old.

Gogo Named To Head E. Maine School District

George A. Gogo has been named superintendent of schools by East Maine Elementary School Dist. 63, it was announced yesterday.

The appointment, effective July 1, was approved by the board of education last week. Gogo is currently on the staff of Northern Illinois University as director of the University Laboratory Schools and professor of education. He holds offices in several professional organizations and during the past four years, has served as consultant to numerous school districts throughout the state.

Gogo will replace former Supt. Frank A. Dagne, whose resignation was accepted by the board of education Feb. 1. Dagne, appointed superintendent in July, 1969, formerly served as assistant superintendent of the East Maine district. Donald Stetina, assistant superintendent for personnel, has been acting superintendent since Dagne's resignation.

Gogo received a B.S. degree in elementary education from Wayne State University and an M.A. in secondary education and Ph.D. in educational administration from the University of Michigan. Before accepting a position with Northern Illinois University in 1968, he served as an administrator for the Department of Defense Schools in Madrid, Spain.

According to a statement released by Dist. 63, Gogo is editor of "The Newsletter," published by the National Association of Laboratory Schools, as well as an executive board member and chairman of the sub-committee on purpose of that organization. He is also a member of the Northern Illinois Research Council and the Superintendent's Roundtable.

During the past four years he has served as moderator of a radio program series entitled, "Your Schools," has written for several publications; and conducted research projects for NIU.

His career began in 1956 as an elementary teacher in the Detroit public school system. In 1958 he joined the staff at Lake Shore Public Schools, St. Clair Shores, Mich., as a teacher on the junior and senior high school levels and was appointed assistant principal in 1960.

During the 1961-62 school year, Gogo served as curriculum associate for the "Greater Cities Project" in Detroit. From 1962 to 1965 he was a principal for a junior high school, an elementary school and supervising principal for nine unit schools in Spain. In 1965 he became an administrative assistant for the department of administration and curriculum at the University of Michigan.

A BULLDOZER CLEARS land at the site of the future Friendship Junior High School, adjacent to Algonquin Road near Elmhurst Road in Des Plaines. The school, estimated to cost more than $2.4 million, was approved in a 1971 bond referendum. It will be Elk Grove Township Dist. 59's fifth junior high when finished next year.

Admit Talking With Middleton After Sentence

The Cook County state's attorney's office admitted Monday that an assistant state's attorney talked on the telephone with Dr. James G. Middleton two days after he was sentenced to prison for a conviction of sex assault charges.

The statement came after Criminal Court Judge Robert J. Downing ordered the state's attorney to answer charges by Middleton that Assistant State's Attorney Nicholas Motherway knew that the prosecution's chief witness lied under oath at the trial.

Middleton said that Assistant State's Attorney James Kavanaugh telephoned him Feb. 25, two days after he was sentenced to five to 10 years in prison for aggravated battery and deviate sexual assault on a female patient. Middleton's petition charged that Kavanaugh told him that the testimony of the witness was in consistent with the facts in the case.

In an answer filed with the court the state's attorney's office admitted Kavanaugh talked by telephone with Middleton, but denied that Kavanaugh knew anything about a witness having lied under oath.

The state also denied charges by Middleton that Kavanaugh had told him the state had assumed that Middleton would plead guilty in exchange for a reduced sentence.

Middleton's attorney will have until June 2 to reply to the state's answer. A hearing on the petition that Middleton's sentence be vacated was set for June 5.

City's Highway Hub Paid For By Congestion

by BOB CASEY
(Fifth of a Series)

Des Plaines, it could be said, is an easy place to get to, but not through. Two interstate tollways, three railroad lines and 12 major state and county highways converge on or criss-cross the city, whose position as a transportation hub in the growing Northwest suburban area has been an economic blessing.

The price has been congestion, both for residents who try to do their shopping locally and for commuters who drive through the city on their way to work. Snarled traffic patterns have been especially damaging to the accessibility and attractiveness of downtown Des Plaines, contributing to its gradual decline as a retail center.

The proposed comprehensive plan for the city, intended to guide development here until 1990, builds on a number of past traffic and transportation studies in recommending changes that would ease present congestion and accommodate growing traffic volumes in the future.

Foremost among the plan's proposals are measures to ease the crush of through traffic in the downtown area, including a railroad grade separation for the Chicago and North Western Rwy. at River Road, connection of Thacker and Dempster streets over the Des Plaines River and a north-south bypass roughly parallel to the Soo Line.

THE PLAN recommends additional access ramps at Oakton Street for the Tri-State Tollway and at either Wolf or Mount Prospect roads for the Northwest Tollway; widening of several major streets; improvement or realignment of several intersections; emphasis on off-street parking; and special measures to keep motorists from leaving crowded major highways and using smaller collector streets as bypasses.

Citing the need for integrated mass transit facilities, the plan also urges creation of a transportation center as part of the proposed downtown redevelopment program. "Such a facility would include provisions for rapid transit connection to O'Hare Airport and also links to existing transportation systems," the plan says.

Proposed locations of the center are the downtown area or, to take advantage of possible use of the Soo Line right-of-way for an airport transit, the intersection of the Soo Line and the C&NW along Northwest Highway west of downtown.

"The nucleus of the Des Plaines thoroughfare system is excellent and can be used as the basis for overcoming present congestion problems while building for future increased loadings," the plan says.

"The city does not face any unique transportation or thoroughfare problems in comparison to any community in the Chicago metropolitan area. In fact, it has a great strength in its proximity to the tollways and by virtue of the excellent commuter service offered by the Chicago and North Western Rwy.," says the plan.

IN ADDITION to the C&NW main commuter line and the north-south single-track Soo Line, the city is also bisected by the C&NW's outerbelt freight line. In all, those railroads cut Des Plaines into tight slices, aggravating traffic problems whenever they cross a major roadway at grade level.

"These railroads are serious impediments, in some cases, to the flow of vehicular traffic throughout the city," the plan says. "This is particularly true of the west section of the city where the (outbelt) intersects Touhy Avenue, Oakton Street, Algonquin Road, Thacker Street and Wolf Road."

"The Soo Line has six at-grade crossings in the city limits. Traffic moving in an east-west direction must contend with (them.) Considerable delays have been experienced, particularly at Algonquin Road," the plan says.

It recommends a program of grade separations, both for the west side rail crossings and for the central business district. Extensive planning has already been done for the River Road crossing at Miner and the C&NW. City officials hope to make use of federal funds to build it.

Partly because of the lack of such grade separations, congestion is most

Thieves Get Cash, Stamp Collection

Thieves broke into a Des Plaines home sometime last Friday night and stole household items valued at $502 and a $550 stamp collection.

According to reports, the burglars entered the home of Ralph Luebbers, 1347 Webford Ave., by breaking a window in the rear door and reaching in to unlock the door from the inside.

Besides the stamp collection, the burglars took a portable television set, a radio, binoculars, three watches, a tape recorder and a suitcase.

Luebbers was away from home at the time of the burglary, police said.

serious in downtown Des Plaines during rush hours. In the four hours between 7 to 9 a.m. and 4 to 6 p.m., the plan says, 28 trains either stop or pass through Des Plaines, causing crossing gates to block traffic for up to several minutes at a time.

fic enters the downtown during rush hours at volumes, for instance, of more than 33,000 cars per day on Lee Street, the grade crossing problem is a crucial one. In addition, many of the vehicles represent through traffic, with no destination in the downtown area. A 1968 study showed that 26 per cent of all vehicles passing through the downtown area did not begin their trip in Des Plaines and had no destination here.

Measures such as the grade separation; the Thacker-Dempster link up at the river, which would help get east-west traffic off Miner; and the north-south bypass would accommodate much of that through traffic, easing downtown congestion, the plan indicates.

"Another major problem of the transportation system in Des Plaines is the need to widen existing major arterial streets," the plan says. "Wider approaches and channelization are needed at four-lane intersections." Specifically, it urges widening Algonquin between Lee Street and Fifth Avenue as well as Oakton Street west of Lee, a project which was started last year.

East of Lee on Oakton, a problem related to street parking has developed in recent years, the plan says.

"In no other area of the city is on-street parking as serious a matter as it is on Oakton Street between River Road and Bittersweet Court. Not only is this a hazard to a person who is leaving or entering a car, but also to drivers wishing to turn left, since there is a total stoppage of traffic flow when vehicles are parked in the curb lane," says the plan.

IT URGES parking restrictions in rush hours, saying that "without adequate off-street parking in these areas, serious traffic problems and hazards are created, particularly when people are opening car doors directly into a lane of traffic."

The plan, while noting that ridership on United Motor Coach Co. routes has fallen steadily, says the "city's transportation network must provide for those who are without an automobile, but still wish to travel within an urban area. This need is felt particularly by the elderly, those who do not drive or by those who do not own a car."

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

President Nixon, greeted in Tehran by pomp and strident security, assured the Shah of Iran of the United States' undiminished moral and military support as it seeks to ease Middle East tensions. . . . In Kiev, last stop in Nixon's eight-day Soviet visit, White House adviser Henry A. Kissinger said the President hopes the agreements made in the Kremlin have convinced Russian leaders that each of the world's superpowers now has "vested interests" in maintaining peace.

Gov. George C. Wallace continued to fight the effects of infection around one of his bullet wounds amid indications he would not be moved from Holy Cross Hospital in Silver Spring, Md., any time soon. . . . Wallace's spokesman said they will mount a saturation radio-TV campaign for write-in votes in the June 6 California primary. . . .

Congress has added $1 billion to President Nixon's budget for the 12 months beginning July 1 and likely will add several billion more, according to a joint House-Senate committee. . . . That report prompted some lawmakers to predict that a tax increase is inevitable.

Automobile traffic during the three-day Memorial Day weekend took 585 lives nationwide. Drownings and other accidents swelled the fatality toll to 830.

The Supreme Court rejected an appeal from California officials from a ruling by that state's supreme court abolishing the death penalty.

The World

The militant Provisional wing of the underground Irish Republican Army rejected as a form of surrender the ceasefire proclaimed in Northern Ireland by the moderate IRA Official wing. . . . The rejection was followed by a series of incidents in which two men were killed and another wounded by gunfire.

Three Japanese gunmen opened fire with automatic rifles and grenades in the crowded passenger terminal of Lod International Airport in Tel Aviv after disembarking from an Air France jetliner, killing at least 20 persons and wounding at least 50 others. The national radio said 20 of those wounded were in serious condition.

State's Atty. Edward V. Hanrahan said he will try again to quash the indictment pending against him in the Black Panther case, a move sure to delay the beginning of his trial, set tentatively for June 12.

Pro-High Rise Plan Approval Urged

The Des Plaines Zoning Board of Appeals has recommended adoption of a plan to encourage more high-rise apartment buildings in the downtown area, despite a city plan commission report that the plan could hurt owners of small lots.

In a report released yesterday, the zoning board, in a 4-2 vote, recommended a favorable council vote June 5 on a proposed zoning ordinance amendment drawn to make construction of smaller apartment buildings more expensive.

Although the plan commission last week had reported the amendments might be unfair and could discourage downtown development, the zoning board said the evidence gathered at a public hearing "was convincing of the public need and general desirability of approving these amendments."

THE AMENDMENTS were proposed at city council request after the council determined that the city's 4-year-old R-5 zoning, in the near downtown area, had backfired. Instead of encouraging high-rise apartments, about 50 smaller apartment buildings have been constructed.

The five-member plan commission voted unanimously last week against the proposed amendment, accusing the council of legislating by "trial and error."

The commission urged more study.

Albert Gundelach, zoning board secretary, told the Herald yesterday the majority of board members felt the proposed amendments could encourage higher buildings more expensive.

Several board members also were not happy with the city's proposed "bonus" plan, which would have rewarded builders who agree to provide more open space, hidden parking and "design excellence" with bonuses of more apartments per lot than are now allowed.

The amendments were designed by a consulting firm, Rolf Campbell and Associates, Inc.

Gundelach said Campbell's bonus plan was "untried" and it could not be known now whether it would succeed in encouraging better planning.

Suit May Delay Unit School Study

A suit contesting the state school aid formula may delay a study of the unit district organization proposed by Elk Grove Township Dist. 59.

The Dist. 59 School Board voted in April to conduct a feasibility study on forming a unit district with grades kindergarten through 12. All of the districts in the Northwest suburban area are dual districts with grades kindergarten through 8 or grades 9 through 12.

Before launching the study, the Dist. 59 School Board invited representatives of other districts in the High School Dist. 214 attendance area to a dinner meeting Thursday. The meeting was attended by members of the school boards in Dist. 214, Mount Prospect Dist. 57 and River Trails Dist. 25.

The board members discussed the pros and cons of consolidating into one or several unit districts, but took no action.

REPRESENTATIVES of all three districts told Harry Peterson, president of the Dist. 59 School Board, they would like to wait for a court ruling on the state aid formula before taking a stand on reorganization.

The Edward Rothchild family of the North Shore and High School Dist. 113 filed a suit last December charging the state aid formula is discriminatory and unconstitutional because it favors unit districts over dual districts.

State School Supt. Michael Bakalis, backed by approximately 100 unit districts, is acting as defendant in the case. Approximately 360 dual districts have joined the plaintiffs, including districts 15, 25, 62, 207, 211 and 214.

The suit is set for trial in late July, however Judge James Parsons indicated he would not make a ruling until after a special study of the organization and finance of public school is completed. The study is slated for completion by Nov. 30, 1972.

Peterson said Dist. 59 does not plan to rush its study and may wait until July for development in the Rothchild suit. He also told the other board members Dist. 59 has no intention of taking any action that would be detrimental to neighboring districts.

DIST. 59 officials have not mentioned specific boundaries however they are considering a unit composed of the district elementary schools along with the Dist. 214 Elk Grove and Forest View high schools.

Representatives from the neighboring districts expressed concern that such a district would contain about 38 per cent of the assessed valuation of Dist. 214, but only 5 per cent of the students.

A "super district" including Dist. 214 and its six underlying elementary districts was another possibility discussed at the meeting. Ray Erickson, president of the Dist. 214 board, said he opposed splitting up the high school district. However, Bob Novy, president of the Dist. 57 board, said he was concerned about losing local autonomy with a massive unit district.

The board members also disagreed about the advantages of unit district organization. Financial savings was mentioned by Novy as the major benefit. But, according to Clarke Robinson, president of the Dist. 26 board, state aid disparity will not continue much longer and should therefore be discounted as a prime consideration. He said he was more interested in advantages such as better use of administrators' time.

In addition to possible advantages, the board members discussed the disadvantages of reorganization. Erickson cited attendance boundaries and district debt as two major obstacles to district consolidation.

The ramifications of district reorganization also will be reviewed in a study conducted by the Northwest Education Cooperative, composed of nine local districts.

Registration Open For Summer School

Students can still register for summer school at Maine West High School, according to Eldon Burk, assistant principal, who said openings are available in most courses.

This year's summer program will operate from June 19 to July 28 for the six week sessions. Incoming freshmen, current students and graduates may enroll in courses for credit or for the pursuit of a special interest without earning academic credit.

The summer school program is not designed for make-up credit alone, Burk said. It will be geared to permit students to pursue courses which they may not have time to study during the regular school year and to allow for acceleration, leisure-time interests, and the development of special skills and talents.

Maine West's summer school registration office is open from 7:50 a.m. until 4:20 p.m., Monday through Friday. Additional information about course offerings, credits, fees, time schedules and room assignments can be obtained by calling Maine West at 827-6176.

'Nothing Would Go Wrong' Year Resulted In Another State Title

by LARRY MLYNCZAK

Al Carstens has won three state championships and 10 conference titles as baseball coach at Maine High and Maine West.

In each of those years, his many strategic moves — most of which have worked wonders — have amazed baseball fans and opponents.

In 1963, however, Carstens masterminded Maine West to the state baseball championship with coaching that some have called the best ever in Illinois.

"Coaching moves are relative," Carstens is among the first to say. "If the move works, you're a genius. If it doesn't, you've made a bad move."

"In 1963, every move went right. Every change I made worked out right for us. It was phenomenal, really. For some reason, nothing would go wrong."

The Warriors had a good hitting team, but not as good as the scores indicated. In 12 games, the Warriors scored eight or more runs. Yet, Maine West had just five hitters who batted over .300. Stealing, bunting, the hit-and-run and forcing opponents into errors brought in a number of the Warrior runs.

In 1958 and 1959, Carstens had two or three top notch pitchers to rely on in any situation. In 1963, Carstens had one top notch hurler and three good ones. By interchanging all of them from game-to-game, or within a game, Carstens got the most out of his staff.

And, as usual, the Warriors were a solid defensive club.

The 1963 season opened in fine fashion with a 13-2 clubbing of Oak Park. After falling to Evanston 4-1, the Warriors downed Forest View 8-1, Glenbrook North 3-0 and 8-0, Deerfield 9-0, Prospect 14-7 and 10-8 and Forest View 4-3.

The Warriors strung together three straight shutouts with Art Allen, who would have an 11-1 record for the season, throwing a no-hitter in the first Glenbrook North game, Jim Dehlin throwing the second whitewash and Ed Schwanke hurling the shutout over Deerfield.

The fourth pitcher was Bob Pawlowski and he had an important role in the title year.

East Leyden snapped the Warrior win streak at seven games with a 4-2 triumph, but Maine West came back with a 7-0 win over East Leyden, 8-0 over Deerfield and 8-2 over Niles West. Niles West won the second game of a twinbill

3-2. Before getting into district play, the Warriors downed Morton West 6-3, and Glenbrook North 5-1.

The Warriors opened district action with a 9-5 win over Glenbrook North as they parlayed four hits into the nine runs. Allen was the winning pitcher.

Maine West won the district title by clubbing Deerfield 13-3 with Dehlin getting the win. The Warriors had 11 hits in that contest and second baseman Warren Baird, who hit .340 for the season, drove in four runs.

Maine West's other .300-plus hitters that year were first baseman Dave Aegerter, shortstop Dan Humay, leftfielder Al Waters and catcher John Gabbert. Humay, the brother of Jim Humay, who helped pitched Maine to state titles in 1958 and 1959, was in his fourth season as a regular shortstop.

In the opening game of the Waukegan Regional, Allen, with relief help from Pawlowski, edged Prospect 4-3. The Warriors won the regional crown by beating Waukegan 6-5, the winning run coming in the seventh inning.

In the Rockford East Sectional, Allen blanked Crystal Lake on two hits in a 1-0 victory. The only run was scored in the first inning. The Warriors advanced to the state tournament in Peoria as Dehlin, Pawlowski and Allen combined to thwart Rockford Boylan 2-1.

The Warriors took a 20-3 record to Peoria and faced Peoria Central, which was 16-12 at the time, in the opener.

Allen yielded only two hits to the Lions as the Warriors posted a 3-1 win. Maine West scored in the first inning on a triple by Gary Kraft and a sacrifice fly by Baird. In the third, Kraft was hit by a pitch, went to third on a single by Humay and scored on a passed ball. John Gabbert scored the insurance run in the fourth.

As evidence of Carstens' strategy plays, the winning run in the state semifinal game against Danville was driven in by Mike Neece — a sophomore pinch hitter!

The Warriors took a 2-0 lead in the first inning as Kraft walked and scored on a single by Humay. Humay stole second and stole third and scored on a fielder's choice.

Danville, which had a 22-4 record, took a 3-2 lead in the third inning against Dehlin. Maine West came back to tie the score in the fourth, but Danville went ahead 4-3 in the fifth.

The Warriors seemed to have the game sewed up in the sixth as they took a 7-4 lead with a double by Waters, a triple by Allen and a single by Gabbert being the big blows.

Danville came back with three runs in the bottom of the sixth, however, to tie the count at 7-7.

After a scoreless seventh inning, the Warriors went to work in the eighth.

After one out, Gene Ciezadlo singled and stole second. Neece batted as a pinch hitter and belted a booming triple to score Ciezadlo. A sacrifice fly by Kraft scored Neece and the Warriors had a 9-7 lead.

Schwenke started the eighth inning as the third Warrior pitcher, but Carstens went to Allen to save the game before the frame was ended.

The Warriors and Granite City met for the championship in 98-degree weather Friday afternoon.

Neither team scored until the fourth when a single by Baird, a single by Waters, a sacrifice by Gabbert, a single by Aegerter and a wild pitch gave the Warriors a 2-0 lead.

The Warriors added a run in the fifth on singles by Humay, Baird and Waters. Granite City scored a run in the sixth against Allen, which was unearned. Allen had replaced Dehlin in the fourth inning.

Humay, Kraft and Allen were named to the All-Tournament team and Allen was named the Most Valuable Player. Gabbert, who led all tourney players with a .454 average, somehow was left off of the All-Tournament squad.

The 1963 state title enabled Carstens to become the only coach to win state baseball titles at two different schools, to set a record with nine consecutive state tournament victories and to become the second coach in the state to win three state championships.

Jack Nicklaus on GOLF

A REROUTING OF THE CLUB TO THE OUTSIDE OF ITS PROPER ARC CAN USUALLY BE TRACED TO BODY SWAY.

WHEN A PLAYER MOVES HIS HIPS LATERALLY ON THE BACKSWING, INSTEAD OF JUST TURNING THEM, HE TENDS TO 'SPIN' ON HIS RIGHT HIP AS THE DOWNSWING STARTS... FAILING TO RETURN HIS WEIGHT TO THE LEFT AND, THUS, CREATING AN OUTSIDE LOOP.

Paddock Patrol

by Jim Cook, turf editor

Da, da, da, da-da-da-da, da-da-da-da, da-da-da-da. Da, da, da, da-da-da-da, da-da-da-da.

1000 bales of hay
100 bags (50 lbs.) sweet feed
500 lbs. mud mix
plus various quantities of salt, bran and vitamins.

The blaring trumpets are expected to pierce the dead of fall, winter and spring this afternoon as the call to the post resumes at Arlington Park at 2 p.m.

The combined 77-day Arlington-Washington meeting marks the 46th inaugural that originated on Oct. 13, 1927 by track builder H. D. Brown. My, how horseracing's image has changed since then.

In fact, the word "horseracing" itself was taboo among many cultures of our society. Horseracing meant gambling which automatically carried the adjectives of thoughtless, careless and reckless.

The discovery of an undiscovered parimutuel ticket in your suitcase pocket by a member of the family sometimes doomed your trust, honesty and reliability. You were outlawed as an evildoer, a transgressor, an irreconcilable fool.

Today's more sophisticated society has readily accepted horseracing for its entertainment value. There are now tens of millions of "irreconcilable fools" who "sinfully" wager over three billion dollars.

The sport is ranked as the largest spectator drawing card in America. The reason — the incentive of financial gain, obviously — but even more so, the enchantment of sheer, unadulterated excitement that only these magnificent four-legged equines can provide.

Today's opening card will feature the fourth running of the $15,000 added Post and Paddock Handicap to be contested over Arlington's five and one-half furlong turf course. Twenty-three horses have been nominated for the event which has produced Minoma's Bea, Chief Sun Dance and Michigan City, respectively, into the winner's circle, during its first three years running.

The race has been provisioned for three-year-olds and upward and should include perennial frontrunners Big Jim Waters and Cangiroad, Crying For More and Hemptens Song, winner of five of eight starts of the year, Strong Bid and Troubled Area, a winner its last three times out.

A total of 35 members of the handicap ranks, including such well-known tapebreakers as Forum, Felonious, List, Intensive, Wing Out, Royal Harmony, Red Bayou and Joe Gaylord, have been nominated for the third running of the $50,000 added Governor's Cup Handicap Saturday.

The field will also include several of the sprinters from the Post and Paddock, but this time, will be challenging the one-mile turf course.

In what could hardly be called a "weight-watcher's" diet, how's this for one day's menu for the approximately 2100 horses stabled at Arlington?
2,000 bales of straw
200 bags (100 lbs.) oats
100 gallons molasses

The horses don't have to worry about feed-sticking to the roofs of their mouths, either. The Arlington Park Race Track uses approximately one million gallons of water each day!

About one-half of this total is used during the daily watering of the Main track and the Training track. The horses are "rationed" about 200,000 gallons for drinking purposes while the remaining 300,000 gallons or so are used for the washing of horses and miscellaneous use by stable area personnel.

Major trainers on the ground for the opener include Arnold Winick (Hold Your Peace) with 70 horses, the Grissom brothers, Howard Tesher (Governor Max), David Vance, Lou Goldfine, Bill Resseguet, Tom Kelley, Joe Bollero and perennial spring leader Richard Hazelton.

Goldfine grew up in Chicago and got his "start" in the racing business at age 12 while wagering quarters with his classmates at Arlington Park. During his scholastic activities, Goldfine studied as an apprentice pharmacist, working at the family drug store at the soda counter and delivering prescriptions.

When it came time for college, Goldfine turned down a baseball scholarship in favor of a pre-pharmacy program. After graduation, he returned to the family chain of drug stores, but quickly made the transition back into racing.

He's enjoyed varied success at the game and has the credits of such top-flight thoroughbreds as Barely Once and Barely Even on his record. He'll be training a total of 40 candidates for this year's campaign.

Members of the jockey colony on hand already include veterans Carlos Marquez, Craig Perret, Ray Broussard, Phil Rubico, Jeff Anderson, Earlie Fires, Dave White and Eddie Arroyo.

The extremely popular Railbird Club will meet every Saturday morning from 8 to 10 under the direction of Karen Christensen. The club offers interviews with racing personalities, views of the horses working out, and tours of the barn area where members "meet the horses." There is no charge and milk and donuts are served to children in attendance.

For those seeking to make a million overnight, the Trifecta form of betting that will be employed at Arlington Park this summer might give them a powerful initial boost.

In Trifecta wagering, the bettor is required to pick the 1-2-3 finishers in the ninth race in exact order. Hazel Park in Detroit, having already adopted this latest form, has paid winners as much as $40,000. The Trifecta can be played in denominations $3 or $10.

Wiest with 33s.
Three birdies were carded — Bob Tischler on No. 2, Mike Gotham on No. 8 and Kemp on No. 13.

NFL Stars Coming To Chicago

On Sunday, June 4, at least 75 professional football players will be charging into the International Ballroom of Chicago's Conrad Hilton Hotel for an evening of drama and excitement.

Buddy Hackett will be there, cracking the quip as Master of Ceremonies. He'll be joined by Alex Karras, Howard Cosell and Francis Tarkenton, who will present Oscars to the outstanding players of 1971-72.

They're getting together with over 2000 business and labor leaders and their sons to make a resounding success of the 6th Annual NFL Players Association Awards Dinner for the benefit of the Better Boys Foundation.

With the exception of Foundation Grants for special projects, the NFLPA Awards Dinner provides the only funds for BBF to continue its worthwhile efforts in revitalizing our communities through educational and leadership development programs.

Highlight of the evening will be the presentation of the most coveted award in the NFL, the Justice Byron R. "Whizzer" White Award, an honor to be bestowed upon the outstanding NFL player-humanitarian of the 1971-72 season. Nominees will be announced at a later date. Last year, Kermit Alexander of the Los Angeles Rams received the award.

Other awards will be given in the following categories: Scoring, Rushing, Passing, Pass Receiving, Interceptions, Kick-off Returns, Punt Returns, Punting, Rookies of the Year—both Offense and Defense, Linemen of the Year—both Offense and Defense, and Linebacker of the Year.

Swinging Phils

The 1920 Philadelphia Phillies drew only 283 walks in 153 games, setting the major league record for fewest bases on balls in one season. The Boston Red Sox of 1949 walked the most times, 835.

Married Stewardesses Get Their Wings Back

by GENIE CAMPBELL

It used to be easy to categorize an airline stewardess. You could be sure she fell within a strict weight class, a certain height class, had perfect vision and most of all... was single. It was required.

The hostess who said, "I do," automatically had her wings clipped.

But not anymore. A recent court ruling said, in fact, airlines were discriminating against women and could not penalize them for becoming a Mrs.

Females who had been unjustly grounded but had still not lost that real lust for flying, decided to pick up where they left off.

Mrs. Alan Lurie and Mrs. Mark Greer were like that. Former stewardesses for United Air Lines, they decided to re-apply.

UNITED ACCEPTED them, sent them through the training program and put them back to work.

Not only are Rosanne and Barbara married, but they are mothers, too. Barbara's daughter is in kindergarten and Mike, Rosanne's son is four years old.

"I flew one and a half years, then I got married and it was mandatory that I quit," said Mrs. Greer. "That was about eight and a half years ago." Mrs. Lurie was grounded for the same reason six years ago.

What made them decide to go back?

"I really enjoy flying," said Mrs. Lurie who lives in Arlington Heights. "It's a wonderful opportunity to travel. Next January my husband and I are going to Africa. I've been half way around the world and I'm going to see the other half."

"MY DAUGHTER will be in first grade next fall, and I had already decided that I wanted to get a job," said Mrs. Greer of Schaumburg. "Then this opened up and I love it. Wives lose something by being home every day. You get the housewife doldrums. Some women may be cut out for it. For them it's fantastic. Now I look forward to coming home because I have something to talk about. I'm happy and they're happy," she said in referring to her family.

Both husbands backed their wife's decision to return to their interrupted careers. Both are looking forward to the reduced travel rates for which they soon will also be eligible as mates.

OF COURSE, being gone over night and sometimes for a period of more than one day presents certain problems in the running of a household where a mother has always been on call.

"We have a full-time housekeeper that lives in," said Mrs. Greer. "We got her when I went into the training school because I couldn't possibly do all the housewife duties."

So far the most difficult and strenuous part, both women feel, was the training program. Although not required to stay overnight, they had to be at the United training center in Mount Prospect early each morning and stay very late at night.

"ACTUALLY I'M home now more this way than if I had another full-time job," said Mrs. Greer, referring to her scheduled flights and her days off.

Mrs. Lurie has not employed a housekeeper, but her mother has volunteered to babysit when she is away and her husband is not available.

Both Barbara and Rosanne feel they have been lucky to have had scheduled flights only to the West Coast, for it means more time at home between flights. At times, however, they will be put on reserve, which means being called up to fly anytime anywhere.

AS TO HER daughter's reaction, Mrs. Greer said, "At first Jamie didn't like me going, but now it's... what did you bring back for me this time, Mommie? In 10 to 15 years she will be gone and then where will I be?"

Neither woman has had any kind of second thoughts about returning to her former career.

"I would like to fly until I'm 65 but I know I won't," laughed Mrs. Greer. "But I'm not quitting again. When I feel too old to fly, I'd like to become a ground supervisor."

MRS. MARK GREER of Schaumburg, who returned to flying with United Air Lines, says goodbye to daughter Jamie before leaving for O'Hare Airport.

MRS. ALAN LURIE admitted she didn't feel as out of place as she first thought she would in returning to training school to pick up her former vocation, that of airline stewardess. Her husband and her mother look after Mark, 4, when she is out of town.

What Is Middle Age?

by KAY MARSH

Now that Senior Citizens Month is over, maybe we can do something about honoring the millions of us who are muddling along in middle age. The problem, of course, is in defining the term. To a teen, middle age begins at 30. In my opinion, 30 is virtually adolescent. My dictionary says that middle age is "sometimes considered as the years between 45 and 65, or thereabout." But "thereabout" can cover quite a bit of territory.

Some observers define the age in terms of clothes. A recent public relations ad, for instance, talks about "square old clients, with cuffs on their pants and laces in their shoes." A college friend says a middle-aged woman is one with a beehive hairdo topping her mink stole. (She admits, however, that she might feel differently if she happened to have a mink stole.)

Others define maturity financially. As someone once wrote, middle age is "remembering when you didn't need a lay-away plan to buy a roast for Sunday dinner."

BUT MIDDLE AGE involves more than clothes and money values. Perhaps you'd like to add your own favorite definitions to these that I've collected. Middle age is:

1. Anybody who's 10 years older than you are.
2. Saving enough money to invest in the stock market, then finding that you can't read the stock tables without a magnifying glass.
3. Wondering whatever happened to the Packard, DeSoto, Kaiser and Edsel. For that matter, whatever happened to running boards? And telephone operators?
4. Tipping an old-fashioned ten per cent. And feeling generous about it.
5. Remembering when you collected old pop bottles to take back to the store, not to find a solution to pollution, but to get together enough change to pay your way to the Saturday afternoon movie. Pardon me, picture show.
6. Expecting to spend five or ten cents at the five-and-ten cent store.
7. Having a doctor and a lawyer who are younger than you are. Or a boss.

8. Defining Women's Liberation in terms of whiter whites and brighter brights. Or maybe that new-fangled gadget, the dishwasher.

9. Learning to read with the Baby Ray books, instead of Dick and Jane or whatever the current primer is in the K-12 curriculum.

10. Paying as much for gift wrapping and greeting card as you used to for the gift.

11. Knowing all the verses to the hymns they sing at church, but not recognizing a single song in any Top Ten.

12. Expecting invitations, instead of announcements, to high school graduations.

13. Planning an October vacation, because you're less interested in where the action is than where the people aren't. Especially small and swarming school-age people.

14. Saying anything is "O.K.," "fine and dandy," or even "groovy." Though "peachy keen," surprisingly, is somehow back in style.

15. Sending your son to the barber to have his hair cut instead of styled. Or, for that matter, sending your son to the barber.

16. Buying wedding presents for friends' children (or grandchildren) who hardly seem old enough to cross the street, much less the seas of matrimony.

17. Finding that the withholding columns on your salary check exceed what used to be your total take-home pay.

18. Worrying more about where to park your car than how to pay for it.

19. Agreeing with whoever said that growing old isn't so bad when you consider the alternative.

20. Getting so used to getting up early that you can't sleep late. Even if you can.

21. Reading the obituary columns first.

22. Remembering where you were when you heard about Pearl Harbor. Or even remembering Pearl Harbor.

23. Preferring books or movies with a hero. And poetry that rhymes.

24. Owning a book of etiquette. Especially if you consult it now and then.

Suburban Living

ESPECIALLY FOR THE FAMILY

ARRANGING THE SPRING house walk in Long Grove are Mrs. Charles Pipher, Long Grove, and, from top of stairs, Mrs. Marvin Slagh, Mrs. Jay Taylor and Mrs. Don Derebey, all of Arlington Heights. It will be a fundraiser for the Service League for Handicapped Children.

A House Walk In Long Grove

The Service League for Handicapped Children is hosting "A Walk in the Country" next Tuesday in Long Grove. Four homes in distinctly different motifs will be open for viewing from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Guests will stroll along the gently rolling hills and wooded landscape to enter each of the houses on the tour.

One is of Early American decor, featured some time ago in Better Homes and Gardens magazine and also "House of the Week" in the Chicago Tribune.

Another, of French Provincial architecture, will display accommodations for a large family with its five bedrooms and four baths. The owner's collection of crystal bells will also be shown.

A HOUSE BUILT around a hexagon with redwood decks surrounding it is an unusual one on the tour. This very modern six-sided structure has most of its furniture built in.

Fourth home to be viewed has a modern exterior but upon entering one immediately feels the atmosphere of "the old world." The decor is a blend of Mediterranean and traditional with antiques for added interest.

Tour tickets and information are available from Mrs. Charles Pipher, 438-7471, or Mrs. Jay Taylor, 259-4947. Arrangements can also be made for lunching at a nearby restaurant, with free shuttle bus service offered.

Proceeds from the tour go to the Willott Easter Seal Metropolitan Treatment Center which serves Chicago and suburbs.

The Home Line

by Dorothy Ritz

Dear Dorothy: Many products like shampoo, soap, body powder and skin cream contain hexachlorophene. I've been reading and hearing there is danger in using this chemical. What's the score?

—Mrs. Chester Antos.

Using golf terms, the government is one up very early in the match. The Food and Drug Administration has asked for a panel of experts to review the problem. Meanwhile, it has instructed makers of antibacterial cleansers containing hexachlorophene to put a "caution" label on their products. The issue arose after some evidence indicated a toxic buildup with "abnormal use."

In December the FDA warned against total bathing with products containing HCP in 2 per cent to 3 per cent concentrations. There is no proof that average use causes any harm, but the step has been taken on what FDA Commissioner Dr. Charles Edwards calls "the only prudent course."

His highness insists on fresh orange juice. It isn't too difficult to meet this demand, but one has to look at the oranges carefully to see that rot hasn't started. A tiny brown ring around the stem end is the sign. This is one reason I won't buy sacked oranges. Yes, it's a nuisance to pick out each orange but more of a nuisance to find the last orange has spoiled the juice already squeezed.

Dear Dorothy: About to cook a vegetable for dinner, I was almost undone to find the water had been turned off. Then I remembered the ice cubes in the refrigerator. Dinner went on as usual.

—Mrs. LaVern Line.

Dear Dorothy: What a problem when you have to dress a baby in good clothes when you are going out immediately after a feeding. A bib isn't much help and I was fussing about this when my mother-in-law suggested cutting a hole in the middle of a large old bath towel. Perfect solution for a squirming infant!

—Alice S.
